SJ Downtown Authority Given Big Boost

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

After receiving overwhelming support from an advisory vote, members of the St. Joseph Business Association last night passed a resolution to petition the city commission to establish a Downtown Development Authority (DDA). Fourteen members of the 45-member association were in attendance at a general membership meeting held at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library and voted 14 to 0 to petition the commission for DDA.

The general membership meeting followed a meeting open to the public at which the DDA was discussed and an advisory vote was taken. Those in attendance included association members, downtown property owners and people interested in the future of the downtown. The advisory vote was 38 to 3 in favor of DDA. Steven A. Reed, president of Telgroup, said the St. Joseph city commission will be presented a copy of the resolution at the commission's Aug. 23 meeting. Reed said the commission will be asked to set a public hearing date. It would then take a majority vote of the commission to establish the authority. The DDA, if established, would have the power to levy a tax of up to two mills on real estate within the boundaries of the district. The two mills would yield approximately $10,000 per year. A special assessment district could also be created within the boundaries of the district for the levying of an additional 1 to 1.5 mills for 10 years for downtown improvements.

John Cookson, president of the St. Joseph Business Association, said the boundaries of the district, at this point, are still "flexible". However, the final boundaries will basically comprise the central business district. There will be no single-family dwellings or buildings used solely as apartments within the district.

Most of the comments were favorable toward the DDA during discussion of the issue at the open meeting. However, Dr. James Skinner and Atty. Richard Globensky, both speaking as concerned citizens, questioned the formation of the authority and wondered why government had to get involved. The authority will be tied to local government in a number of ways, including city commission approval of any decisions made by the DDA.

The DDA would be run by a nine-man board headed by the mayor with at least five members of the board having an interest in property within the authority's boundaries. Answering questions about the DDA at last night's open meeting were Wayne Ransbottom, manager of the St. Joseph Business Association; St. Joseph Atty. Michael Cook, legal counsel for setting up the DDA; St. Joseph City Manager Gerald W. Hepler, Cookson and Reed.

Telgroup, a St. Joseph-based marketing and public relations consulting firm, is coordinating "Project Foresight", which is a marketing development study for downtown St. Joseph.

NURSING HOME PURCHASE PROPOSED: Mr. and Mrs. Patrick G. Collins of Berrien Center have asked the Michigan Department of Public Health for approval to purchase of the Claremont Nursing Home, township, 1385 East Empire avenue, Benton from

Thomas W. Marmon of Grand Rapids. Collins said the purchase price is $1,291,500 and the sale is expected to be completed between Aug. 30 and Sept. 5. The Collinses have owned the Bryfern Nursing Home, Berrien Center, since 1965 and will keep it according to Collins. Collins said he decided to purchase the Claremont Nursing Home "to give better service to the community and our patients." Claremont opened its doors in July, 1971 at 1385 East Empire avenue. It has a capacity of 123 beds and is managed by Videre, Inc., Grand Rapids. The state health department said federal regulations require state approval for purchase of a nursing home. (Staff photo)

Ship's Visit To South Haven Delayed One Week

SOUTH HAVEN.— The arrival of the first of three sailing ships scheduled to visit South Haven this month has been delayed one week until Aug. 21, according to the local organizing committee. The 147-foot long, three masted Danish barque "Maritree" had originally been scheduled to be in South Haven this weekend, but it now appears that the ship will arrive on Aug. 21.

There is a good chance there will be two tall ships in the South Haven harbor at the same time. The organizing committee has confirmed that the 150-foot, three-masted barquette "Erawan" from Panama will visit from Aug. 21 to 23. Privatetely-owned, the Erawan is scheduled to arrive about 7 p.m. on Aug. 21. Free public tours will be available Sunday, Aug. 22 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 3 to 6 p.m. and on Monday, Aug. 23 from 10 a.m. to noon. The Erawan is scheduled to sail for Grand Haven at 2 p.m. on Aug. 23.

The committee is still waiting confirmation on the itinerary of the "Maritree", but it is believed that the ship will remain in South Haven up to 10 days when it arrives. A third tall ship, the 70-foot-long yawl "Leonid Tebiga" from Poland is scheduled to visit South Haven from Sept. 1 to 4, but again the itinerary is subject to confirmation.

Based on public response to the recent visit of the tall ship

"Christian Radich" to the ports of Chicago, Grand Haven and Muskegon, local officials here are gearing up for an influx of up to 100,000 people to the South Haven area. The Coast Guard and Van Buren Sheriff's department have committed 11 patrol craft to the South Haven port for the arrival of the Erawan.

The Erawan is scheduled to be docked in the Black river turning basin west of the Dyckman bridge. A floating dock has been placed in the basin and a local civic club is landscaping the area. Should the Maritree arrive when the Erawan is in port it will dock alongside the South Haven Yacht club on the opposite side of the river.

Ex-Builder Surrenders In Berrien

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The president of a former Elkhart, Ind. construction firm indicted in June by the Berrien county citizens' grand jury and later arrested in Florida surrendered to Berrien county authorities yesterday. Cecil E. Thompson, 38, of Palm Harbor, Fla., was booked at the Berrien sheriff's department on a charge alleging he kept $50,000 paid to him by a New Troy firm during a construction project. Thompson was identified as president of the former McCollough Construction Co.

Thompson demanded examination when arraigned in Berrien District court on a charge that he violated the Michigan building contract fund act and was freed on $1,000 bond by Judge Hugh Black.

Thompson was arrested by the FBI on an unlawful flight to avoid prosecution warrant on July 9 after the indictment was returned against him June 17. Special Investigator Randy Arnt, of the Berrien prosecutor's office, said extradition proceedings were pending against Thompson but will not be needed since Thompson agreed to voluntarily surrender.

Arnt also said no date has yet been set for Thompson's preliminary hearing but that it will be at least two weeks. The maximum penalty for a conviction on the building contract fund charge is three years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

The charge alleges Thompson was paid $50,000 in December, 1974, by the Stanley-Knight Corp. of New Troy for an addition to the firm's plant. The grand jury indictment charges that the money was supposed to be used by Thompson to pay off subcontractors on the addition, but that he converted the $50,000 to his own use with the intent to defraud.

Prosecutor John A. Smietanka previously said McCollough was founded in April, 1963, and Thompsons came president in June, 1974. He said the firm went into bankruptcy in the fall of 1974, and noted there are two civil suits pending in Berrien Circuit court against McCollough. The suits were filed by the subcontractors who allegedly were not paid for work on the Stanley-Knight addition.

Whirlpool Vote Set Saturday Morning

A mass membership meeting of IAM Local 1918 is definitely scheduled for Saturday morning at which time members will vote on the final contract offer from Whirlpool's St. Joseph division, a union official said today.

Ed Kepp, local IAM business manager, said the meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m. at the St. Joseph high school auditorium, with doors open at 9. Kepp added the union has some 1,500 members and a simple majority would be needed to ratify the contract offer.

Kepp said he does not yet know if union leaders will recommend acceptance of the contract since the union is still awaiting the company's final offer. He explained one of the main issues is that the union wants a 6 1/2-cent-per-hour cost-of-living increase for all workers.

Kepp noted it would be a con-shot increase, pointing out that the cost of living has gone up since union members rejected Whirlpool's last offer.

Jay Van Den Berg, chief negotiator for Whirlpool's St. Joseph division, could not predict if the increase would be approved by the company. "Negotiations are still in the process for the cost-of-living increase," Van Den Berg noted.

The call for the membership meeting came after an 18-hour session late Wednesday and early Thursday between company and union officials. Members of the local, affiliated with the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, have been locked out of the St. Joseph division since they rejected the company's contract offer May 7.

Manson 'Bomb' Bombs

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Charles Manson, convicted mass murderer of actress Sharon Tate and others, received a package that prison officials initially feared was a bomb — but turned out to be a teddy bear and a Polish travel book. A checking device at a state hospital indicated Tuesday that the package contained wires. Then, a "bomb-sniffing" dog went into a "classic alert" position that suggested a bomb. The five-by-eight-inch package, with a return address in Poland, was carted to a nearby orchard, where police opened it, authorities said Thursday. Manson, 41, has been at Vacaville since May for psychiatric study.

ALLEGED UNTAXED LIQUOR: Tpr. Michael Honcharenko of South Haven post examines van he stopped about midnight this morning on I-196. It was found to contain 31 cases of untaxed liquor allegedly being smuggled from Illinois. Officers said Grand Rapids liquor store owner was arrested. J.D. Scooby, 56, owner of Knapp Beverage Center, was charged with illegal transportation of spirits, troopers said. Van was stopped for speeding in excess of 70 miles per hour north of South Haven. Subsequent search revealed cases of whiskey, vodka and gin and receipts indicating liquor had been purchased Thursday for $1,550. (Tom Renner photo)

Drastic Electricity Shortage Predicted

BY JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

BRIDGMAN — A drastic shortage of electricity that may involve rationing by 1981 was predicted last night by Jack P. Stark, executive vice president of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.

Speaking at dinner at Cook Nuclear center for representatives of southwestern Michigan news media, Stark predicted the shortage will occur because utilities haven't been able to develop generating capacity to meet expected demands.

Stark said new generating plants have been delayed in construction and some cancelled because of rising costs and government regulations that are continually changing.

He noted the Donald C. Cook plant at Bridgman was announced in 1967 as a $300 million investment scheduled for completion in 1973. Full operation of the plant isn't expected now until 1978, and it will have a billion-dollar price tag by then, Stark said.

Environmental regulations have boosted the cost of operating fossil-fueled plants while nuclear plants are also subject to costly changing requirements of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory commission, Stark said.

After many years of no rate increases and actually some decreases, electrical utilities have sought rate hikes for the past several years.

Stark said there are "regulatory lags" between filling for increases and granting them. When a rate increase is granted, it is already wiped out by inflation.

He explained: "The awful truth is that I&M's bond rating now has slipped to the lowest rung on the investment ladder, and, minus rate relief, the company lacks the ability to issue additional bonds to finance vital needed new construction or even keep up the current high level of repairs and maintenance which are required in order to continue to provide adequate service to its customers."

Stark said his remarks sounded like a tale of woe but added I&M hasn't thrown in the towel.

He said the company "has faith in the integrity and fairness of the regulatory agencies with which it deals and is confident that the necessary rate relief will be forthcoming . . ."

The Cook plant which went into commercial production in August, 1975, is now generating 1.6 million kilowatts from its completed Unit 1. That's about 35 per cent of I&M's total output — the company is still 1.1 million kilowatts of meeting its needs and must purchase power from a pool.

Del Shaller, assistant manager of the Cook plant, said Cook operates with five shifts of technical workers with one shift continually attending classes to meet NRC requirements.

He said Cook has drawn much of its highly trained personnel from the U.S. Nuclear Navy. Stark was introduced by John P. Banyon, manager of I&M's Benton Harbor division. Stark took his present post last May.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Final Word Awaited On Reverse Discrimination

In Texas, two white employees of a Houston trucking firm were fired after being charged with stealing 60 one-gallon cans of antifreeze from a customer's shipment. A black worker charged with the same offense was kept on.

In Virginia, 328 men and 57 women applied for two full-time positions in the sociology and anthropology department of Virginia Commonwealth University. No men were interviewed for the jobs; two women were hired.

In Chicago, U.S. District Court Judge Prentice H. Marshall told the city to hire 400 new police officers. Of these, 200 were to be black and Spanish-named men and 60 were to be women. The judge also imposed a similar quota on future hiring.

In California, a white student was denied admission to the law school at the University of California's Davis campus even though he had better grades and test scores than 74 other applicants admitted under a special minority admissions program.

These incidents and others like them have sparked an increasingly bitter debate over what has come to be known as "reverse discrimination" — giving preferential treatment to women, blacks and persons from other minority groups in such areas as employment and college admissions. The practice stems from the government's decade-old policy of requiring educators and employers to take "affirmative action" to prevent racial or sexual discrimination. It is defended as fair and necessary to compensate for past discrimination. It is criticized as "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Growing numbers of white males, charging that they are victims of reverse discrimination, are going to court seeking redress. A recent ruling by the Supreme Court could result in a significant increase in such lawsuits. The Court ruled on June 25 that the Civil Rights Acts of 1866 and 1964 protect white people as well as blacks against racial discrimination.

The full meaning of the Court's decision is not yet clear. To some observers it appeared to cast doubt on hiring and promotion quotas that favor blacks and women over white males.

However, Justice Thurgood Marshall, author of the majority opinion, said the Court was not considering the legality of affirmative action programs.

The Supreme Court earlier had sidestepped a decision on reverse discrimination in the highly publicized DeFunis case. The plaintiff, Marco DeFunis, charged that he had been turned down by the University of Washington Law School while minority applicants with lower grades and test scores were admitted. However, the Court in April 1974 refused to decide the case on the ground that the question was moot because DeFunis had been attending school and was expected to graduate within two months.

Several cases alleging reverse discrimination are expected to come before the Supreme Court which have handed down contradictory rulings. In several recent cases the courts have ruled in favor of men who charged that employers were giving preferential treatment to women and minorities. For example, on June 9, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell of Washington, D.C., ordered the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to pay damages to a male employee passed over for promotion in favor of a less-experienced woman.

Another federal judge in the District of Columbia, Oliver Gasch, ruled on July 28 that Georgetown University's policy of setting aside 60 per cent of its first-year law school scholarships for minority students constituted reverse discrimination and therefore violated the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The backlash against affirmative action and preferential treatment has been particularly strong in the academic community. Some educators contend that the government is forcing colleges to hire underqualified and unqualified persons merely because they are women or members of a minority group.

Union leaders are concerned about the impact of a recent Supreme Court ruling on long-established seniority systems.

The final decision, when the Supreme Court makes one, is going to leave a lot of people dissatisfied on one side or the other.

Plants, As Well As Animals, Endangered

In Death Valley, Calif., desert holly is being killed by ozone produced in the smog of Los Angeles some 200 miles away. High on the slopes of Mt. Mansfield, Vt., delicate arctic-alpine plants, normally not found south of the Arctic Circle, are being trampled into extinction by hikers and backpackers. In Contra Costa County, Calif., east of San Francisco Bay, the habitat of the Antioch Dunes Evening Primrose — which grows nowhere else — has dwindled to 15 acres from 500 because of commercial and industrial development.

All over the United States, rare and wild plants are increasingly endangered by human activity. Pollution, recreation and construction are probably the most damaging. But competition from farm crops and commercial exploitation by sellers or collectors are also serious problems.

What does it matter if plants become extinct? Every loss is potentially serious. Little is known about many plant species, and they may turn out to have important qualities as medicine, food or ground cover. Some wild plants are extremely resistant to disease, drought and salinity, but scientists do not know why. If a plant species is extinguished, its contribution to the "gene pool" — the total amount of genetic material that can be used for breeding — is lost forever.

The Endangered Species Act of 1973 directed the Smithsonian Institution to draw up a list of threatened, endangered and apparently extinct plants native to the United States. Of approximately 20,000 American plant species, more than 1,700 were found to be endangered. The Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service proposed regulations (Federal Register, June 7, 1976) to protect these species and held public hearings around the nation to elicit citizen comments on the new rules. The service is "especially interested in obtaining as wide and comprehensive public participation as possible," according to a recent press release.

Written comments should be sent to the director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, P.O. Box 19183, Washington, D.C. 20036 by next Saturday, Aug. 14.

LAWMAKER CHALLENGED ON PANAMA CANAL

Editor,
This is an open letter to Congressman Guy Vander Jagt, of Michigan's Ninth District.

Your reply to my question directed to you regarding your stand on the U.S. Canal in Panama prompts me to expose your dual stand on this most important matter, and I am sure it is in the heart of every taxpayer also.

Your reply of July 26, 1976, to my letter reads like the following and I quote exactly from it, "Dear Mrs. Yukic: I can not emphasize too strongly my great interest in the Canal and its operations. I for one would never want the United States to surrender its vital interest in the Panama Canal Zone."

Now, Mr. Vander Jagt, will you further explain this. In the Congressional Record of June 18, 1976, (H.6187) I find your name listed among the other 197 who voted the Canal away that you so emphatically said in your letter the U.S. will keep.

My purpose of giving your letter and voting as listed in the Congressional Record the widest publicity in the district is so people know how to vote come November.

It is high time the people look around who they send to represent them.

CONGRESS WON'T DELAY PAY BOOST

Editor,

For the eleventh time in a decade, Federal government employees are being given a salary increase. The raise will average pay to about twice what it was in 1964. At that time it was $7,285. The series of salary boosts amounted to a rise of 99 per cent during the past decade and now amounts to $14,500 annual salary. The latest boost to average 5.5 per cent was in take effect Oct. 1.

President Ford asked that the increase be put off until Jan. 1, as an anti-inflation move. On Sept. 19, Senate voted 64 to 35 against and denied the President's request. At that rate the added bill for taxpayers will rise by about 2.4 billion dollars a year. Mr. Ford had noted that the proposed delay of three months in payment would have saved some 700 million dollars. Congress has the power to cut spending but so far hasn't had the intestinal fortitude to do so. So as long as these salary increases exist and always begin with the higher up politicians, don't expect curbing of inflation. This Congress should show enough courage to do something about inflation. It's time they thought about 210 million people and not a handful who can come to Washington and put pressure on this body to do what is wrong.

Word has been received here of the death in Brooklyn, N.Y., of Augustus M. Herring, 69, a former prominent resident of St. Joseph, commonly known as "Professor" Herring — a pioneer in the development of aircraft. In 1908 Mr. Herring formed, with Glen Curtiss, a company known as the Herring-Curtiss company, and built a plane which later won an international air race at Rheims. "Professor" Herring began his pioneer work in aircraft in St. Joseph, using the old Sunnyside pavilion on the beach at the foot of First street as his workshop. The pavilion long ago was razed, but older residents of St. Joseph can recall how Mr. Herring worked on the models of his first plane while his "cronies" stood around and chided him about his "dream" of flying through the air. He lived, however, to see his hopes come true.

White House Now A Fortress

WASHINGTON — Until recently the White House was unique among palaces. It was relaxed, open, accessible. People could wander in off the street to shake hands with the chief. During the Hoover administration a tourist popped in on the President at his dinner one evening. The mansion had a security force, but it also had a heart, and was known as the only official residence in the world where the head of state was not afraid of the people.

The change began during the tensions of the Depression era. And after the death of John Kennedy, the White House had become a fortress of fear and suspicion. Today it is protected by perhaps the most elaborate electronic security system in the world, guards whose orders are "shoot to kill", and an arsenal of terrible weapons which include a reported heat-seeking anti-aircraft missile.

Not only does the head of state no longer trust the people around his home, he does not, to a high degree, even tolerate them there. Tourists are allowed inside the gates, but merely in tightly controlled areas. Others breach the walls only at their peril; there was no official remorse for the man shot down recently on the White House lawn. Secret Service agents instead said that his sad death was "an ideal operation" insofar as security reaction was concerned.

So nervous have the sentries become, actually, that White House visitors no longer even have to break the rules to risk scorn or mauling. One need be only suspected of being a potential rule breaker. Case in point is a Philadelphia taxi driver named Peter Heller, age 38. His harmless visit to the White House a year ago in June has since forced him to sue the government for false arrest.

Heller's ordeal, as he relates it, actually began in 1968 when he started writing letters of complaint to the president. His grievance, which continues to this hour, was that the nation's intelligence operatives were polluting the ideals of democracy and importing dirty tricks for use domestically. Often his letters have explained that he is not downgrading America, which he feels is a "wonderful country" but that unfortunately, it is being ill-served by its officers.

For all his writing, Heller has never received a reply. He has met a number of government people, from FBI agents to Secret Service grunts, and has acquired the usual reputation in these circles as a fruit. But neither the president nor "so much as a low-ranking flunky" has bothered to acknowledge his petitioning.

Thus last summer while in Washington, Heller decided to deliver some of his letters personally. He checked in with the Secret Service, which told him to see agent Rick Nelson at the White House. Following directions, Heller went to the mansion gate where an agent named Gerald Gibson, not Rick Nelson, interviewed him. They talked for 30 minutes regarding letters and related matters.

During the conversation, Heller mentioned that his letter writing had gotten him into a jam in the 1960s. He'd said some intemperate things in correspondence to corporate moguls who thereupon had him committed to a mental institution. But he said he was not crazy, just angry at careless government and big business.

For his honesty, Heller found himself in a jam again. Agent Gibson summoned the Washington police who arrested the visitor and transported him to a local lunacy hospital for a "mental review." The law says such actions can only be taken with citizens when they are dangerous to themselves or to others, but never mind the law where White House security is concerned. Heller spent 45 hours in confinement, his suit is now pending, asking $150,000 in damages.

Chilling Metaphor Of The Olympics

One chilling impression remains from Montreal, stronger in retrospect than admiration for certain magnificent athletes, stronger too than disgust over exploitative Canadian and African politicians and spineless Olympic officials.

Without exception, the Communist nations employed sports as a metaphor for politics, and the meaning of that metaphor was icy and unmistakable. The individual is totally subordinate to the whole, and the meaning of the whole is totally political.

When Soviet or East German competitors triumphed, the visual message shimmered on the set: they win because their system is superior. All of the video material supplied by the Communists for ABC-TV use underlined that message.

From testing the reflexes of kindergarten students to selecting the most promising, through the system of special state schools for athletes, to massive and coordinated provincial athletic efforts, the system is geared to produce these competitors.

The individual athlete, moreover, is entirely subordinate to the system that produced him. The very exceptions reinforced that impression. Olga Korbut had her distraught individuality; you have the sense that her individuality itself, four years ago, has made her situation painful. A handful of defectors to the West. These few separate spirits merely threw into relief the larger uniformity and coherence.

Absorbing that metaphor, recognizing that the individual counts for nothing and the whole for everything, one is not surprised to learn that a Soviet mother has been jailed for sending to her musician daughter in Israel a violin which was the daughter's own property.

The complete subordination of the individual to the collective enterprise is a repellent spectacle, but it is also a chilling and ominous one. It raises serious questions about the ability of a free society to compete over the long haul.

In theory, the Olympics promote "understanding," and that, in turn, leads to brotherhood and peace. The recent Olympic games led to understanding, all right, but the result was to increase one's doubt that the two systems can really ever peacefully coexist. Except for the few defectors, the Communist athletes seemed entirely content to subordinate themselves to the collective whole. It even appears entirely likely that masses of humanity in the East fully subscribe to the collectivist ethos. The relations between West and East resemble a collision between matter and anti-matter.

Just as one is not surprised by the violin episode — it proceeds from the very nature of the society — so one is not surprised to learn, now, that Soviet strategic planners, far from ruling out nuclear war, believe that they would win one.

When the Olympic games take place in Moscow four years from now the message will be even harsher. That, of course, is why the games will be held in Moscow.

Final Word Awaited On Reverse Discrimination

In Texas, two white employees of a Houston trucking firm were fired after being charged with stealing 60 one-gallon cans of antifreeze from a customer's shipment. A black worker charged with the same offense was kept on.

In Virginia, 328 men and 57 women applied for two full-time positions in the sociology and anthropology department of Virginia Commonwealth University. No men were interviewed for the jobs; two women were hired.

In Chicago, U.S. District Court Judge Prentice H. Marshall told the city to hire 400 new police officers. Of these, 200 were to be black and Spanish-named men and 60 were to be women. The judge also imposed a similar quota on future hiring.

In California, a white student was denied admission to the law school at the University of California's Davis campus even though he had better grades and test scores than 74 other applicants admitted under a special minority admissions program.

These incidents and others like them have sparked an increasingly bitter debate over what has come to be known as "reverse discrimination" — giving preferential treatment to women, blacks and persons from other minority groups in such areas as employment and college admissions. The practice stems from the government's decade-old policy of requiring educators and employers to take "affirmative action" to prevent racial or sexual discrimination. It is defended as fair and necessary to compensate for past discrimination. It is criticized as "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Growing numbers of white males, charging that they are victims of reverse discrimination, are going to court seeking redress. A recent ruling by the Supreme Court could result in a significant increase in such lawsuits. The Court ruled on June 25 that the Civil Rights Acts of 1866 and 1964 protect white people as well as blacks against racial discrimination.

The full meaning of the Court's decision is not yet clear. To some observers it appeared to cast doubt on hiring and promotion quotas that favor blacks and women over white males.

However, Justice Thurgood Marshall, author of the majority opinion, said the Court was not considering the legality of affirmative action programs.

The Supreme Court earlier had sidestepped a decision on reverse discrimination in the highly publicized DeFunis case. The plaintiff, Marco DeFunis, charged that he had been turned down by the University of Washington Law School while minority applicants with lower grades and test scores were admitted. However, the Court in April 1974 refused to decide the case on the ground that the question was moot because DeFunis had been attending school and was expected to graduate within two months.

Several cases alleging reverse discrimination are expected to come before the Supreme Court which have handed down contradictory rulings. In several recent cases the courts have ruled in favor of men who charged that employers were giving preferential treatment to women and minorities. For example, on June 9, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell of Washington, D.C., ordered the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to pay damages to a male employee passed over for promotion in favor of a less-experienced woman.

Another federal judge in the District of Columbia, Oliver Gasch, ruled on July 28 that Georgetown University's policy of setting aside 60 per cent of its first-year law school scholarships for minority students constituted reverse discrimination and therefore violated the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The backlash against affirmative action and preferential treatment has been particularly strong in the academic community. Some educators contend that the government is forcing colleges to hire underqualified and unqualified persons merely because they are women or members of a minority group.

Union leaders are concerned about the impact of a recent Supreme Court ruling on long-established seniority systems.

The final decision, when the Supreme Court makes one, is going to leave a lot of people dissatisfied on one side or the other.

New Penetrator Has Most Advantages, Study Says

BY STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

An environmental impact study lists more advantages for the state highway department's preferred I-94 penetrator route across St. Joseph township than three other alternate I-94 business routes.

The penetrator would be a new road from I-94 along the old Michigan Central railroad right-of-way between Lincoln and Washington avenues to the St. Joseph city limits. The three other routes would involve use of existing roads as the I-94 business route to St. Joseph city.

A draft copy of the study has been sent to Twin City governmental officials and private citizens' interest groups that have voiced concern over the controversial traffic artery.

People who want to comment on the study can do so within the next 45 days. Comments or recommendations can be sent to the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

However, Jack Morgan, manager of the public information services for the state highway department, said state officials legally only need approval from the Berrien County Road commission in order to proceed with the penetrator.

Morgan said the state has already received the road commission's approval, but would still like comment from the City of St. Joseph within the next 45 days.

He said there was a "strong possibility" that the I-94 penetrator would not be built if the City of St. Joseph, through the city commission, went against it. The present city commission to date has not taken an official stand on the issue.

However, St. Joseph city residents voted 2 to 1 against the penetrator in an advisory election last May. St. Joseph township has opposed the penetrator plan from its inception.

After the 45 days are up a public hearing date will be set.

probably for the middle of November, according to Morgan. After the public hearing, the state highway department will decide whether to proceed with the project. If it decides to proceed, a final copy of the environmental impact study will be completed.

The final copy of the study would be sent to the federal highway administration for approval. Federal officials would hand down a decision after 90 days. Morgan said contract letting for the project could begin immediately after receiving approval, which could be about the summer of next year.

A number of state highway officials went on record prior to the draft study being issued as saying the I-94 penetrator would be built to the St. Joseph city limits, along the old Michigan Central railroad bed unless the environmental impact study revealed major reasons against it.

The draft report lists the penetrator along the old Michigan Central right-of-way as having more advantages and about the same number of negative aspects as three other routes.

The four possible alignments for improving the traffic flow from I-94 to St. Joseph were listed as follows:

1. Lake Shore drive improved and widened using the existing route as the I-94 business loop routes from I-94 to downtown St. Joseph.

2. Widening Cleveland avenue and placing an interchange at I-94 to carry traffic to and from St. Joseph.

3. The I-94 penetrator. A new four-lane divided facility with no access between I-94 and Niles avenue at Hilltop road. This alternative also could include an option or modification to have an intersection built to provide St. Joseph township residents with access. The new roadway would be 1.9 miles long.

4. Improve existing US-33 (Niles avenue) as the possible I-94 business loop from I-94 to Main street and the downtown area of St. Joseph.

The study lists nine advantages for the penetrator, five more than any of the other alternatives, and 15 negative aspects of building the project, about the same as the other routes.

Among the advantages of the penetrator:

—Will provide a facility with greater increased capacity and safety than any other alternative.

—Will provide for new and increased opportunities for orderly economic growth and continued expansion (conditional depending on the effectiveness of local government planning and land use controls).

—It is the shortest route from I-94 to the city.

—It does not disrupt residential or industrial areas.

—It is a fast route to the city since it is limited access.

—It will increase motorist safety along the other alternative routes due to a decrease in traffic volumes which would result along these existing roadways.

Negative aspects:

—Both Vineland and Hickory creeks will be affected. Portions of Vineland creek will have to be permanently rechanneled.

—Construction will affect over 67 acres from the ravine and adjacent areas which are conducive to wildlife habitat.

—Construction could divide St. Joseph township (physically).

—In general, the desirability of residential homes adjacent to this alignment will decrease.

Of the three other alternatives, Lake Shore drive had four advantages, Cleveland avenue, three, and Niles avenue, three.

Among disadvantages common to all three were:

—Alteration of existing topographic features.

—The impact of noise levels generated by the traffic on the receptors are significant. Many of the receptors along these alignments will experience noise levels which exceed the federal standards.

—Short term construction inconveniences will be experienced by public services and utilities.

—In general, the desirability of residential homes adjacent to this alignment will decrease.

Alternatives of not building at all or improving Cleveland, Lake Shore drive and Niles with safety options (stoplights, crosswalks, turning lane, sidewalks) were listed as not adequate to handle traffic projected for the future, but would keep things basically the way they are.

The cost estimates for the projects were as follows:

—Lake Shore drive: $3.8 million.

—Cleveland avenue: $4.9

TOO MANY T's: Road sign marker apparently got tired with use of R's in Territorial road and threw in extra "T" when preparing road sign at the corner of Territorial and Bainbridge Center roads in Bainbridge township. ## St. Joseph Band To Present All-Instrumental Program

An all-instrumental program will be presented by the St. Joseph municipal band at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m., Sunday, at the St. Joseph bandshell. The concert will include march music ranging in age from the 1885 "Omega Lambda Chi" composed by Charles Ives, to the 1975 "USA '76" by Edgar Thiessen. Selections requested by concert fans will also be played including "The Music Man" by Meredith Willson and "Pictures at an Exhibition" and "The Great Gate of Kiev." Popular songs performed by the band will include "Nola," "Song of the Vagabonds," and "So Nice."

Registration Begins Aug. 16 For New BH Grade Students

Registration for elementary students new to the Benton Harbor Area schools district will begin on Monday, Aug. 16, at each of the district's 23 elementary schools, according to Harry Stephens, group director for elementary education. Parents may register new students at the nearest neighborhood elementary school Monday through Friday from 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-3 p.m. until the first day of classes, Tuesday, Sept. 7. The district schools will be closed on Monday, Sept. 6, in observance of Labor Day. Parents of kindergarten students not registered during roundup sessions in the spring should bring birth certificates and immunization records for the children with them to the school office. For specific information about which school children might attend, parents should call Stephens at 926-1141 during normal business hours, Monday, through Friday or visit the Benton Harbor Area school central administration building at 711 East Britain avenue.

phase might take the form of one of several alternatives within the next 20 years, including the so-called "river route" that would follow the western edge of the St. Joseph river north to a point near the new Wayne-Main street bridges.

The third phase of the cross town would be undertaken within 20-30 years and could involve the continuance of the I-94 business loop from its intersection with the river and follow an undetermined alignment through Benton Harbor to I-94 on the northeast edge of the Benton Harbor city limits.

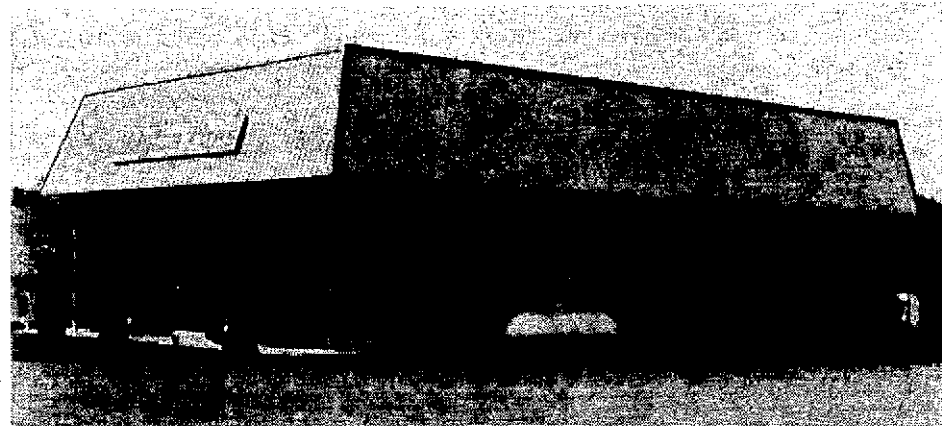

The study indicated a "no build" alternative would result in increased traffic congestion and present facilities would not be adequate to handle the volume increases.

The report also termed mass transit and utilization of a railway system as "impractical" in solving the problem.

Morgan said a copy of the draft study is available at the Maud Preston Palenske library, St. Joseph.

The cost of the study by Enviro-Pact, Pittsburgh, Pa., has been estimated at $100,000. However, John P. Woodford, director of the Michigan Department of State Highways, had commented in the past that study is just an exercise to meet federal guidelines.

NEW BUSINESS: Besides offering three name brand tires for sale, Tom Wood's T and W Tire Co., 7033 Red Arrow highway, between Coloma and Watervliet, also offers front-end alignment, brake and muffler service. New business recently opened. (Cliff Stevens photo)

BH Development Office To Get 2nd Year Grant

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

The City of Benton Harbor's economic development office begins its second year with the announcement that a $37,500 grant from the federal Economic Development Administration has been approved to continue the office's operation.

Announcement of approval of the second-year grant was made by Congressman Edward Hutchinson's office.

City Manager James Peoples, Jr., said the grant will be used to pay the salaries of the economic development office's director, coordinator and other administrative costs.

The city's office of economic development was established by commission ordinance in 1973 to promote development of new and existing business and industry and to act as a liaison between local business and local, state and federal government agencies. It began operation last year.

One of the major projects the office announced it accomplished during its first year was the location of Twin Cities Metal Finishing, Inc., at the former Benton Harbor Malleable Industries properties. The St. Joseph metal finishing firm bought a portion of the bankrupt Benton Harbor Malleable plant for $155,000.

In a document prepared by the economic development office and released by Peoples, the office of economic development also cites the following activities during its first year of operation:

—Completed an inspection analysis of all buildings in a 14 block area in the city's central business district, inspection department.

—Coordinated a $10,000 loan for the United Community Development Corporation (UCDC), an autonomous body of city businessmen formed to foster industrial growth, to be used for the expansion of Ullrich and Sons machine shop at 392 Highland avenue. The loan generated another $51,000 loan from the U.S. Small Business Administration.

—Coordinated another $25,000 loan for UCDC for the start up of Monitor Sound Systems, Inc. (The company's building at 50 Wall street appeared unoccupied by people yesterday and a sign on the building said "closed for the month of July" Michigan Bell Telephone reported the telephone for Monitor Sound Systems has been disconnected.)

—Prepared and submitted to the Berrien county Economic Development corporation a list of sites and buildings within the city applicable to economic development activity.

—Assisted in the formation of six small businesses, which created approximately 20 jobs.

—Assisted in securing industrial and rehabilitation development districts providing tax reductions on industries' new additions. The additions built under the new state act generated roughly 40 jobs and added approximately $3.7 million to the tax base.

—Provided consulting services to approximately 105 small and minority businesses and proposed businesses.

The document, prepared for the Berrien County Office of Economic Development Planning, states the important factor in the economic development office's first year of work is that it is now in a position to involve prospective and existing businesses and property owners in developing a plan for the economic redevelopment of the city.

Al Chase, director of the economic development office, said the city will provide another $12,500 to the EDA grant to make the total grant $50,000. He said the city's matching funds probably will come from the city's $1.1 million Community Development grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

million. —I-94 penetrator: $4.6 million (including $484,260 for acquisition of the right-of-way which the state has already acquired.)

—Niles avenue: $3.5 million. The draft study said if any of the four proposals were built without completion of a cross-town business route through St. Joseph and Benton Harbor there could be numerous traffic problem areas around the year 2,000. The same was true if nothing was done at all.

Of the four possible alignments only one, the penetrator, would work as the initial phase of a possible three-phase, long range plan for the cross town. ## Civic Benefit Elects

MRS. ANDREW WEST
Civic Benefit President
Staff Photo

Mrs. Andrew West of St. Joseph has been elected president of Civic Benefit club, a group which has raised over $60,000 in its 26 years of existence for the benefit of the community.

Other officers elected for the 1976-77 year include Mrs. Thomas Sinn, vice president; Mrs. John Schram, secretary; Mrs. Douglas Heaps, treasurer; Mrs. Willis Koonitz, historian; Mrs. Donald Ludewig, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Robert McDowell and Mrs. Jerry Reimann, members-at-large.

Civic Benefit club, which serves the twin cities area, was organized in 1950 and has grown to a group of 50 women united for the purpose of rendering service for the benefit of the community and its citizens.

The group began service work by devoting volunteer hours to hospital work. Also in its early years, the club held annual style shows and home tours. In 1956, Civic Benefit club developed a reputation for bringing outstanding entertainment to the area, the most recent being the presentation of "1776."

In addition to these major projects, the group has also undertaken other projects, such as a champagne brunch with Fran Allison as a featured guest, a children's play, the International Ice Review, home tours and an antique show.

Recipients of the proceeds raised by the club include Lake Michigan college, Berrien County Day Care Training Center, Gard school, Michigan Children's Aid Society, Memorial hospital, Mercy hospital, Y-Clubs, Berrien County Drug Treatment Center, The Link and the St. Joseph Art Center.

The group also makes donations annually to the American Cancer Society, United Community Fund, Christmas Seals, the Girl Scout Campership Fund, Easter Seals, March of Dimes, Hemophilia Fund, and the Goodfellows.

Members individually give volunteer hours to charitable organizations.

Mrs. West has been a member of Civic Benefit club for 13 years. She is also a member of St. Joseph Catholic church, St. Joseph, and the Marion Guild of the church. She has served on the Lake Michigan Catholic Home and School board and is a volunteer at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

She and her husband, a Bendix Corp. employee, have four children, Andrew III, Kathy and Thomas, and Mrs. James Quirk III of Salem, Mass.

Plans 'Antiques-On-The-Lake'

The third annual "Antiques on the Lake" show and sale, sponsored by Civic Benefit club, will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 22 and 23, at Shadowland ballroom in St. Joseph.

Proceeds from this year's event will be used for materials to build a nature lab at Saret Nature Center in Benton Harbor.

Tickets are $1.50 in advance and $2 at the door. The show will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Thirty-five quality dealers will be participating, according to Mrs. David (Mary Lou) Matzen, general chairman of the event. In addition there will be a country store selling homemade baked goods and a snack bar serving sandwiches, desserts and beverages.

The nature lab planned for the nature center will measure 36 by 24 feet including a 12 by 24 foot porch, according to Charles Nelson, director-naturalist. A Stevensville carpenter, James Mullins, has agreed to donate his time and labor if the center is provided the materials.

TWIN CITIES DIRECTOR Vodnoy To Lead Indiana Symphony

GARY, Ind. — Board of directors of the Northwest Indiana Symphony has named Robert L. Vodnoy as its conductor for the 1976-77 season, it was announced today.

Vodnoy is currently music director and conductor of the Twin Cities Symphony orchestra in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, a post he will retain.

Vodnoy has conducted professional, university and summer festival orchestras in this country and Europe, including the St. Louis Philharmonic, the Hartford Chamber orchestra, the Orchestra of the Monteux Memorial Center and the North Carolina School of the Arts Festival orchestra in Siena, Italy.

He was a professional violinist in the Hartford symphony and has received awards for his orchestral compositions and chamber music.

A native of South Bend, Ind., Vodnoy attended Interlochen Arts Academy. He holds a bachelor of music degree, summa cum laude, and a master of music degree from Hartt College of Music of the University of Hartford.

He has pursued doctoral studies in conducting at Indiana university. Among his teachers are Charles Bruck, the late Tibor Kozma, Thor Johnson, Edwin Hannes and Ruggiero Ricci. He is on the teaching staff of the Cathedral School of the Arts and Lake Michigan college.

Symphony board president, Mrs. Clayton D. Root of Crown Point, Ind., said that "while there were many qualified candidates, we feel certain that Vodnoy is the right choice. He is young and energetic, has an exceptional educational background, a wide range of experience and a concern for youth and the development of potential musicians and audiences.

"In addition, he lives within an hour's drive and will be available if he is needed to solve problems or to attend various functions on behalf of the symphony."

Season tickets for the Northwest Indiana symphony's series of five concerts, featuring Benny Goodman, Robert Merrill and Hammond pianist Justin Kolb, are still available. Information may be obtained by writing Box 424, Crown Point, Ind., 46307.

Brevity

Sen Born — Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Eckert, 11319 Flint Rock drive, Grand Ledge, announce the birth of a son, Ryan Carter, weighing 5 pounds, 1 ounce, Aug. 11 at St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing. Mrs. Eckert is the former Christine Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Day of St. Joseph. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Eckert of Benton Harbor.

Beef Tips Browning

Have you found it difficult to brown round steak? When you brown beef cubes for a braised beef dish does the juice appear to curdle in the pan? If so, why does this happen?

The problem appears to be the lack of retention of moisture during browning. This could be due to shortened aging periods. With today's demand for meat, it is marketed before there is much time for the meat to be aged.

Another factor may be browning the meat too slowly.

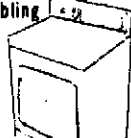

Although meat should not be seared, since this increases cooking losses and may cause smoking of the fat, the temperature of the fat in the frying pan, when browning meat, should be high enough so the meat will begin browning as soon as it is placed in the fat.

Civic Benefit Elects

MRS. ANDREW WEST
Staff Photo

Mrs. Andrew West of St. Joseph has been elected president of Civic Benefit club, a group which has raised over $80,000 in its 26 years of existence for the benefit of the community.

Other officers elected for the 1976-77 year include Mrs. Thomas Sinn, vice president; Mrs. John Schram, secretary; Mrs. Douglas Heaps, treasurer; Mrs. Willis Koontz, historian; Mrs. Donald Ladorow, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Robert McDowell and Mrs. Jerry Reimann, members-at-large.

Civic Benefit club, which serves the twin cities area, was organized in 1950 and has grown to a group of 50 women united for the purpose of rendering service for the benefit of the community and its citizens.

The group began service work by devoting volunteer hours to hospital work. Also in its early years, the club held annual style shows and home tours. In 1956, Civic Benefit club developed a reputation for bringing outstanding entertainment to the area, the most recent being the presentation of "1776."

In addition to these major projects, the group has also undertaken other projects, such as a champagne brunch with Fran Allison as a featured guest, a children's play, the International Ice Review, home tours and an antique show.

Recipients of the proceeds raised by the club include Lake Michigan college, Berrien County Day Care Training Center, Gard school, Michigan Children's Aid Society, Memorial hospital, Mercy hospital, Y-Uncles, Berrien County Drug Treatment Center, The Link and the St. Joseph Art Center.

The group also makes donations annually to the American Cancer Society, United Community Fund, Christmas Seals, the Girl Scout Campership Fund, Easter Seals, March of Dimes, Hemophilia Fund, and the Goodfellows.

Members individually give volunteer hours to charitable organizations.

Mrs. West has been a member of Civic Benefit club for 13 years. She is also a member of St. Joseph Catholic church, St. Joseph, and the Marion Guild of the church. She has served on the Lake Michigan Catholic Home and School board and is a volunteer at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

She and her husband, a Bendix Corp. employee, have four children, Andrew III, Kathy and Thomas, and Mrs. James Quirk III of Salem, Mass.

Plans 'Antiques-On-The-Lake'

The third annual "Antiques on the Lake" show and sale, sponsored by Civic Benefit club, will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 22 and 23, at Shadowland ballroom in St. Joseph.

Proceeds from this year's event will be used for materials to build a nature lab at Sarett Nature Center in Benton Harbor.

Tickets are $1.50 in advance and $2 at the door. The show will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Thirty-five quality dealers will be participating, according to Mrs. David (Mary Lou) Matzen, general chairman of the event. In addition there will be a country store selling homemade baked goods and a snack bar serving sandwiches, desserts and beverages.

The nature lab planned for the nature center will measure 36 by 24 feet including a 12 by 24 foot porch, according to Charles Nelson, director-naturalist. A Stevensville carpenter, James Mullins, has agreed to donate his time and labor if the center is provided the materials.

TWIN CITIES DIRECTOR

Vodnoy To Lead Indiana Symphony

GARY, Ind. — Board of directors of the Northwest Indiana Symphony has named Robert L. Vodnoy as its conductor for the 1976-77 season. It was announced today.

Vodnoy is currently music director and conductor of the Twin Cities Symphony orchestra in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, a post he will retain.

Vodnoy has conducted professional, university and summer festival orchestras in this country and Europe, including the St. Louis Philharmonic, the Hartford Chamber orchestra, the Orchestra of the Montreux Memorial Center and the North Carolina School of the Arts' Festival orchestra in Siena, Italy.

He was a professional violinist in the Hartford symphony and has received awards for his orchestral compositions and chamber music.

A native of South Bend, Ind., Vodnoy attended Interlochen Arts Academy. He holds a bachelor of music degree, summa cum laude, and a master of music degree from Hartt College of Music of the University of Hartford.

He has pursued doctoral studies in conducting at Indiana university. Among his teachers are Charles Bruck, the late Tibor Kozma, Thor Johnson, Edwyn Hames and Ruggiero Ricci. He is on the teaching staff of the Cathedral School of the Arts and Lake Michigan college. Symphony board president, Mrs. Clayton D. Root of Crown Point, Ind., said that "while there were many qualified candidates, we feel certain that Vodnoy is the right choice. He is young and energetic, has an exceptional educational background, a wide range of experience and a concern for youth and the development of potential musicians and audiences.

"In addition, he lives within an hour's drive and will be available if he is needed to solve problems or to attend various functions on behalf of the symphony."

Season tickets for the Northwest Indiana symphony's series of five concerts, featuring Benny Goodman, Robert Merrill and Hammond pianist Justin Kolb, are still available. Information may be obtained by writing Box 424, Crown Point, Ind., 46307.

Open House Sunday

COVERT — Mr. and Mrs. Duane C. Castor, Orchard street, Covert, will be honored at an open house celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday, Aug. 15, at 2 p.m. in the Youth building on the Van Buren County Fair grounds, Hartford.

Hosting the event will be the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Steven (Colleen) New of Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Dave (Lauren) Hadley of Hartford, and Miss Christine Castor, at home.

Mrs. Castor is on the staff of the Covert branch of the Van Buren State bank. Castor is the Covert postmaster and currently serves as president of the Van Buren County Youth Fair board.

Closet Cleanup

A good time to thoroughly clean a child's room is when the school semester is closed for summer recess.

Papers, books, projects, scattered around from last minute studying or research work, should be checked, then stored away or discarded.

Let children start the cleanup. Give each a large plastic or paper bag into which papers, used notebooks and other items no longer needed may be scrapped. A shoe box serves as a catchall for storing pens, pencils, rulers, and additional paraphernalia until September.

Make room on a shelf or counter top for books and binders. Dust covers or sponge those that are washable before storing.

Outdoors Classroom

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After his class visited a local cemetery recently, Julian Stranix, 12, decided to do some research into the Civil, Spanish-American and two World Wars.

His study was prompted by the military markers at the graves of men who had fought in those battles.

Two other youngsters made rubbings of gravestones for an art class while Cheryl Rogers, 12, looked into the history of families buried in the same cemetery.

The students' projects were part of "Operation Cemetery" at the East Washington Rhodes middle school in north Philadelphia.

Dr. Edward Stranix, administrator at Rhodes, first thought of using cemeteries as outdoor classrooms for inner city children about three years ago.

He obtained a $3,000 grant from the United States Office of Education for the program. The grant, which was allocated under the agency's Project KARE (Knowledgeable Action to Restore the Environment), paid for the publication of a workbook that suggests learning projects to be conducted in cemeteries.

The idea has been picked up by dozens of other schools throughout the United States and Canada.

"Most people think that environmental studies can be conducted only in suburban or rural areas — in woods and forests," Stranix says. He sees cemeteries as perfect outdoor classroom laboratories.

"The cemetery is a safe, open and available area for making discoveries," Stranix says. "A youngster can catch toads, collect rocks and observe butterflies that aren't to be found on city streets."

Stranix began the program during the 1973-74 school year with 30 fifth and sixth graders. Now 80 per cent of the Rhodes faculty are using the cemetery program in the regular curriculum.

Stranix notes the program is no substitute for the regular classroom, but he says it does get students interested in learning.

Jacob Hoffman, Rhodes principal, says "Operation Cemetery" proves that "everything good doesn't have to cost money." He said once youngsters get interested in a subject they will be more likely to take it back to the classrooms and learn more.

Julian Stranix is one student who did. Julian admitted he was at first "a little scared" when his teacher said the class would be visiting three local cemeteries. Now, Julian thinks the cemetery is a "very nice place to go learn about nature and to study math and science and social studies."

Slim Bags Are Stylish

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Hang it all. Or buckle it. Then go for a bike ride or a walk to the corner for an Italian ice or milk shake.

Do anything that doesn't require a handbag jammed with checkbook, make-up case, over-stuffed wallet and brush and comb, allergy, diet and stress pills, old and new tissues, paper clips, loose change, address book and ballpoint pen covers, sunglasses, breath mints and that cute little lipstick with mirror you never use.

Get down to the essentials. You don't need more than keys and quarters, so stick them in a belt bag and fasten it around your waist. Or hang it around your neck, over your shoulder, or on any free appendage.

If all this freedom is going to make you feel like Tins without his blanket, don't worry. In addition to simple drawstring and fold-over pouches that are just right for a two dollar bill, there are miniature, deceptively flat organizers or envelopes. Simply unfold them and voila, enough pockets, card slots and zippered compartments to reassure the most insecure.

Belt bags are, after all, a decoration, so you don't have to stick to just one. Try two at a time, one a little higher than the other, with the bags on opposite sides of the body.

For summer, you'll find cowhide the most popular material, ranging from glove softness to western roughness, and you'll find it in natural earth tones as well as red, white and blue.

That's just he solids, if you want serape stripes of denim blue, orange, yellow and beige, or calico prints, those are around to be hung, too.

If leather doesn't appeal, pick a bag of canvas, vinyl, corduroy, suede or straw.

And if you don't want to button, snap or drawstring it shut, find one that relies on Velcro strips which adhere to each other. Unintentionally, they provide a sound alarm system: when the bag is opened, the separation of the strips sounds exactly like a sheet being ripped.

Where To Go... ... And When

The Twin Cities Arts Council maintains a permanent calendar of events for area groups to list dates of events they have scheduled. Groups are urged to report their own dates so that others will not select the same dates for major cultural and social activities in the Twin Cities by calling Dorothy Ther, Michigan State University Center, 725-9092.

THIS WEEK

Outdoors Classroom

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After his class visited a local cemetery recently, Julian Shanks, 12, decided to do some research into the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars.

His study was prompted by the military markers at the graves of men who had fought in those battles.

Two other youngsters made rubbings of gravestones for an art class while Cheryl Rogers, 12, looked into the history of families buried in the same cemetery.

The students' projects were part of "Operation Cemetery" at the East Washington Rhodes middle school in north Philadelphia.

Dr. Edward Stranix, administrator at Rhodes, first thought of using cemeteries as outdoor classrooms for inner city children about three years ago.

He obtained a $3,000 grant from the United States Office of Education for the program. The grant, which was allocated under the agency's Project KARE (Knowledgeable Action to Restore the Environment), paid for the publication of a workbook that suggests learning projects to be conducted in cemeteries.

The idea has been picked up by dozens of other schools throughout the United States and Canada.

"Most people think that environmental studies can be conducted only in suburban or rural areas — in woods and forests," Stranix says. He sees cemeteries as perfect outdoor classroom laboratories.

"The cemetery is a safe, open and available area for making discoveries," Stranix says. "A youngster can catch toads, collect rocks and observe butterflies that aren't to be found on city streets."

Stranix began the program during the 1973-74 school year with 30 fifth and sixth graders. Now 80 per cent of the Rhodes faculty are using the cemetery program in the regular curriculum.

Stranix notes the program is no substitute for the regular classroom, but he says it does get students interested in learning.

Jacob Hoffman, Rhodes principal, says "Operation Cemetery" proves that "everything good doesn't have to cost money." He said once youngsters get interested in a subject they will be more likely to take it back to the classrooms and learn more.

Julian Shanks is one student who did.

Julian admitted he was at first "a little scared" when his teacher said the class would be visiting three local cemeteries. Now, Julian thinks the cemetery is a "very nice place to go learn about nature and to study math and science and social studies."

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Time May Heal Wounds

Dear Ann: We would appreciate it if you would print the enclosed story. It is our fervent hope that two special people will read it and think of us.

Thank you for your consideration, Ann. — No Identification, Please

NINE YEARS OF DIVORCE

Once upon a time there were:

1. A mother and a father.
2. Two sets of grandparents.
3. Two sets of great-grandparents.
4. Bunches of aunts and uncles.
5. A whole lot of cousins.

We remember your first puppy, your letters from camp, putting your first bikes together, having your pictures taken, your tonsillectomies, your teddy bears, your two summers in Florida, the family birthday parties, the holiday gifts and your excitement at opening the packages.

But when you were in the third and fifth grades there came the "divorce."

After that there was only:

1. One mother and a step-father.
2. One father and a step-mother.
3. Two stepbrothers.

But none of the "before" people were around because your mother divorced EVERYONE, not just your father. Your "before" memories vanished. They were replaced with new things. All the past was turned into "bad times" and "bad people."

Now you are 18 and 20, and your "before" folks pray that one day you will realize your mother's words were not true and those "before" people never left you in thought, prayer or heart when you kids were taken away from all of us.

We're still hoping for a happy ending — even after nine long years.

Dear Hoping: So am I. Please keep me posted if and when there is a reconciliation. Time can be a great healer.

Fishy Divorce

Dear Ann Landers: A few years ago Paul and I went to Tijuana, Mexico, and engaged a Mexican lawyer who said he could get Paul a divorce and marry us all at once. It sounded very uncomplicated and we were delighted.

Paul filled out a long questionnaire and signed it. The lawyer declared Paul officially divorced the moment he affixed his signature to the questionnaire. We were then married by the same man.

Eighteen days after Paul and I returned to California, we received the divorce papers and the wedding certificate. On the wedding certificate was stamped "Married By Proxy."

Paul and I would like to start a family but we want to make sure we are legally married. We also want to make sure Paul is officially divorced from his first wife. My mother said from the beginning that it sounded phony

The reading club, "Batty About Books," ends Saturday, Aug. 21.

A storytime for children ages four to eight years will begin Thursday, Aug. 26, at the Covert branch library. The program lasts six weeks.

The library is open to the public Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. and from 10 a.m. until noon Saturdays, according to Olga Stegeman, librarian.

Erma Bombeck Planets Conspire Behind Her Back

According to one of the world's foremost astrologers, this is my year to become President of the United States.

This came to my attention when I read that Sen. Edward Kennedy and I were born a day apart and he was given a five-star rating, the highest of any of the other presidential contenders.

There's a catch to it. We both have to get off our cusps and work for it against some odds. Is that the story of my life? I don't know about Sen. Kennedy, but I never get anything for nothing. The sun never rises on my sign. My planets are always conspiring behind my back. And my destiny always reads like it's been out in the natal sun sign too long.

I don't like to sound bitter but other people get all the good signs. Their horoscopes always read, "Popularity and untold wealth will haunt you. There's no getting away from it." Or, "You are irresistible to every sign in the zodiac. Give in and enjoy."

Not mine. They always warn, "There is a chance for companionship around the 15th of the month, but it is a slim one. Your boring image can be lessened. Perhaps writing a check to someone who will sit with you."

Usually the people born under my sign are Martin Bormann and Anne Boleyn.

It's not nice to name names, but if my mother had held on just a little longer — a good month and a half — I'd have been a different person. As it is, I am basically weak and insecure and tend to go along with whomever is around me. When I ask someone for the time of day and they give it to me, I always reset my watch. It never occurs to me that I could be right.

Whenever I buy a weekend outfit with the jacket, slacks and skirt, I spill catsup on the jacket.

I never buy L'Oréal for my hair. I never figure I'm worth it.

Take today. I read through all the other zodiac signs and my body quivered for what I knew was in store for them. Mine? Same old melody. "The potential for a bright day is there, but you will have to work on it. Don't become discouraged by others who take advantage of you."

I don't think I could handle the presidency. Only one other fellow on my cusp did it — George Washington — and then the poor devil had to bite the bullet with wooden teeth.

I'm not sure it's worth it.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My father was a football player and a perfect physical specimen. Suddenly, at the age of 61, he had a stroke. Now his left side is paralyzed. Do you think that after six months there is still a possibility that he will again be able to function normally? — Mrs. M.T., Mich.

Dear Mrs. T.:

There are many questions that remain unanswered about strokes. Yet an enormous amount of information has accumulated in the past 35 years about the prevention of stroke and the rehabilitation of stroke victims.

In order to get a better comprehension of what a stroke is let me go into some detail about the anatomy and physiology of the body.

In normal health, the heart pumps blood to all parts of the body and keeps the organs nourished with a sufficient amount of blood and oxygen.

The blood vessels from the heart pass through the neck and into the brain, supplying it with the life-giving oxygen, without which no organ can possibly survive.

Any interference with the free flow of blood to the brain (d) can cause a cerebro-vascular accident (CVA), which is known as a "stroke."

A hemorrhage due to the rupture or tear of a blood vessel is a major cause. Sometimes a spasm of the blood vessel, due to excess tobacco or to drugs, can temporarily interfere with the free flow of blood.

A blood clot, narrowing of a blood vessel due to arteriosclerosis, the rupture of an aneurysm, all interfere with the free flow of blood to the brain.

The degree of incapacitation depends entirely on the part of the brain that is deprived of blood and oxygen. Specific parts of the brain determine our capacity to speak, to understand the written or spoken word, and the ability to move certain muscles of the body.

If any of these areas are deprived of blood and oxygen, the results become apparent.

Even after six months, with concentrated rehabilitation, exercises and drugs, there is still a possibility that your father may regain some of his capacity to function.

FOR SATURDAY AUG. 14, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're very popular with others today. This will become apparent to you once you make your entrance where a group is gathered.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons will take you into their confidence today where they wouldn't others. You may be told something advantageous.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today holds a special type of promise for you. There's a likelihood you may get something you've been hoping for.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Aim high today. Even if you fall short you'll still be ahead of where you started, especially in career or financial matters.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try to spend time in the company of people today whom you feel you can learn from. Valuable ideas will be exchanged.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good day for you to get in touch with anyone who owes you something from the past. Your chances of collecting look promising.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Conditions will be much to your liking today, particularly if you're going to be doing something where friends are involved.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) You can excel at anything you set your sights on today that you're prepared to really work for. Roll up your sleeves. Get going!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Any social activity that requires organization should be left in your capable hands today. You'll make it turn out fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A condition that has recently caused you concern will be rectified today in a manner you'd least expect, and to everyone's satisfaction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do something fun and different today, but don't get too many people involved. The smaller the group the happier the time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your financial prospects appear quite encouraging today. You should be able to add to your resources through your cleverness.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Time May Heal Wounds

Dear Ann: We would appreciate it if you would print the enclosed story. It is our fervent hope that two special people will read it and think of us.

Thank you for your consideration, Ann. — No Identification, Please

NINE YEARS OF DIVORCE

Once upon a time there were:
1. A mother and a father.
2. Two sets of grandparents.
3. Two sets of great-grandparents.
4. Bunches of aunts and uncles.
5. A whole lot of cousins.

We remember your first puppy, your letters from camp, putting your first bikes together, having your pictures taken, your tonsillectomies, your teddy bears, your two summers in Florida, the family birthday parties, the holiday gifts and your excitement at opening the packages.

But when you were in the third and fifth grades there came the "divorce."

After that there was only:

1. One mother and a step-father.
2. One father and a step-mother.
3. Two stepbrothers.

But none of the "before" people were around because your mother divorced EVERYONE, not just your father. Your "before" memories vanished. They were replaced with new things. All the past was turned into "bad times" and "bad people."

Now you are 18 and 20, and your "before" folks pray that one day you will realize your mother's words were not true and those "before" people never left you in thought, prayer or heart when you kids were taken away from all of us.

We're still hoping for a happy ending — even after nine long years.

Dear Hoping: So am I. Please keep me posted if and when there is a reconciliation. Time can be a great healer.

Fishy Divorce

Dear Ann Landers: A few years ago Paul and I went to Tijuana, Mexico, and engaged a Mexican lawyer who said he could get Paul a divorce and marry us all at once. It sounded very uncomplicated and we were delighted.

Paul filled out a long questionnaire and signed it. The lawyer declared Paul officially divorced the moment he affixed his signature to the questionnaire. We were then married by the same man.

Eighteen days after Paul and I returned to California, we received the divorce papers and the wedding certificate. On the wedding certificate was stamped "Married By Proxy."

Paul and I would like to start a family but we want to make sure we are legally married. We also want to make sure Paul is officially divorced from his first wife. My mother said from the beginning that it sounded phony

Concert

Saturday

BRIDGMAN — The Singing Lawrence Family of San Antonio, Texas, will present a gospel concert Saturday, Aug. 14, at 7 p.m. at the Bridgman high school auditorium.

The public is invited to the event free of charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence with their six children ranging in age from 17 to 24 are musicians as well as singers and play a wide variety of instruments.

Library

Party

Tuesday

COVERT — A special library party for members of Van Buren county's summer library reading club will be held Tuesday, Aug. 25, at 11 a.m. at the Covert branch library.

The play, "Nobody Believes in Witches," will be presented by Dave McCann, head of the children's reading department for the county.

The reading club, "Batty About Books," ends Saturday, Aug. 21.

A storytime for children ages four to eight years will begin Thursday, Aug. 26, at the Covert branch library. The program lasts six weeks.

The library is open to the public Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. and from 10 a.m. until noon Saturdays, according to Olga Stegeman, librarian.

Erma Bombeck

Planets Conspire

Behind Her Back

According to one of the world's foremost astrologers, this is my year to become President of the United States.

This came to my attention when I read that Sen. Edward Kennedy and I were born a day apart and he was given a five-star rating, the highest of any of the other presidential contenders.

There's a catch to it. We both have to get off our cusps and work for it against some odds. Is that the story of my life? I don't know about Sen. Kennedy, but I never get anything for nothing. The sun never rises on my sign. My planets are always conspiring behind my back. And my destiny always reads like it's been out in the natal sun sign too long.

I don't like to sound bitter but other people get all the good signs. Their horoscopes always read, "Popularity and untold wealth will haunt you. There's no getting away from it." Or, "You are irresistible to every sign in the zodiac. Give in and enjoy."

Not mine. They always warn, "There is a chance for companionship around the 15th of the month, but it is a slim one. Your boring image can be lessened. Perhaps writing a check to someone who will sit with you."

Usually the people born under my sign are Martin Bormann and Anne Boleyn.

It's not nice to name names, but if my mother had held on just a little longer — a good month and a half — I'd have been a different person. As it is, I am basically weak and insecure and tend to go along with whomever is around me. When I ask someone for the time of day and they give it to me, I always reset my watch. It never occurs to me that I could be right.

Whenever I buy a weekend outfit with the jacket, slacks and skirt, I spill catsup on the jacket.

I never buy L'Oreal for my hair. I never figure I'm worth it.

Take today. I read through all the other zodiac signs and my body quivered for what I knew was in store for them. Mine? Same old melody. "The potential for a bright day is there, but you will have to work on it. Don't become discouraged by others who take advantage of you."

I don't think I could handle the presidency. Only one other fella on my cusp did it — George Washington — and then the poor devil had to bite the bullet with wooden teeth.

I'm not sure it's worth it.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My father was a football player and a perfect physical specimen. Suddenly, at the age of 61, he had a stroke. Now his left side is paralyzed. Do you think that after six months there is still a possibility that he will again be able to function normally? — Mrs. H.T., Mich.

Dear Mrs. T.:

There are many questions that remain unanswered about strokes. Yet an enormous amount of information has accumulated in the past 35 years about the prevention of stroke and the rehabilitation of stroke victims.

In order to get a better comprehension of what a stroke is let me go into some detail about the anatomy and physiology of the body.

In normal health, the heart pumps blood to all parts of the body and keeps the organs nourished with a sufficient amount of blood and oxygen.

The blood vessels from the heart pass through the neck and into the brain, supplying it with the life-giving oxygen, without which no organ can possibly survive.

Any interference with the free flow of blood to the brain (d) can cause a cerebro-vascular accident (CVA), which is known as a "stroke."

A hemorrhage due to the rupture or tear of a blood vessel is a major cause. Sometimes a spasm of the blood vessel, due to excess tobacco or to drugs, can temporarily interfere with the free flow of blood.

A blood clot, narrowing of a blood vessel due to arteriosclerosis, the rupture of an aneurysm, all interfere with the free flow of blood to the brain.

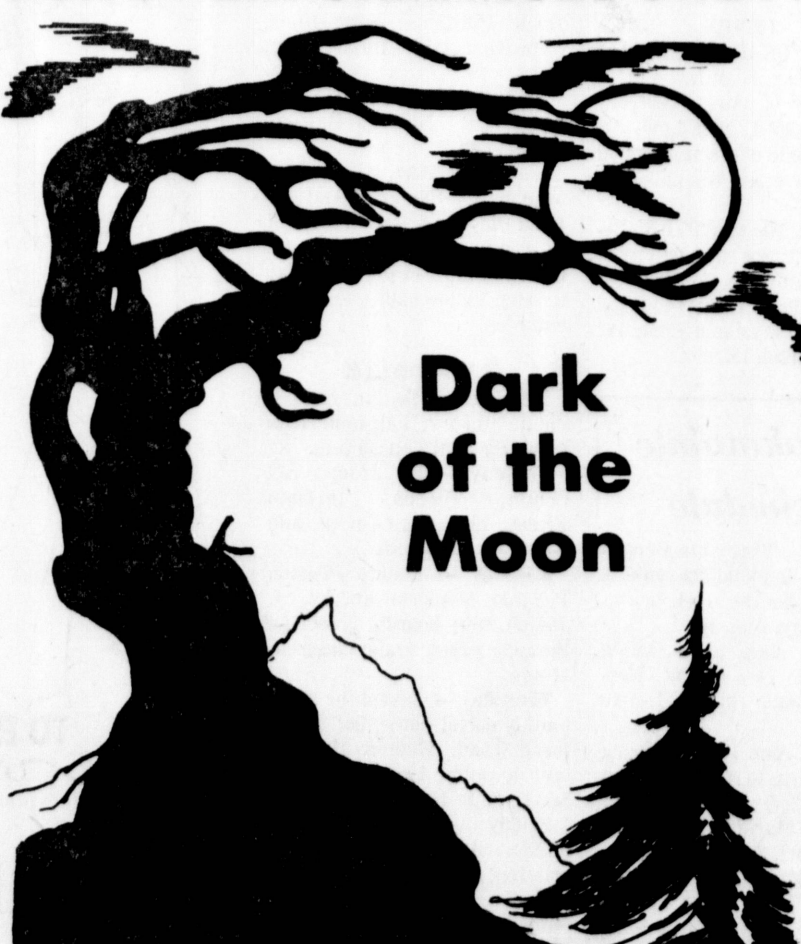

The degree of incapacitation depends entirely on the part of the brain that is deprived of blood and oxygen. Specific parts of the brain determine our capacity to speak, to understand the written or spoken word, and the ability to move certain muscles of the body.

If any of these areas are deprived of blood and oxygen, the results become apparent.

Even after six months, with concentrated rehabilitation, exercises and drugs, there is still a possibility that your father may regain some of his capacity to function.

In those cases where the damage is thought to be fixed and irreversible, patients today are given a greater sense of hope to replace despair if active re-educational techniques are used.

"What terrible luck," groaned South. "East had to hold the king of hearts and ace of spades and be smart enough to lead back a diamond at trick two."

"I don't know," said North. "That eight of hearts lead marked East with the king. There was no good reason for you to finesse. Furthermore, if you had just asked yourself how you could be sure of nine tricks you would have risen with the ace of hearts and gone about the business of setting up spades before anyone could attack you in diamonds."

North was right. South could rise with the ace of hearts and be sure of four spades and four clubs, but he didn't bother to think.

He played dummy's queen of hearts at trick one. East took his king and shifted to a diamond. South's queen lost to West's king and West returned the eight spot to South's jack.

Later on, when East got in with the ace of spades he led his last diamond and West got two more diamond tricks.

Ask the Jacobys

A Nevada reader wants to know if it is proper bidding to make a jump in a short suit.

The answer is yes with the following common sense restrictions. First, be sure you have enough strength to go back to partner's suit at any level he takes you to. Second, be sure your short suit is lower in rank than the one you plan to play in.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

State Delegates Head For Showdown At KC

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
The Michigan Republican delegation — largely white, affluent and well-educated — is moving out for the President Ford-Ronald Reagan showdown in Kansas City.

Some of the state's 84 delegates had already left for the convention by Thursday, including high officials in both camps and fringe delegates who chose to drive.

Most of the delegates will leave Saturday, 70 of them on an Amtrak train which, with an open bar car, will huff and puff for some 16 hours to Kansas City with a long stop in Chicago. Eighty others will fly by special charter from Detroit.

When alternate delegates, party officials and workers and the media are added, the Michigan contingent will total 650 to 700 people, according to Jerry Roe, executive secretary of the state party.

Most will stay at the plush Crown Center Hotel, where rooms run $43-$50 a night and a waterfall cascades into the main lobby. The Michigan delegation will have the honor of sharing the hotel only with Ford and his retinue of White House aides and campaign officials.

But several delegates are staying with relatives to shave costs and at least a couple took campers. Roe estimated the total cost for a delegate will run to $600 for the week-long round of speeches, votes, caucuses and socializing.

Roe has scheduled a slate of nonpartisan entertainment to keep delegates refreshed, including tickets to a Kansas

City Royals-Detroit Tigers game Sunday. Also on tap are tours to the Truman Library and a tennis tournament.

Michigan delegates figure to play a major part in the faceoff between Ford and Reagan. Already in Kansas City is Sen. Robert Griffin, a Ford delegate who is the President's floor manager in charge of marshaling votes for the candidate.

Griffin has deputized virtually all of the state party's Ford heavyweights in the search for support at the convention. Aiding Griffin will be Gov. William Milliken, party Chairman William McLaughlin, national committee members Peter Fletcher and Margaret Riecker and former state chairwoman Elly Peterson, among others.

Ford officials hope their familiarity of the President will be effective in wooing delegates from other states.

There have also been reports that Milliken may be called upon to give Ford's nominating speech, or perhaps a seconding speech. But the governor's office said Thursday Milliken had not been contacted on the matter.

Fifty-five Michigan delegates are bound to Ford through at least two ballots, while 29 delegates must, under state law, vote for Reagan. Heading the Reagan delegation is state Sen. John Welborn of Kalamazoo.

The Ford forces have used their majority to muscle all eight spots on the four committees at the convention, and are expected to easily re-elect Fletcher and Riecker to the national committee as the first act of official business on Sunday. Shut out of much of the official functions of the convention, the state Reagan group has set up its own "mini-convention," complete with committees and press relations so it won't have to rely on the Ford machine for information and publicity.

The Michigan delegation hardly represents a cross-section of the state. Although split near-evenly between men and women, an Associated Press survey shows it is made up largely of white, well-educated business people nearing middle age.

Specifically, there will be 47 male delegates and 37 females. Of the 84 who responded to a question on race, 74 are white, seven are black and two are of other races.

Thirty-six, or 43 per cent, have gone beyond a college degree in education.

NOT ITEM: Here's gag item group of young entrepreneurs have come up with and hope to turn profit by selling at the GOP National Convention in Kansas City. Item is dubbed "Washington Hot Air." # State Delegates Head For Showdown At KC

HOT ITEM: Here's gag item group of young entrepreneurs have come up with and hope to turn profit by selling at the GOP National Convention in Kansas City. Item is dubbed "Washington Hot Air." Product comes in aerosol can with red, white and blue label with likeness of the Capitol. Cans sell at two dollars each. (AP Wirephoto)

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
The Michigan Republican delegation — largely white, affluent and well-educated — is moving out for the President Ford-Ronald Reagan showdown in Kansas City.

Some of the state's 84 delegates had already left for the convention by Thursday, including high officials in both camps and frugal delegates who chose to drive.

Most of the delegates will leave Saturday, 70 of them on an Amtrak train which, with an open bar car, will huff and puff for some 16 hours to Kansas City with a long stop in Chicago. Eighty others will fly by special charter from Detroit.

When alternate delegates, party officials and workers and the media are added, the Michigan contingent will total 650-to-700 people according to Jerry Roe, executive secretary of the state party.

Most will stay at the plush Crown Center Hotel, where rooms run $43-$50 a night and a waterfall cascades into the main lobby. The Michigan delegation will have the honor of sharing the hotel only with Ford and his retinue of White House aides and campaign officials.

But several delegates are staying with relatives to shave costs and at least a couple took campers. Roe estimated the total cost for a delegate will run to $600 for the week-long round of speeches, votes, caucuses and socializing.

Roe has scheduled a slate of nonpartisan entertainment to keep delegates refreshed, including tickets to a Kansas

City Royals-Detroit Tigers game Sunday. Also on tap are tours to the Truman Library and a tennis tournament.

Michigan delegates figure to play a major part in the faceoff between Ford and Reagan. Already in Kansas City is Sen. Robert Griffin, a Ford delegate who is the President's floor manager in charge of marshaling votes for the candidate.

Griffin has deputized virtually all of the state party's Ford heavyweights in the search for support at the convention. Aiding Griffin will be Gov. William Milliken, party Chairman William McLaughlin, national committee members Peter Fletcher and Margaret Riecker and former state chairwoman Elly Peterson, among others.

Ford officials hope their familiarity of the President will be effective in wooing delegates from other states.

There have also been reports that Milliken may be called upon to give Ford's nominating speech, or perhaps a seconding speech. But the governor's office said Thursday Milliken had not been contacted on the matter.

Fifty-five Michigan delegates are bound to Ford through at least two ballots, while 29 delegates must, under state law, vote for Reagan. Heading the Reagan delegation is state Sen. John Welborn of Kalamazoo.

The Ford forces have used their majority to muscle all eight spots on the four committees at the convention, and are expected to easily re-elect Fletcher and Riecker to the national committee as the first act of official business on Sunday.

Shut out of much of the official functions of the convention, the state Reagan group has set up its own "mini-convention," complete with committees and press relations so it won't have to rely on the Ford machine for information and publicity.

The Michigan delegation hardly represents a cross-section of the state. Although split near-evenly between men and women, an Associated Press survey shows it is made up largely of white, well-educated business people nearing middle age.

Specifically, there will be 47 male delegates and 37 females. Of the 83 who responded to a question on race, 74 are white, seven are black and two are of other races.

ROBERT PLUMMER IN JACKSON COUNTY JAIL CELL

At 22, He's 'Old Man' In Jackson County Jail

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — At 22, Robert E. Plummer is the old man of the Jackson County jail. He's spent the last four years there awaiting the outcome of complicated legal maneuvering surrounding his conviction for a 1972 murder. His jailer, Sheriff Charles Southworth of Jackson County, described Plummer as "a political prisoner" who remains in his 8 by 8 foot cell because of differences among the courts.

Sheriff Southworth expressed pity over Plummer's jail status, saying, "He comes out of his cell twice a week, walks 16 feet to a shower. It is pitiful."

Southworth said the problem is that the jail has no facilities for exercise, work or rehabilitation and that just about any prisoner in Michigan has it better.

Plummer was convicted of first-degree murder in Jackson County Circuit Court in February 1973 for the shooting of a robbery victim.

But Circuit Court Judge Gordon Britten, who heard the case, ruled 10 months later that Plummer was entitled to a new trial. The judge said he felt his charge to the jury was confusing and overemphasized murder in relation to other possible verdicts.

Jackson County Prosecutor Bruce Barton appealed Britten's ruling, but the state Court of Appeals denied the challenge, saying there was no state law governing the situation. Barton then appealed to the state Supreme Court in June 1975 and the case is now working its way through the crowded docket with indications it may be many months before it is heard.

"Justice has not been done," Plummer said of his confinement. "According to our statutes, I should be in court. I should be transferred somewhere else."

"I think this is an unfortunate situation, regardless of where the fault lies, that this man should have to spend four years in a jail facility deprived of many things a person should have and actually through no fault of his," Southworth said.

Since Plummer has not been sentenced, he remains in the sheriff's custody. State law says the maximum time a prisoner can stay in a county jail is a year after sentencing.

The youthful prisoner, who turned to religion during his many months in jail, has attracted many friends.

The Rev. Don Peterson of Vandercook Baptist Church, former pastor to Plummer and his parents, said, "I think it would be an answer to the prayers of many people if he were released. I think he is totally rehabilitated and I would be happy to have him living next door to me or in my house."

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Three federal judges have taken under advisement a suit seeking to place Eugene McCarthy on Michigan's November election ballot as an independent presidential candidate.

Appellate Court Judge Albert Engel and District Court Judges Noel Fox and Wendell Miles said Thursday they would try to issue a decision quickly.

"It's purely a legal question," insisted Assistant Atty. Gen. Norbert Jaworski in defending the state's refusal to list the former U.S. Senator from Minnesota as an independent candidate.

State law makes no provision for such candidates.

Jaworski insisted McCarthy could have qualified easily as a presidential candidate simply by forming a party of his own which met the state's standards for new parties.

The state's lawyer added, "The plaintiffs were more concerned with the principles they were trying to advance than with the candidacy."

Kenneth A. Birch, an East Lansing lawyer representing McCarthy, confirmed the former senator's backers met all the Michigan standards for a new party but still want their man listed as an independent.

McCarthy's backers submitted 27,000 petition signatures on his behalf, held a type of convention to choose presidential electors, and certified the meeting's results just as a minor political party would have, Birch reported.

Both lawyers agreed there is no major dispute over facts of the case. But Birch contended failing to provide for independent candidates is unconstitutional.

"You're going to have a lot of questions, I'll tell you right now," Judge Engel told Birch as the hearing opened. All three judges questioned the lawyers closely.

Their questions hinted at the complexity of the issue despite its apparent simplicity. Birch was asked if he wants the court to order the state Legislature into special session to draw a law setting qualifications for independent candidates.

Birch replied that he hopes the court will draw guidelines for such candidates. Jaworski also said repeatedly that state officials are looking to the court for guidance in handling such candidates.

"I want to make sure we're not opening up a Pandora's Box with problems we haven't even dreamed of," Engel said at one point during the more than two hours of hearings.

McCarthy backers said their man is on the ballot in seven states and has met requirements in 11 others. But challenges to state laws were needed in five states, including Michigan. Three legal battles have been successful and none have been lost so far.

Ask Your Dentist

Q. Last month my dentist told me I have an upper molar tooth which has an abscess where the roots join the top or crown of the tooth. He told me he could probably save the tooth by cutting off one of the roots. Is such treatment practical?

A. The treatment suggested by your dentist is not common, but even though it may be considered radical, it is really conservative because it is done to preserve your tooth. No treatment procedure is radical if it eliminates the reason for the trouble and keeps your tooth in a healthy function condition.

Sometimes it is possible for the dentist to remove part of the gum and the infected bone in the area where the roots of a molar tooth join the crown of the tooth. This makes it easier for the patient to keep the area fairly clean. However, since the root surfaces are thus exposed to saliva and food debris, decay may begin in the roots and then the tooth is lost.

I hope you realize that it will be necessary to remove the nerve and pulp from all the roots of your tooth before the one root is amputated. There is a fair amount of careful surgery necessary where the root is amputated, but usually there is very little discomfort or pain, and within a few months the area is healed over nicely. You will have to pay particular attention to the way you brush around the gum of the tooth, and no doubt your dentist will wish to place a full crown on the tooth to change the shape of its chewing surface in order to lessen the stresses of mastication.

Q. I have a lower front tooth which seems to be turning pink. The other teeth in my mouth are O.K. I don't let a dentist take x-rays of my teeth because I think they're dangerous, but I never have tooth aches or cavities, so I can't figure out this pink tooth.

A. I suspect that you will soon lose your pink tooth, but the only way to diagnose your problem is with an x-ray examination of your teeth.

I think your tooth's condition is one known as internal resorption, which means simply that the tooth is being eaten away from the inside. The pink color will probably change to blue and at that time the tooth will become weak, and likely to break off.

The causes of internal resorption are not known for sure. Authorities seem to agree that it may be due to an injury to the tooth; others suggest it may be caused by a thyroid condition.

At any rate, I suspect that your trouble could have been discovered by x-ray examination several years ago. When it is diagnosed early, the tooth can usually be saved by root canal treatment.

Milliken Signs School, General Fund Money Bills

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bills to fund education in Michigan, from grade school to college, have been signed by Gov. William Milliken.

The governor also signed measures to keep major state departments running next year.

The bills signed Thursday make up the bulk of the state's $3.38 billion general fund budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. When federal funds and restricted state funds are added to general fund, the budget exceeds $7 billion.

Milliken signed a $3.38 billion School Aid Bill, which includes $758 million in state general fund money. The remainder of the money comes from restricted funds. The governor vetoed several items in the bill including $14.6 million for the Detroit Public School Employees' Retirement System.

The bill uses an equal-aid formula for school aid, rather than a weighted formula proposed in a Senate bill and which would have provided more money for lower grades.

Milliken also signed a $492.3 million appropriation to state colleges and universities for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1. It is $24.7 million higher than last year's appropriations.

The $239.3 million Department of Education Bill Milliken also signed is a slight increase over last year's spending and includes $200,000 for a Bilingual Resource Center that would help local districts start bilingual education programs.

Bilingual education will get another $890,000 in the school aid bill.

Milliken proposed a $34.6 million reduction in the budget before it passed, but lawmakers refused to cut retirement funding. However, they agreed to leave the item readily accessible to a veto if Milliken wanted to bear the political burden of cutting teacher retirement funding as a way of balancing the budget.

Other items vetoed in the school aid bill were $2.8 million in reimbursements to districts with more than a two per cent decline in enrollment, and $800,000 for districts participating in educational programming.

Under the bill Milliken signed, in 1978-79 school districts will be guaranteed $43.90 for each student per mill for the first 20 mills, and $39.60 per student for millage between 21 and 28 mills.

Also signed Thursday by Milliken were:

—A $335.3 million bill to fund the Department of Mental Health, including a veto of $463,500 for depression research at the University of Michigan. He said the project did not demonstrate that it would have long-term benefits for Michigan residents.

—A $63.8 million bill for the Department of Corrections. The appropriation is 25 per cent larger than last year's funding to provide for new health care programs, and increased staffing.

Milliken vetoed, however, $7.9 million for 509 more probation officers. The new officers would have bettered the officer-client ratio from 100-1 to 30-1.

Saying such a change would not necessarily improve things, Milliken said he would recommend instead that 69 officers be added.

—A $2.2 billion appropriation for the Department of Social Services, including $1 billion in general fund money.

Under the bill, recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children and general assistance will receive a four per cent increase in payments in December. For a Wayne County family of four, the payment will go from $408 to $419 a month while the average payment will go from $289 to $299.

The bill is based on an estimated ADC caseload of 218,000 families, with another 77,000 people on general assistance.

—A $136.6 million appropriation for the Department of Public Health and substance abuse programs. Milliken vetoed $70,000 for diabetes research and control, saying that research is continuing at state and federal levels with other financing.

—A $782.3 million appropriation for the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

—An $82.4 million appropriation for the Department of Military Affairs and the Department of State Police, the latter getting $63 million in general fund money.

—A $40.8 million appropriation for state construction projects. Milliken vetoed a vocational skills center at Northern Michigan University, a parking lot at Wayne State University, a new roof for the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit, and funds to replace a water main at Oakland University. Milliken said he would seek federal funds for the latter three projects.

—A $158 million appropriation for the departments of Commerce, Labor and Licensing and Regulation, including $27.6 million in general fund money.

—A $83.1 million appropriation for the Department of Natural Resources, including $32.6 million in general fund money. Milliken vetoed a snowmobile enforcement and trail maintenance program, although he said he would seek a supplemental appropriation of $140,000 to continue current snowmobile program grants to local units of government.

Strike Creates Shortage Of Winter Tires

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Motorists who wait until the last minute may be unable to buy winter tires.

Despite a breakthrough agreement on basic wage issues reached in Washington Thursday between the United Rubber Workers and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., industry spokesmen say the 16-week strike has virtually wiped out summer production of winter tires which go on sale in the fall.

"What happened in Washington isn't going to change the fact that winter tires will be tight," said a spokesman for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the nation's No. 1 producer with more than 1,700 company-owned retail stores and thousands of franchised independent dealers.

It is still unclear when the 60,000 strikers will return to work at Goodyear, Firestone, the B. F. Goodrich Co., Uniroyal and Armstrong. URW President Peter Bommarito indicated no final contract settlement would come before next week. While Firestone was selected as the pattern maker for the industry this year, each union committee dealing with the other companies must agree on contractual matters and any agreement must be ratified by the membership.

Spokesmen for both Goodyear and Firestone say just how much of a shortage of winter tires there will be depends on when production resumes, whether the winter is severe or mild and the timing of the first big snowfall. An early snowfall could aggravate the shortage, while a late one would allow more time for the industry to try to catch up.

The industry still has inventories of both conventional and radial winter tires left from last year and these will be the first to hit dealers' stores.

A spokesman for Firestone noted there was no early heavy snowfall in the midwest winter belt last year and not as many snow tires were sold as anticipated.

"I expect it to be tight," the spokesman said. "But it's too early to say if there will be a serious shortage. A late snow will give us a chance to still manufacture winter tires and ship them in October."

Industry spokesmen say 12.3 million winter tires were sold last year. They anticipate a demand of 13.1 million for this year. Winter tires account for less than 10 per cent of total tire production.

The Goodyear spokesman said his company would produce only winter radial tires when the employees return to work since the firm had an inventory of conventional winter tires left over from last year. The winter radials also can be used with conventional tires on the front wheels. Conventional winter tires cannot be used on rear wheels with radials on the front because such a combination would make driving unsafe.

The strike had little significant impact on summer drivers except for the inconvenience of motorists not always being able to get the particular model and size tire they wanted. But substitutes were available. Motorists who bought new cars had to take delivery in many cases without spare tires.

Shooting Ruled Self-Defense

BY LARRY MCINTYRE
Staff Writer

A Galesburg woman who allegedly shot and killed her estranged husband during an argument Wednesday will not be prosecuted, according to John Smietanka, Berrien county prosecutor. The victim, James A. Morley, 43, 2870 Oak Forest road, Buchanan, was allegedly shot by his wife, Loretta, 38, in her house in Galesburg township. Smietanka said there would be no prosecution because the shooting was apparently in self-defense.

He said witnesses had confirmed that Morley had threatened his wife moments before he was shot in the chest with a 12-gauge shotgun. Smietanka said a thorough state police investigation had also shown that earlier in the evening there had been a running argument.

He said investigators from the New Buffalo post had uncovered a long history of verbal and physical abuse by the husband.

Morley was pronounced dead at the scene. He was found inside a rear door of the home which officers said Mrs. Morley shared with Troy Huff and several of her children. The argument reportedly started at Morley's residence about four hours earlier. Mrs. Morley told officers Morley had followed her home and then had threatened to "splatter" her and Huff all over the bedroom wall.

Cooke Leaves School Board

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board last night accepted the resignation from the board of Dr. Weldon Cooke, a six-year veteran of the board.

Dr. Cooke, chief of staff at Berrien General Hospital, said his medical duties were not leaving him enough time to perform satisfactorily as a school board member, according to Stanley Macklin, the school's director of business affairs.

Cooke's term was to have expired in 1978. The board has 20 days to appoint a replacement and has set a special meeting for 6 p.m., Aug. 23, when it will spread the school's tax levies and possibly name a replacement for Cooke.

In other areas, the board approved salaries for five administrators.

The raises given four of the five administrators will bring about a 4.09 per cent increase in salaries for the posts, Macklin said.

Salaries approved were for Gerald Craig, high school principal, $19,800, no change from last year; Robert Fein, $18,500, new appointment as middle school principal; Alfred Berg, elementary principal, $17,275, up from $16,300; Robin Campbell, elementary principal, $18,500, up from $17,800; and Bruce Taiclet, athletic director with new duties as assistant high school principal, $17,500. A complaint about the Ginn company reading series for fifth graders was rejected. The parent alleged in April that the series was anti-God, extolled Soviet successes without point.

Pursuing Police Car Hits Auto

SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven city police car sustained an estimated $500 damage last night in a two-vehicle accident on North Shore drive.

Officer William Trent, 32, said he was pursuing a speeding vehicle and was passing another car when it turned left into his path.

The other driver, Charles McKinnon, 78, South Haven, told officers he was turning into a parking lot.

Trent said his emergency lights were operating when the accident occurred at 10:25 p.m. No tickets were issued. Neither the officer nor McKinnon were injured, police said.

NEW QUAKE ALERT

TOKYO (AP) — Peking's 7.6 million residents have been put on another earthquake alert and told to continue living in the streets, the newspaper Asahi reported from the Chinese capital today.

IT'S NEWS TODAY IN MICHIGAN

Traffic Control Grant Received

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Police have received a $20,000 federal grant to continue helping local communities reduce their traffic accident problems. The grant, to be followed by an additional $62,000 next year, will enable a few officers to assist small local police departments analyze their traffic crash problems and improve crash prevention activities. The Office of Highway Safety Planning said a study last year showed arrests for traffic violations increased 117 per cent in the 30 communities with the worst traffic violation problems. Drunk driving arrests also increased under the program. Other communities reduced their death rates by 42 per cent in one case and 32 per cent and 26 per cent in other instances.

MSU Power Plant Polluting?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A public hearing will be held Aug. 17 to air the state's complaint over excessive emissions from a Michigan State University power plant. A Department of Natural Resources official said MSU will be asked to sign an agreement which would bind the school to installing new equipment to control emissions from two coal-burning boilers on campus. The complaint was made by the state Air Pollution Control Commission last month. The commission said the plant has been polluting ever since the university switched from natural gas to coal last summer. If the school does not sign the agreement, the DNR said, the air quality division will urge the commission to insist it resume burning gas.

Horse Racing Control Challenged

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A suit that threatens the state Agriculture Department's control over county horse racing has been filed in Ingham County Circuit Court. Two Union Lake horse racing farm owners who were suspended from racing filed the suit asking the court to take away the agency's authority to regulate racing. A Sept. 10 hearing is scheduled before Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James Kallman on the suit filed by Frank and Dominic Marotta, owners of a racing farm in Oakland County. The two contend regulations which the department uses to regulate county fair horse races exceed legal and constitutional bounds.

Grain Regulation Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Grain trucking operations will be regulated and grain dealers licensed under a new state law signed by Gov. William Milliken. The new law also increases dealer bonding requirements from $5,000 for the first 10,000 bushels of storage capacity to $15,000. It increases the requirement from $3,000 for each additional 10,000 bushels to $5,000. It also allows licensed grain dealers to issue written agreements by which the dealer takes title to farmer produce for a sale price which is not fixed at the time of delivery. The Michigan Department of Agriculture estimates the new licensing fees will bring in $25,000 to the state's general fund.

Cracking Down On Hookers

DETROIT (AP) — Men who attempt to solicit prostitutes in Detroit could find themselves in jail for 90 days and paying a $100 fine under a Detroit police crackdown aimed at clearing the city's streets of hookers. Civic and government leaders have announced a community-wide campaign to clear out prostitution by putting the heat on their clients, including strong enforcement of laws that make it a misdemeanor for a man to solicit sexual acts from a woman not his wife. The crackdown was inspired in part by the success of a group of homemakers in one neighborhood who picketed a motel where prostitutes allegedly practiced their trade.

Police Chiefs Protest Shift

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Police chiefs in Michigan have objected to the state shifting part of the cost for law enforcement back to local governments. The Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police said the move will increase costs to local taxpayers, fragment the program and make control and improvements more difficult. The association opposes provisions in the 1976-77 state budget to shift to local governments part of the cost of the Law Enforcement Information Network, state and regional crime laboratories and increased training required by the state. The association said the programs "were all developed and implemented as a state service and responsibility to law enforcement and are now being shifted to local units to help pay for the programs."

Bank Bandit Gets A Red Hot Surprise

DETROIT (AP) — Police and FBI were looking Thursday for a thief who ran from a Detroit bank carrying $4,000 cash and wearing a pair of red-hot pants.

The gunman entered the bank and told the teller, "I want all your money, and don't press any buttons." He also ordered her to collect money from another teller.

But the money she handed him was rigged with two red dye bombs, which exploded in the thief's pocket as he left the bank.

The bombs also contained teargas, which has a temporary burning effect.

Police have alerted local hospitals to be on the lookout for a man with burns that might have been caused by the teargas.

Pickets Protest Candy Prices

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Seven-Eleven Store owner in Clinton Township is suing a grandmother and a group of children who have been picketing the store to protest the cost of candy bars. Mrs. Edith Cullane of Harrison Township and her pickets — sometimes as many as a dozen — have been parading in front of the store all week because, she says, her granddaughter was charged 32 cents for 25 cents worth of candy. Mrs. Cullane also claims that the store owner, Mrs. Harold Stafford, scolded the children when they dawdled over choosing their candy.

State Fuel Tax Revenue Rises

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fuel tax revenues increased almost six per cent over a year ago for the three months ending June 30, the State Highway Commission has reported. Receipts from state gas, diesel fuel and liquid petroleum gas totaled $101.8 million for the quarter, up $5.4 million or 5.6 per cent from the same three months in 1975. Partially offsetting the tax collections was a drop in license plate fees. The April through June quarter saw $24.1 million in revenue, down $3.7 million or 13.3 per cent from the same quarter in 1975. Fuel tax money and license plate fees go into the state Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, which is divided among the Department of State Highways and Transportation, the county road commissions and incorporated cities and villages.

Macklin said the board referred the series for study to a committee consisting of two elementary teachers, two protestant ministers, a university professor with training in educational philosophy and a member of the school board. None of the educators was from the Berrien Springs school system, Macklin said.

Macklin said it was the committee's conclusion that there was no basis for the complaints.

The board accepted the low bid of Kreamo Bakery of South Bend for a line of bakery products and the low bid of Melody Farms of Niles for dairy products, including 8.9 cents for half-pints of white milk and 9.9 cents for half-pints of chocolate milk.

It kept at last school year's prices the hot lunch fees, 50 cents for grades 1-3; 55 cents for grades 4-12; and 70 cents for adults.

The low bid of $2,500 from Evans Agriculture Service of Berrien Springs, for a tractor lawn mower, including a trade-in, was accepted by the board.

The board also confirmed school starting dates as Aug. 26 for the first full day for new teachers; Aug. 27 for all teachers; Aug. 30, full day for teachers and half-day for students; and Aug. 31 as the first full day for students.

The board also reviewed a report that the dropout rate of all high school students in the 1975-76 year was 4.15 per cent, down from the 1973-74 rate of 5.9 per cent.

Macklin said the dropout rate is about average for a school the size of Berrien Springs.

Shooting Ruled Self-Defense

BY LARRY MCINTYRE
Staff Writer

A Galien woman who allegedly shot and killed her estranged husband during an argument Wednesday will not be prosecuted, according to John Smetanka, Berrien county prosecutor. The victim, James A. Morley, 43, 2870 Oak Forest road, Buchanan, was allegedly shot by his wife, Loretta, 38, in her house in Galien township. Smetanka said there would be no prosecution because the shooting was apparently in self-defense.

He said witnesses had confirmed that Morley had threatened his wife moments before he was shot in the chest with a 12-gauge shotgun. Smetanka said a thorough state police investigation had also shown that earlier in the evening there had been a running argument.

He said investigators from the New Buffalo post had uncovered a long history of verbal and physical abuse by the husband.

Morley was pronounced dead at the scene. He was found inside a rear door of the home which officers said Mrs. Morley shared with Troy Half and several of her children. The argument reportedly started at Morley's residence about four hours earlier. Mrs. Morley told officers Morley had followed her home and then had threatened to "splatter" her and Half all over the bedroom wall.

Cooke Leaves School Board

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs school board last night accepted the resignation from the board of Dr. Weldon Cooke, a six-year veteran of the board.

Dr. Cooke, chief of staff at Berrien General hospital, said his medical duties were not leaving him enough time to perform satisfactorily as a school board member, according to Stanley Macklin, the school's director of business affairs.

Cooke's term was to have expired in 1978. The board has 20 days to appoint a replacement and has set a special meeting for 6 p.m., Aug. 23, when it will spread the school's tax levies and possibly name a replacement for Cooke.

In other areas, the board approved salaries for five administrators.

The raises given four of the five administrators will bring about a 4.09 per cent increase in salaries for the posts, Macklin said.

Salaries approved were for Gerald Craig, high school principal, $19,800, no change from last year; Robert Fein, $18,500, new appointment as middle school principal; Alfred Berg, elementary principal, $17,275, up from $16,300; Robin Campbell, elementary principal, $18,500, up from $17,800; and Bruce Taiclet, athletic director with new duties as assistant high school principal, $17,500. A complaint about the Ginn company reading series for fifth graders was rejected. The parent alleged in April that the series was anti-God, extolled Soviet successes without point-

Pursuing Police Car Hits Auto

SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven city police car sustained an estimated $500 damage last night in a two-vehicle accident on North Shore drive.

Officer William Trent, 32, said he was pursuing a speeding vehicle and was passing another car when it turned left into his path.

The other driver, Charles McKinnon, 78, South Haven, told officers he was turning into a parking lot.

Trent said his emergency lights were operating when the accident occurred at 10:25 p.m. No tickets were issued. Neither the officer nor McKinnon were injured, police said.

It's NEWS TODAY In MICHIGAN

Traffic Control Grant Received

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Police have received a $20,000 federal grant to continue helping local communities reduce their traffic accident problems. The grant, to be followed by an additional $62,000 next year, will enable a few officers to assist small local police departments analyze their traffic crash problems and improve crash prevention activities. The Office of Highway Safety Planning said a study last year showed arrests for traffic violations increased 117 per cent in the 30 communities with the worst traffic violation problems. Drunk driving arrests also increased under the program. Other communities reduced their death rates by 42 per cent in one case and 32 per cent and 26 per cent in other instances.

MSU Power Plant Polluting?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A public hearing will be held Aug. 17 to air the state's complaint over excessive emissions from a Michigan State University power plant. A Department of Natural Resources official said MSU will be asked to sign an agreement which would bind the school to installing new equipment to control emissions from two coal-burning boilers on campus. The complaint was made by the state Air Pollution Control Commission last month. The commission said the plant has been polluting ever since the university switched from natural gas to coal last summer. If the school does not sign the agreement, the DNR said, the air quality division will urge the commission to insist it resume burning gas.

Horse Racing Control Challenged

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A suit that threatens the state Agriculture Department's control over county horse racing has been filed in Ingham County Circuit Court. Two Union Lake horse racing farm owners who were suspended from racing filed the suit asking the court to take away the agency's authority to regulate racing. A Sept. 10 hearing is scheduled before Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James Kallman on the suit filed by Frank and Dominic Marotta, owners of a racing farm in Oakland County. The two contend regulations which the department uses to regulate county fair horse races exceed legal and constitutional bounds.

Grain Regulation Bill Signed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Grain trucking operations will be regulated and grain dealers licensed under a new state law signed by Gov. William Milliken. The new law also increases dealer bonding requirements from $5,000 for the first 10,000 bushels of storage capacity to $15,000. It increases the requirement from $3,000 for each additional 10,000 bushels to $5,000. It also allows licensed grain dealers to issue written agreements by which the dealer takes title to farmer produce for a sale price which is not fixed at the time of delivery. The Michigan Department of Agriculture estimates the new licensing fees will bring in $25,000 to the state's general fund.

Cracking Down On Hookers

DETROIT (AP) — Men who attempt to solicit prostitutes in Detroit could find themselves in jail for 90 days and paying a $100 fine under a Detroit police crackdown aimed at clearing the city's streets of hookers. Civic and government leaders have announced a community-wide campaign to clear out prostitution by putting the heat on their clients, including strong enforcement of laws that make it a misdemeanor for a man to solicit sexual acts from a woman not his wife. The crackdown was inspired in part by the success of a group of homemakers in one neighborhood who picketed a motel where prostitutes allegedly practiced their trade.

Police Chiefs Protest Shift

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Police chiefs in Michigan have objected to the state shifting part of the cost for law enforcement back to local governments. The Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police said the move will increase costs to local taxpayers, fragment the program and make control and improvements more difficult. The association opposes provisions in the 1976-77 state budget to shift to local governments part of the cost of the Law Enforcement Information Network, state and regional crime laboratories and increased training required by the state. The association said the programs "were all developed and implemented as a state service and responsibility to law enforcement and are now being shifted to local units to help pay for the programs."

Bank Bandit Gets A Red Hot Surprise

DETROIT (AP) — Police and FBI were looking Thursday for a thief who ran from a Detroit bank carrying $4,000 cash and wearing a pair of red-hot pants.

The gunman entered the bank and told the teller, "I want all your money, and don't press any buttons." He also ordered her to collect money from another teller.

But the money she handed him was rigged with two red dye bombs, which exploded in the thief's pocket as he left the bank.

The bombs also contained teargas, which has a temporary burning effect.

Police have alerted local hospitals to be on the lookout for a man with burns that might have been caused by the teargas.

Pickets Protest Candy Prices

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A Seven-Eleven Store owner in Clinton Township is suing a grandmother and a group of children who have been picketing the store to protest the cost of candy bars. Mrs. Edith Culhane of Harrison Township and her pickets — sometimes as many as a dozen — have been parading in front of the store all week because, she says, her granddaughter was charged 32 cents for 25 cents worth of candy. Mrs. Culhane also claims that the store owner, Mrs. Harold Stafford, scolded the children when they dawdled over choosing their candy.

State Fuel Tax Revenue Rises

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Fuel tax revenues increased almost six per cent over a year ago for the three months ending June 30, the State Highway Commission has reported. Receipts from state gas, diesel fuel and liquid petroleum gas totaled $101.8 million for the quarter, up $5.4 million or 5.6 per cent from the same three months in 1975. Partially offsetting the tax collections was a drop in license plate fees. The April through June quarter saw $24.4 million in revenue, down $3.7 million or 13.2 per cent from the same quarter in 1975. Fuel tax money and license plate fees go into the state Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, which is divided among the Department of State Highways and Transportation, the county road commissions and incorporated cities and villages.

'OOZING WITH FRAUD' Welfare Probe Is Urged

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Sen. John Wellborn has asked the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to conduct a full federal investigation of Michigan's welfare system, which he claimed is "oozing with fraud."

In a letter to HEW Secretary David Mathews the Kalamazoo Republican said he wants state and federal investigators to "turn the system inside out." Wellborn said charges of welfare fraud made Thursday against two legislative employees, and reports that 23 other state employees are under investigation for fraud, led him to make the request. Wellborn, who is heading Ronald Reagan's presidential campaign in Michigan, blamed the welfare fraud on legislative Democrats.

"While hundreds of top priority needs for state and federal money go begging, and thousands of genuine welfare claimants go without, the majority party in the Michigan legislature continues to pour millions of state tax dollars (and, consequently, federal matching funds) down a rat hole to cheaters and frauds," he told Mathews. "It's clear that this legislature's utter refusal to get tough on welfare fraud has helped create a monster that our Social Services Department can't deal with alone," he said.

He said legislation ready in early 1975 to "crack down on the crooks, cheaters and frauds" has been frustrated by Democrats. "They've talked a lot and studied endlessly. But they've done absolutely nothing," he said. Wellborn said he thinks the department hierarchy is doing a fine job. But he said their efforts to find fraud "are hampered because some segments of the bureaucracy are indifferent, and other state employees are apparently a direct part of the problem."

Edna Simmons, 25, a receptionist for Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, and House committee clerk Martha McIntosh, 28, were arraigned Thursday on charges of receiving Aid to Dependent Children payments while working fulltime. "The idea that people working for lawmakers are defrauding the welfare system is the most shocking development of all," Wellborn said.

Mrs. Simmons was charged with receiving $1,044 in ADC payments over a four-month period and Mrs. McIntosh was charged with receiving more than $19,000 over four years. Both charges are felonies.

Two State Legislative Employees Arraigned On ADC Fraud Counts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two legislative employees have been arraigned on charges of welfare fraud in Lansing District Court.

Edna Simmons, 25, was released Thursday on her own recognizance pending a preliminary examination Aug. 31. Martha McIntosh, 28, was released on $1,500 bond, but no examination date was set.

Mrs. Simmons, a typist, receptionist for Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, was charged with illegally receiving $1,044 in Aid to Dependent Children benefits over a four month period, while working fulltime with an annual salary of about $8,500.

She was arrested Thursday morning on the charge. She is divorced and has a young daughter.

Mrs. McIntosh, a clerk for several Michigan House committees, was charged with receiving $19,118.55 in ADC payments over a four year period while working fulltime at an annual salary of about $12,000.

She has worked for the state House for about 20 years and supports five children, ranging in age from 2 to 17. Her husband, Franklin, is serving time in Southern Michigan Prison on a breaking and entering charge, according to Mrs. McIntosh's attorney.

Mrs. McIntosh turned herself in Thursday afternoon to the Lansing police, said Nelson Westrin, assistant Ingham County prosecuting attorney.

No pleas were entered Thursday. A decision will be made at the preliminary hearings on whether to bind the women over to Ingham County Circuit Court for trial on the felony charges.

Fitzgerald called the incident a "shock and disappointment to us." He said Mrs. Simmons will be suspended. He termed her "a pleasant and good employee."

House Speaker Bobby Crim's office said Mrs. McIntosh also would be suspended.

The two were charged as the result of an investigation by Chester Sylvester, inspector general for the state Department of Social Services.

Sylvester said the two were in a random sampling of 530 state employees whose names were checked against welfare records.

Lois O'Neill, director of the department's office of standards and investigations and Sylvester's superior, said that not counting the two women, all but 102 state employees whose names were found on the welfare rolls have been cleared of any suspicion.

None of the 102 has yet been charged, she said. But 35 of those cases, located outside of Wayne County, are being reviewed by local officials.

In Detroit, she said, 34 of the cases are being reviewed by federal officials and 33 by local law enforcement officials.

Sylvester said a similar investigation in the Department of Social Services resulted in the dismissals of 12 employees while two others were forced to reimburse the state. Criminal warrants were issued for 10 others and another five were probed by a grand jury.

Progress In Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. are making progress in resolving a dispute over health and safety at the auto maker's Trenton engine plant, a union official said Thursday.

The progress report came from UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser, who dismissed statements by another UAW official that Local 372 might stage a wildcat strike at the plant.

Nibbling Starts On Ford's Veep List

By WALTER E. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Ford's convention managers contend it would be poor politics for him to tip his vice presidential hand in advance, despite signals of Republican unrest about some of the names in his catalog of prospects.

A Southern GOP leader said a White House official told him not to worry, that the eventual choice will have mainstream running mates. Republican credentials and won't alienate conservatives. "But they always say that," said Clarke Reed, the Mississippi chairman, who protested the consideration of liberal Republicans as possible Ford

There were complaints from the North, too, on a different score. John Linnell, the Maine chairman, said eight Ford delegates there were considering withholding their support from Ford unless they are assured he won't choose John B. Connally for the vice presidency.

The manager of Ronald Reagan's campaign argues that there is growing pressure on Ford to disclose in advance who will be his running mate if he wins the Republican presidential nomination.

John P. Sears said it is increasingly likely Ford will have to do so.

Dean Burch, a top convention strategist for Ford, said he won't. "I simply don't think the delegates to this convention are in the business of wanting the President to play poor politics," Burch said. "He's trying to choose somebody who will help him win the election and I believe most of the delegates to this convention will appreciate that."

So, as weary platform draftsmen worked in marathon sessions to complete the campaign document today, the rival presidential camps maneuvered for advantage in the tightly contested Republican National Convention.

Ford supporters won Thursday night on one clear-cut issue between the candidates. The Platform Committee voted 57 to 47 to endorse ratification of a constitutional amendment to assure equal rights for women. Ford favors the amendment. Reagan said he favors equality but not the amendment.

But that was only a warmup for the real contest, for the nomination, that will be awarded next Wednesday night.

The Associated Press delegate count showed Ford 1,106; Reagan at 1,032, with 1,130 needed to name a nominee. There are 121 uncommitted Republican delegates. The count includes delegates who are publicly committed or legally bound to a candidate.

The Reagan plan is to invite advance tests of strength before the one that counts, in hopes of gaining preliminary victories that might provide psychological headway for the former California governor.

One such maneuver will come on Sears' proposal that the convention require presidential candidates to name their vice presidential nominees by 9 a.m. on the day of the nomination vote.

It will be debated next in the convention rules committee on Saturday. Reagan already has his man, Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania.

But Ford has sent out feelers to at least 16 Republicans, asking for financial and health data. "You've seen the list," said Burch. "It's quite long, and it covers the entire Republican spectrum."

Its length and ideological breadth offered a prospect for virtually every Republican faction, but it also kindled potential problems for the Ford campaign.

Mississippi's Reed said some of the liberal names on the Ford prospect list are disturbing to delegates from that key state. He did not say who else was concerned.

Reed, who had been uncommitted but was considered likely to back Reagan, endorsed Ford after Reagan's choice of the liberal Schweiker for vice president. That was a boost for the President in the 30-vote Mississippi delegation, which is still officially uncommitted.

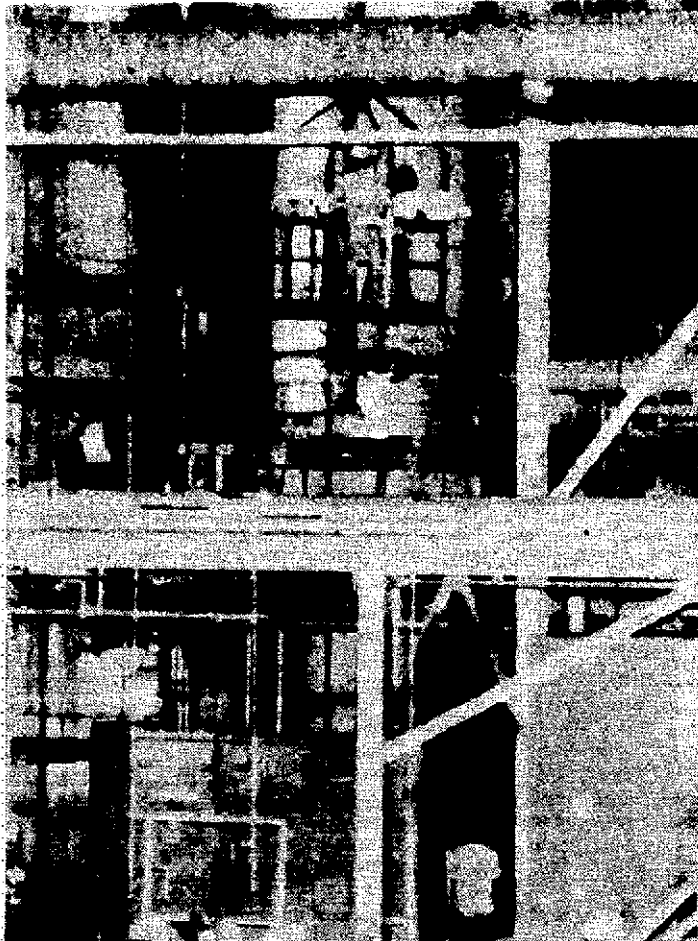

At the other end of the spectrum, there were the complaints from Maine about the possibility that Connally, the former Texas governor and secretary of the treasury, might be the vice presidential choice.

Linnell said eight Maine delegates are seriously considering withholding their presidential votes from Ford unless they get assurances that Connally will not be on the ticket. The President now has the support of 15 of the 20 Maine delegates.

He said Connally would bring the party too many problems. "The last thing the Republican party needs is a man who's been acquitted," Linnell said.

Big Refinery Blast Kills 11; Hurts 10

CHALMETTE, La. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a 30-story tower at the Tenneco Oil Co. refinery, mashing the men and metal inside it. Eleven workers were killed and at least 10 injured.

Authorities said they believed two more men were dead in the wrecked tower after the Thursday night explosion, but their bodies had not been recovered. A crew worked through the night moving metal plates by hand, searching for the bodies.

A spokesman for Tenneco said the cause of the blast was not known. One workman said welding was being done and there might have been a gas leak.

It was the second explosion in the tower within a week, the St. Bernard Parish sheriff's office said, however, a Tenneco spokesman said today there had been no explosion last week and the men were doing routine maintenance work. At least two dozen men were working in and around the tower Thursday night, the sheriff's office said.

"There's no way of telling what happened to the guys the guys inside," said Larry Cupit, who was working in the area of the explosion. "It looked like it blew at the top and everything just came down inside it."

The shock of the explosion was felt as far as two miles away. There was no fire. "Some of the victims were just blown apart," said Dr. Hewitt Thian, chief of surgery at Chalmette General Hospital. "It was impossible to identify some of them."

The victims were employed by Tenneco and Delta Field Erection Co., a subcontractor at the plant.

The silo-like tower, or "vessel," is used in the refining process to separate petroleum into heavy lubricating oil and lighter fuels.

The refinery is about 10 miles down the Mississippi River from the center of New Orleans.

The tower in which the men died is one of a field of similar structures jammed together and linked by catwalks and pipes in a complex that stretches a half mile along the river.

The tower was partitioned by 200 metal plates 18 inches apart like the floors of a hotel. Men were working from the top to the bottom of the tower repairing and replacing the plates when the blast occurred.

Paul Montelepre, administrator of the Chalmette hospital, said the names of the dead would not be released until positive identification could be made of all of them. He described that task "almost impossible."

"Their clothes were blown off. Many of them are barely recognizable as human," he said.

Dr. Thian said three of those brought to Chalmette General were in critical condition with burns of the lungs.

"Apparently something in the tower ignited," he said. "An explosion doesn't have to last long to cause burns of the lungs. The job now is to get them through the first 24 hours. They'll have a chance if they can hang on that long."

Five hours after the explosion, 30 persons crowded the hospital lobby, still waiting to learn what had happened to their loved ones.

In a smaller, private waiting room at the other end of the hospital, four men in hard hats and work boots knelt, heads together in prayer.

At least 20 persons waited in a corridor to donate blood for the victims.

It was two hours after the explosion before any of those in the waiting room learned the names of any of the victims.

A nurse read a list. "I'm his mother," said a woman, stepping forward with a man at her side.

"I'm his minister," the man said.

"You'd better come, too, then," the nurse responded. Another woman pushed her way to the front, spoke to the nurse, then turned to a group of relatives: "They're both dead."

They're both dead."

TWO OF THREE ALREADY IN FOR LIFE

Convictions Cost California $2 Million

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — The State of California spent 16 months and more than $2 million to convict three men who were already imprisoned, two with life sentences.

Three of the San Quentin Six were found guilty Thursday in connection with an Aug. 21, 1971, escape attempt at the prison that left six persons dead.

Johnny L. Spain, who is serving a life sentence for murder, was convicted of killing two prison guards and conspiring with black revolutionary George Jackson to escape. Jackson was shot dead by a guard during the incident.

David Johnson, and Hugo Pinell, who acted as his own attorney, were found guilty of assaulting prison guards during the 20-minute melee, San Quentin's bloodiest escape attempt. Pinell is serving a life sentence for rape. Johnson is serving five years to life for burglary.

Three other men, Louis Talamantez, Fleeta Drumgo and Willie Tate, were acquitted of all charges.

Sentencing for those convicted was set for Sept. 30. Maximum punishment for each would be life in prison.

The Marin County auditor is still compiling the bill for what was the longest criminal trial in California history. It has reached $2.1 million and will probably increase by $150,000.

More than $200,000 was spent on reporting and transcribing 22,000 pages of testimony. Jury fees — including 24 days of hotel bills during the sequestered jury's deliberations — came to nearly $100,000. Eighty-three witnesses were called.

All six defendants were accused of killing three guards and two inmates and conspiring to escape. Spain was convicted of the shooting deaths of guards Frank DeLeon, 44, and Jere P. Graham, 39.

None of the defendants was convicted of the slayings of guard Paul E. Krasenes, 52, and inmates John Lynn, 29, and Ronald L. Kane, 28.

Pinell was found guilty of cutting the throats of guards Charles Breckenridge and Urbano Rubiac Jr., both of whom survived and testified against him. Johnson was convicted of assaulting Breckenridge.

One defendant has yet to be tried. Radical Oakland attorney Stephen Bingham was also charged with murder and conspiracy, but disappeared the day of the escape attempt. Bingham, believed to be hiding in Canada, allegedly smuggled a pistol to Jackson the day of what prosecutors said was an escape attempt.

According to the prosecution's case, Jackson pulled the smuggled gun on a guard in the maximum security block and ordered him to open all the cells, freeing about 30 inmates.

The defense contended that the deaths resulted from a conspiracy by prison guards to set Jackson up for killing. Jackson was a militant advocate of prison reform.

One defendant, Pinell, said the blindfold was engineered by prison guards, and that Jackson grabbed the gun after a guard pulled it on him.

All the defendants claimed they were chosen at random for prosecution and denounced the trial as a political exercise to satisfy demands that someone be convicted for the killings. They argued that there was too much confusion for anybody to be certain of what happened.

The core of the prosecution was the testimony of the former guards who survived despite cut throats.

Their dramatic, often gory accounts drew strenuous protests from the defense team. The defense called medical experts who testified that persons with cut throats suffer trauma, dilating their credibility as reliable witnesses.

Prosecutor Jerry Herman conceded at the outset that he was unable to pin specific murders on specific defendants, but he argued that all the defendants were involved in a conspiracy to help Jackson escape.

When the 36 separate verdicts were read by Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick, many in the courtroom wept.

Tate, who had completed a 10-year term for assault, was free on bail during the trial. Following his acquittal he hugged many of the 100 or so persons outside the courtroom.

Talamantez, convicted of robbery in 1965, is expected to seek parole next month; Drumgo, who was convicted of burglary in 1967, will probably seek parole later this year.

National Guard Shelling May Have Set Brushfire

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — National Guard artillery practice may have started a brushfire that razed 355 acres of prime nesting ground for the rare Kirtland's warbler.

A National Guard spokesman said Thursday it was "quite possible" that the fire was started by the guard's shelling.

The Department of Natural Resources said Wednesday's brushfire was on land containing very young jack pine — the prime ingredient in the tiny birds' habitat.

"It means we're set back 15 years until it's ready for nesting again," said Ralph Blouch, senior wildlife executive in the

DNR.

The National Guard spokesman said the Guard has been holding artillery practice all week in the area where the fire started, downwind from the warblers' nesting site.

DNR officials estimated that six pairs of the warblers may have been nesting in the fire zone. John Byelich, head of the recovery team sent to examine the fire area, said he had been unable to examine the area to determine the true number of nests because the National Guard shelling continued through Thursday afternoon.

There are only about 300 Kirtland's warblers in existence, officials said.

"When the number of warblers is at this level, every bird is important," Byelich said.

The fire broke out near an area where the DNR planned a "controlled fire" August 15 to allow a new growth of jackpine — the preferred habitat for the tiny bird.

Heat from the fire is needed to open jackpine cones so they can release their seeds into the newly exposed soil, which is ideal for germination, experts said.

Byelich said effective forest fire control has contributed to the decline of warbler nesting areas by allowing trees to mature. The bird typically lives and breeds in Christmas tree-size stands of jackpine.

The DNR's goal is to stabilize the bird's population at about about 1,000 nesting pairs, requiring about 36,000 acres of public land for a habitat.

Last summer, the DNR convinced the National Guard to curtail maneuvers normally held near Grayling for fear the rumbling of tanks through warbler territory would disrupt the birds' egg-laying.

The core of the prosecution was the testimony of the former guards who survived despite cut throats.

Their dramatic, often gory

accounts drew strenuous protests from the defense team. The defense called medical experts who testified that persons with cut throats suffer trauma, diluting their credibility as reliable witnesses.

Prosecutor Jerry Herman conceded at the outset that he was unable to pin specific murders on specific defendants, but he argued that all the defendants were involved in a conspiracy to help Jackson escape.

When the 46 separate verdicts were read by Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick, many in the courtroom wept.

Tate, who had completed a 10-year term for assault, was free on bail during the trial. Following his acquittal he hugged many of the 100 or so persons outside the courtroom.

Talamantez, convicted of robbery in 1965, is expected to seek parole next month; Drumgo, who was convicted of burglary in 1967, will probably seek parole later this year.

National Guard Shelling May Have Set Brushfire

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — National Guard artillery practice may have started a brushfire that razed 355 acres of prime nesting ground for the rare Kirtland's warbler.

A National Guard spokesman said Thursday it was "quite possible" that the fire was started by the guard's shelling.

The Department of Natural Resources said Wednesday's brushfire was on land containing very young jack pine — the prime ingredient in the tiny birds' habitat.

"It means we're set back 15 years until it's ready for nesting again," said Ralph Blouch, senior wildlife executive in the

DNR.

The National Guard spokesman said the Guard has been holding artillery practice all week in the area where the fire started, downwind from the warblers' nesting site.

DNR officials estimated that six pairs of the warblers may have been nesting in the fire zone. John Byelich, head of the recovery team sent to examine the fire area, said he had been unable to examine the area to determine the true number of nests because the National Guard shelling continued through Thursday afternoon.

There are only about 200 Kirtland's warblers in existence, officials said.

"When the number of warblers is at this level, every bird is important," Byelich said.

The fire broke out near an area where the DNR planned a "controlled fire" August 15 to allow a new growth of jackpine — the preferred habitat for the tiny bird.

Heat from the fire is needed to open jackpine cones so they can release their seeds into the newly exposed soil, which is ideal for germination, experts said.

Byelich said effective forest fire control has contributed to the decline of warbler nesting areas by allowing trees to mature. The bird typically lives and breeds in Christmas tree-size stands of jackpine.

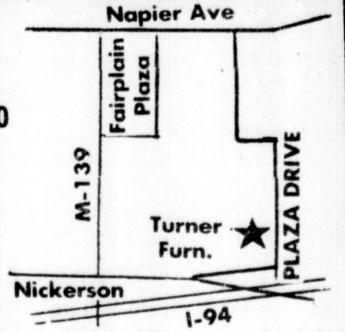

The DNR's goal is to stabilize the bird's population at about about 1,000 nesting pairs, requiring about 36,000 acres of public land for a habitat.

Last summer, the DNR convinced the National Guard to curtail maneuvers normally held near Grayling for fear the rumbling of tanks through warbler territory would disrupt the birds' egg-laying.

New Buffalo Township Sewer Fees Set

NEW BUFFALO — If New Buffalo township residents had any questions about what they will be paying for sanitary sewer construction and use fees, they were answered last night. Township Clerk Edward Ohlme said the average hookup fee will be $1,500 to each of the some 300 township homes which will be forced to connect to the system, and that monthly use fees will be $21 per home.

In addition, said Ohlme, summer residents will be paying the monthly bill year-round, just like permanent residents in the community. He outlined the projected fees after some 35 township residents showed up at the meeting and raised questions about the cost.

Sewer construction in New Buffalo township is part of the $20 million Gullen River sanitary sewer project that will serve New Buffalo city and Chikaming township residents as well. The project is being financed by about $12 million in federal and $750,000 in state grants. Construction has already started.

Ohlme said the $21 monthly fee includes $12 for 20 years for retirement of the $1,500,000 in bonds the township had to sell to finance construction, and another $9 for sewer use and maintenance. In a related area, the township board gave its required approval to a $8,135,138 contract to Woodruff and Sons, Michigan City, Ind., for construction of a collection system in Chikaming township. The bidding and contract awarding had been held up because of a dispute over previous bid rejections.

New Buffalo township, because it is part of the project, had to approve the contract previously approved by the sanitary sewer district board and the Berrien County Board of Public Works. In other areas, the township board gave its approval to a transfer of a liquor license and dance permit from Aloysius Lang to Albert Hora for Lang's Tap in Union Pier.

The board also:

— Voted to ask the Department of Natural Resources to hold public hearings as a step in setting up boating restrictions on part of the Galien river.

— Voted to pay only for those indigent township residents who used New Buffalo city's ambulance service after getting a $301 ambulance service bill from the city.

— Agreed to investigate complaints that a Sturgeon beach home owner is endangering swimmers by letting rolls of barbed wire be washed from his property by Lake Michigan waves.

POLICE ROUNDUP Benton Harbor Woman Reports Gunpoint Rape

A 24-year-old Benton Harbor woman told city police early Thursday she was raped at her home by a man after he forced her at gunpoint to drive around about two hours. The woman was examined and released from Memorial hospital after the incident she reported about 1:30 a.m., police reported.

The woman said she was accosted as she left her home shortly before 10 p.m. Wednesday by the man who threatened her with what appeared to be a sawed-off shotgun. After being forced to drive the man in her car around the city and Benton township, she said, the man ordered her to return to her home where she was raped.

He then forced her to drive to East Main and Chestnut streets, Benton township, where he got out of the car.

A Benton Harbor man told city police that four men who robbed him early today took $70 in cash, but missed another $130 he said he had with him.

Al Miller, 54, Colfax Inn, 163 Colfax avenue, said the four grabbed him in the 200 block Territorial road and went through his pockets, then fled on foot. He said the incident occurred about 1:15 a.m. He was unhurt, police said.

Five thefts were reported Thursday to Twin Cities area police in which cash and goods valued at more than $1,500 were reported stolen.

Thefts reported to Benton township police were:

— A portable television, stereo system, recorded tapes and a camera, all valued at $445, from the home of Isabelle Podjan, 306 Burton street.

— A $165 CB radio from the car of Willie Worley, 1081 North Euclid avenue, Benton township, parked in the lot of Auto Specialties Manufacturing company, Riverside road.

Benton Harbor police said $200 in cash was reported stolen from the purse of Elizabeth Broderick, route 2, North Shore drive, Benton township, which was under her desk at Berrien Opportunities Industrialization Center, 522 Columbus avenue. She is executive secretary for Berrien OIC, police reported.

St. Joseph police said a $186 CB radio was reported stolen from the van of Robert Von Burton, 1033 Bailey street, Niles, parked in the lot of Memorial hospital, 2611 Morton avenue.

Benton Harbor police arrested a woman early today after a hotel clerk said a woman struck him on the arm with a wood ash tray stand after he had asked her to leave the hotel office.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of felonious assault was Barbara Ann Johnson, 24, of 407 Pavone street, Benton Harbor.

Released after treatment at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, for two cuts on his forearm was Douglas Spitzer, 21, route 2, Box 114, Berrien Springs.

Police said the incident occurred at the Colfax Inn, 163 Colfax avenue, about 1:15 a.m. Police reported the incident occurred after Spitzer said he broke up an argument in the lobby between a woman and a resident of the hotel.

Stuck Car Ignites Mattress

A small fire under a stuck automobile at Tiscornia park in St. Joseph early this morning was caused by friction between the car and a mattress the car had become hung up on, according to St. Joseph firemen.

Firemen extinguished the blaze at about 2:30 a.m. The car, a Ford Pinto, became stuck when it apparently rode over the mattress, according to firefighters, and spinning of the tires, in addition to heat from the muffler, caused enough friction to ignite the mattress.

Damage to the car, owned by Patricia Crow, 1581 Trebor drive, St. Joseph, was limited to a blown tire, firemen said.

Dowagiac Hospital Budget Is Up 17%

DOWAGIAC — The budget of Lee Memorial hospital for the 1976-77 fiscal year calls for the expenditure of $2,577,745 by June 30, 1977, according to Lynn W. Voorhees, the hospital's controller and assistant administrator. This is an increase of 17.3 per cent over the $2,197,400 budgeted for the year which ended on June 30.

Payroll expenses for the new fiscal year are projected at $1,380,666, or 53.6 per cent of the total budget and an increase of 8.4 per cent over the previous year. The hospital currently employs 190 people, some of whom work part time. The full-time equivalency is 142 people.

Hospital admissions for the fiscal year which ended June 30 were 2,991, including 184 newborn. Admissions for the new fiscal year are projected at 3,237, including 190 newborn.

In addition, the budget

projects that the emergency room will serve 10,670 persons this fiscal year. In the year ending June 30, 1976 emergency room patients totaled 9,767.

In July, the first month of the new fiscal year, the emergency room served 1,066 persons. The number served increased in the summer months due to the substantial influx of people in summer homes and resorts in the hospital's service area.

Included in the $2,577,745 operating budget is $1,735,065, or 67.3 per cent for professional services. This includes nursing, operating room, laboratory, pharmacy, inhalation therapy, physical therapy, and other medical services. General and fiscal services, such as dietary, housekeeping, laundry, plant operation and maintenance, and administration account for the other 32.7 per cent or $842,680.

State Can Revoke Licenses

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state can revoke builders' licenses if they were improperly issued in the first place, the state attorney general has ruled. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Wednesday the state is not barred from revoking building and contracting licenses because they were issued without proper authority under a 1965 law.

Kelley was responding to a query from Beverly Clark, director of the Department of Licensing and Regulation. Although many builders involved had held the licenses for several years, Kelley said the department may hold revocation hearings.

Students Can't Interfere

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — College and university students can organize unions but they cannot intervene in negotiations between a school's governing board and its employees, the attorney general has ruled. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said students who are not school employees "have no right to intervene in negotiations between a university governing board and employees of a university." The opinion was requested by State Rep. Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, on behalf of Rick Sherwood, then editor in chief of The Eastern Echo, the student newspaper at Eastern Michigan University. A university spokesman said at that time the opinion was requested, two newly organized employee unions representing clerical-secretarial workers and administrative-professional workers were engaged in a three-week strike. The student Senate asked to be allowed to sit at the negotiating table, the university said, but the body's request was turned down. The university said there are no formal unions organized by students at EMU.

Delegates Hold Mini-Convention

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Frozen out of committee posts, party seats and other assignments at the Republican convention, Michigan's delegation for Ronald Reagan has formed its own mini-convention. State Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, who handled the former California governor's Michigan campaign, has announced the formation of several "watch dog" committees to observe and report the doings of the real committees at the GOP national convention in Kansas City. Without the voting muscle to garner seats on the various convention committees, the Reagan forces are making sure information on what's happening comes from trusted sources. The Michigan panels will monitor the committees on the platform, credentials, permanent organization and rules and order of business to find out how Reagan's interests are faring.

Fire Burns Nesting Area

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — A brush fire this week burned more than 350 acres, including a prime nesting area for the rare Kirtland warbler, state conservation officials said today. The fire area included the state habitat for a half dozen pairs of the endangered species, which nest only in northern Lower Michigan in the summer, flying to the Bahamas each winter. Officials of the Department of Natural Resources wildlife division said there are only 200 pairs of the Kirtland warblers in the state and the nation. A warbler recovery team, headed by John Byelich, said it was trying to assess how much damage was done to the nesting area.

May Spurn Swine Flu Shots

DETROIT (AP) — More than 90 per cent of Detroit area residents surveyed are aware of the possibility of a swine flu epidemic this fall. But nearly a third of them say they probably won't get shots against the potentially deadly disease. A telephone survey of 150 households in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties conducted by the Tri-County Health Department also showed that only 35 per cent consider the prospect of a swine flu outbreak as "very serious."

Task Force Denounces Redlining

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A governor's task force has denounced mortgage redlining and said it could contribute to urban decay. The task force proposed creating "loan pools" that would give mortgages to homeowners in high-risk Michigan neighborhoods. In a report released, the panel also recommended the legislature set standards stipulating when mortgage companies can deny loans and requiring the companies to disclose how many mortgages have been denied and why. There currently are no standards lenders can use to decide whether to grant a mortgage. Denying mortgages because of location or a neighborhood's racial makeup is called redlining.

New Buffalo Township Sewer Fees Set

NEW BUFFALO — If New Buffalo township residents had any questions about what they will be paying for sanitary sewer construction and use fees, they were answered last night. Township Clerk Edward Ohime said the average hookup fee will be $1,800 to each of the some 300 township homes which will be forced to connect to the system, and that monthly use fees will be $21 per home.

In addition, said Ohime, summer residents will be paying the monthly bill year-round, just like permanent residents in the community. He outlined the projected fees after some 35 township residents showed up at the meeting and raised questions about the cost.

Sewer construction in New Buffalo township is part of the $20 million Galien River sanitary sewer project that will serve New Buffalo city and Chikaming township residents as well. The project is being financed by about $12 million in federal and $750,000 in state grants. Construction has already started.

Ohime said the $21 monthly fee includes $12 for 20 years for retirement of the $1,360,000 in bonds the township had to sell to finance construction, and another $9 for sewer use and maintenance. In a related area, the township board gave its required approval to a $8,135,158 contract to Woodruff and Sons, Michigan City, Ind., for construction of a collection system in Chikaming township. - A watch, stereo system and suitcase, all valued at $570, from the residence of Allyn Kellogg, 1897 Union street.
- A $165 CB radio from the car of Willie Worley, 1081 North Euclid avenue. Benton township, parked in the lot of Auto Specialties Manufacturing company, Riverside road.

Benton Harbor police said $200 in cash was reported stolen from the purse of Elizabeth Broderick, route 2, North Shore drive, Benton township, which was under her desk at Berrien Opportunities Industrialization Center, 522 Columbus avenue. She is executive secretary for Berrien OIC, police reported.

St. Joseph police said a $186 CB radio was reported stolen from the van of Robert Von Burton, 1033 Bailey street.

Released after treatment at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, for two cuts on his forearm was Douglas Spitzer, 21, route 2, Box 114, Berrien Springs.

Police said the incident occurred at the Colfax Inn, 163 Colfax avenue, about 1:15 a.m. Police reported the incident occurred after Spitzer said he broke up an argument in the lobby between a woman and a resident of the hotel.

Stuck Car Ignites Mattress

A small fire under a stuck automobile at Tiscornia park in St. Joseph early this morning was caused by friction between the car and a mattress the car had become hung up on, according to St. Joseph firemen.

Firemen extinguished the blaze at about 2:30 a.m.

The car, a Ford Pinto, became stuck when it apparently rode over the mattress, according to firefighters, and spinning of the tires, in addition to heat from the muffler, caused enough friction to ignite the mattress.

Damage to the car, owned by Patricia Crow, 1591 Trebor drive, St. Joseph, was limited to a blown tire, firemen said.

Dowagiac Hospital Budget Is Up 17%

DOWAGIAC — The budget of Lee Memorial hospital for the 1976-77 fiscal year calls for the expenditure of $2,577,745 by June 30, 1977, according to Lynn W. Voorhees, the hospital's controller and assistant administrator. This is an increase of 17.3 per cent over the $2,197,400 budgeted for the year which ended on June 30.

Payroll expenses for the new fiscal year are projected at $1,380,666, or 53.6 per cent of the total budget and an increase of 8.4 per cent over the previous year. The hospital currently employs 190 people, some of whom work part time. The full-time equivalency is 142 people.

Hospital admissions for the fiscal year which ended June 30 were 2,991, including 184 newborn. Admissions for the new fiscal year are projected at 3,237, including 190 newborn.

In addition, the budget

projects that the emergency room will serve 10,670 persons this fiscal year. In the year ending June 30, 1976 emergency room patients totaled 9,767.

In July, the first month of the new fiscal year, the emergency room served 1,096 persons. The number served increased in the summer months due to the substantial influx of people in summer homes and resorts in the hospital's service area.

Included in the $2,577,745 operating budget is $1,735,065, or 67.3 per cent for professional services. This includes nursing, operating room, laboratory, pharmacy, inhalation therapy, physical therapy, and other medical services. General and fiscal services, such as dietary, housekeeping, laundry, plant operation and maintenance, and administration account for the other 32.7 per cent or $842,680.

It's News TODAY

State Can Revoke Licenses

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state can revoke builders' licenses if they were improperly issued in the first place, the state attorney general has ruled. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Wednesday the state is not barred from revoking building and contracting licenses because they were issued without proper authority under a 1965 law.

Kelley was responding to a query from Beverly Clark, director of the Department of Licensing and Regulation. Although many builders involved had held the licenses for several years, Kelley said the department may hold revocation hearings.

Students Can't Interfere

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — College and university students can organize unions but they cannot intervene in negotiations between a school's governing board and its employees, the attorney general has ruled. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said students who are not school employees "have no right to intervene in negotiations between a university governing board and employees of a university." The opinion was requested by State Rep. Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, on behalf of Rick Sherwood, then editor in chief of The Eastern Echo, the student newspaper at Eastern Michigan University. A university spokesman said at that time the opinion was requested, two newly organized employee unions representing clerical-secretarial workers and administrative-professional workers were engaged in a three-week strike. The student Senate asked to be allowed to sit at the negotiating table, the university said, but the body's request was turned down. The university said there are no formal unions organized by students at EMU.

Delegates Hold Mini-Convention

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Frozen out of committee posts, party seats and other assignments at the Republican convention, Michigan's delegation for Ronald Reagan has formed its own mini-convention. State Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, who handled the former California governor's Michigan campaign, has announced the formation of several "watch dog" committees to observe and report the doings of the real committees at the GOP national convention in Kansas City. Without the voting muscle to garner seats on the various convention committees, the Reagan forces are making sure information on what's happening comes from trusted sources. The Michigan panels will monitor the committees on the platform, credentials, permanent organization and rules and order of business to find out how Reagan's interests are faring.

Fire Burns Nesting Area

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — A brush fire this week burned more than 350 acres, including a prime nesting area for the rare Kirtland warbler, state conservation officials said today. The fire area included the prime habitat for a half dozen pairs of the endangered species, which nest only in northern Lower Michigan in the summer, flying to the Bahamas each winter. Officials of the Department of Natural Resources wildlife division said there are only 200 pairs of the Kirtland warblers in the state and the nation. A warbler recovery team, headed by John Byelich, said it was trying to assess how much damage was done to the nesting area.

May Spurn Swine Flu Shots

DETROIT (AP) — More than 90 per cent of Detroit area residents surveyed are aware of the possibility of a swine flu epidemic this fall. But nearly a third of them say they probably won't get shots against the potentially deadly disease. A telephone survey of 150 households in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties conducted for the Tri-County Health Department also showed that only 35 per cent consider the prospect of a swine flu outbreak as "very serious."

Task Force Denounces Redlining

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A governor's task force has denounced mortgage redlining and said it could contribute to urban decay. The task force proposed creating "loan pools" that would give mortgages to homeowners in high-risk Michigan neighborhoods. In a report released, the panel also recommended the legislature set standards stipulating when mortgage companies can deny loans and requiring the companies to disclose how many mortgages have been denied and why. There currently are no standards lenders can use to decide whether to grant a mortgage. Denying mortgages because of location or a neighborhood's racial makeup is called redlining.

Twin City Players Propose New Theater

Twin City Players, a non-profit local theatrical group, last night announced proposed plans for a 3,600 square-foot theater building to be constructed just east of the Lake Michigan College campus. Robert L. Vandenberg, a member of the players' board of directors, appeared before the Benton township planning commission last night to discuss the proposal to build the theater on three acres of land near the northeast corner of Yure and Napier avenue.

The township planning commission took no action on the request pending a determination on whether the request requires a special use permit or rezoning to commercial.

James Benson, planning commission chairman, explained after the meeting that the group could receive a special use permit under township ordinances if the building was offered for community use. He said residents in the area would probably object to commercial rezoning for the building because the land could later be opened for retail use.

"I think your chances for commercial rezoning in that area would be shot down by residents' objections," Benson told Vandenberg during the meeting. Vandenberg said after the meeting the group plans to meet with LMC officials to determine whether they desired to use the building for theater classes during the day. "We're a community organization," he said. "We don't want to upset the neighborhood."

Twin City Players produces five to six plays a year, according to Vandenberg, and uses the money collected from tickets to pay royalties and maintenance costs. Vandenberg said the players' present theater on Red Arrow highway, Lincoln township, near the I-94 interchange has been acquired by the state highway department for the building of a full interchange. He said Twin City Players must vacate the building by January. Present owners of the proposed Benton township location are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Herriman.

Vandenberg said plans for the metal building call for a maximum seating capacity of 250 and include parking space. He said he did not know the estimated cost of the project. In other action, the commission sent to the planning committee a request by Johnny Hudson, representing the "Fun After Fifty" organization, which he said wants a special use permit to establish headquarters for the senior citizens group at 1309 East Main street.

Hudson said the group purchased a portable classroom from Benton Harbor area schools and hopes to move the building on the site. The commission also sent to committee a request for a lot split by Merida Cheatham at 1598 Plymouth avenue.

WATERVLIET HARDWARE SOLD: Watervliet Hardware, 336 North Main street, Watervliet, has been purchased by Skyler "Sky" Kellogg, owner of Kellogg Hardware, Hartford. ## SJ Woman Awarded $160,000!

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A St. Joseph woman was awarded a $160,111 default judgment this week in Berrien Circuit court after Judge William S. White ruled an auto accident prevented the woman from entering a career as a nurse.

Boat Safety Class Slated In Paw Paw

PAW PAW — A marine safety class will be conducted from 7-9 p.m. Aug. 18-20 at the Van Buren sheriff's department here. The class is required for any youngster between 12 and 16 who plans to operate a boat with a motor six horsepower or larger, according to Lt. Robert (Bud) Small, of the marine division. Adults are also encouraged to attend.

The suit was awarded to Carol L. Reinhardt, 23, and went against Grzegorz Adamiecki, of Chicago, defendant in the case. White entered the judgment when neither the defendant nor an attorney appeared for a hearing.

Miss Reinhardt was injured May 27, 1973, on Niles avenue at I-94 in St. Joseph township when a car driven by Adamiecki crossed the center line of the road and struck the car Miss Reinhardt was driving. White ruled. He awarded her various medical expenses and noted Miss Reinhardt at the time of the accident had just finished her second year as a nursing student at the University of Michigan.

White ruled that because of the accident Miss Reinhardt "has been prevented from continuing her studies and entering into her chosen career, resulting in anticipated loss of income in the amount of $100,000."

St. Joseph Atty. Bruce Cuybeare represented Miss Reinhardt.

White also entered a consent judgment of $7,500 on behalf of Linda Maitland, of New Buffalo, who was injured July 27, 1973, when a car struck the motorcycle on which she was a passenger in New Buffalo township.

The judgment went against the defendant in the suit, Charles Williams, of Chicago, driver of the car. White also ruled Miss Maitland is eligible for lifetime medical coverage under no-fault insurance for injuries incurred in the accident.

St. Joseph Atty. George Keller represented Miss Maitland and Atty. R.M. James of Kalamazoo was counsel for Williams. The original suit sought $40,000 damages for Miss Maitland.

APPOINTED: William Westcott, 35, has been appointed supervisor of Pine Grove township, near Gobles in Van Buren county, replacing Marshal Howrigan who resigned. Westcott, a farmer, will remain supervisor until general election in November when new supervisor will be elected. He and his wife, Juanita, have two children.

Link Center Gets Operating Grant

Link Crisis Intervention Center, Inc., St. Joseph, has received a $60,000 federal grant to continue its counseling and shelter program for runaway youths.

Congressman Edward Hutchinson (R-St. Joseph) announced the grant was given to the center by the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The grant is for a one-year period from Sept. 30 to Sept. 30, 1977, according to Mrs. Marsha Benson, a secretary and bookkeeper at the Link.

The Link is the only runaway shelter in southwestern Michigan. It offers food, shelter and counseling to young people who have left their homes on a voluntary basis because of disagreements with other family members and their parents.

Mrs. Benson said Link takes in youngsters between 13 and 17 years old. The shelter has a housing capacity of 12 youths, she added. A staff of 12 persons, including Richard Freer, program director, administers the services.

The center is located at 2002 South State street, St. Joseph. It opened its doors in August, 1972, and has been funded continuously by HEW and the Michigan Department of Social Services, Mrs. Benson said.

Coloma Opens School Sept. 7

COLOMA — Coloma schools will open for students, Tuesday, Sept. 7, according to school officials. Teacher orientations are slated Aug. 30-31 and Sept. 1.

Expenses Reported By Judge Burkholz

Expenditure of $6,941.37 for the primary campaign of Probate Judge Zoe Burkholz for circuit judge was reported today by Rodger V. Bittner, chairman and treasurer of her campaign committee.

Bittner also reported contributions to the campaign of $8,304.56 from a total of 168 individuals.

Bittner said the campaign expense report would be filed today with County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke.

Judge Burkholz was the top vote getter in the nonpartisan race for the new fourth-circuit judgeship in Berrien county, with 9,259 votes. A field of three candidates in the August 3 primary was cut to two for the November election.

BH Pre-School Signup

Enrollment for federally-funded pre-school programs in seven Benton Harbor schools will begin Monday, Aug. 16, from 8:30 - 11:30 p.m. To be eligible, students must be three years old before Dec. 1 and live in one of the following school attendance areas: Sterne Brunson, Calvin Britain, Bard, Boynton, Morton, Columbus, and Seely McCord. Parents may register students at the school offices. Enrollment is limited to a first-come, first-serve basis, with approximately 150 students expected for the 1976-77 school year program, which begins Tuesday, Sept. 7. For more registration information, parents can call the pre-school office at 926-8273 Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Van Buren Democrats To Meet

DECATUR — Van Buren county Democrats will meet in county convention at the township hall here Saturday night, Aug. 14, at 7:30 to elect 14 delegates to attend the state party convention in Detroit, Aug. 28-29, according to a county party spokesman.

NEW LAW PARTNERS: Atty. Michael Marrs, at right, has joined Attys. B. R. Desenberg, at left, and his son, Louis A. Desenberg, in middle, as partner in Buchanan law firm. New name of firm will be Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs. Marrs recently resigned as assistant Berrien county prosecutor to join firm. B. R. Desenberg said he founded firm in 1936 and his son began practice of law six years ago. (Staff photo)

SMC Enrollment Keeps Rising

DOWAGIAC — A compilation of enrollment changes over the past academic year at Southwestern Michigan college here shows an overall increase of 22.6 per cent during the 1975-76 year. According to figures released by David Schultz, SMC vice president for student services, 4,031 students attended SMC during the summer, fall, interim and spring terms, compared to 3,288 during the 1974-75 year. The count does not include short-course students of which there were several hundred. A breakdown of enrollment figures by each term with the previous year's figures in parenthesis are as follows: Summer term, 582 (422) up 37.9 per cent; fall term, 1,325 (1,153), up 32.4 per cent; interim term, 467 (390), up 19.7 per cent; and spring term, 1,461 (1,221) up 19.2 per cent.

Park Board Fights Discharge Permit

The Berrien county parks and recreation commission (PRC) has voiced objections to a nursing home's plans to discharge treated sewage into Love Creek about one-fourth mile upstream from the county's Love Creek nature preserve.

Charles Barnes, director-naturalist for the PRC, said the commission voted unanimously Wednesday to forward its objections to the Michigan Water Resources commission which is considering issuing a permit to the nursing home.

Patrick G. Collins, of Berrien Center, has applied for the permit to discharge treated sewage from the nursing home on Dean's Hill road in Berrien township.

"We do not want to see in an area noted for its educational purposes and high quality trout stream ruined," Barnes said.

The state Water Resources commission is currently accepting comments on the proposed permit and Barnes said people interested in making a comment should write to the commission in Lansing.

The commission also set Sept. 19 for the grand opening of the new Love Creek nature preserve. The center, located off Huckleberry road near Berrien General hospital, opened last spring to the public and has about 100 acres of land along Love Creek.

Arlington School Will Open Aug. 31

BANGOR — Classes begin here Aug. 31 for students who will be attending the Arlington school for the trainable mentally retarded, according to Hugh McBratnie, supervisor for special education services for the Van Buren intermediate school district. He said 60 are expected to attend the school which will hold classes until early June. About 55 students attended last year.

McBratnie said further information about enrollment and class times can be obtained through him at his intermediate school district office in Lawrence.

Mental Facility Path Cleared

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A township near here has cleared the way for the use of a retirement center to house mentally ill persons. The Windsor Township Board of Trustees has voted to use half of Jarvis Acres Retirement Center for the mentally ill.

The center will be leased to the state for five years and is expected to be used to house patients now in a facility at Ionia. The Ionia facility is to be converted into a corrections unit.

NEW OWNER: Bill Stewart's drive-in restaurant, miniature golf course and golf driving range, Red Arrow highway, Watervliet township, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gaul, Oak Lawn, Ill. New owners plan to change name of popular spot to "Green Acres". Announcement of sale was made by new owners. Stewart had operated business since 1952.

Watervliet Names Registration Dates

WATERVLIET — Registration for returning Watervliet high school students will be held Aug. 26 and 27 at the high school cafeteria, school officials have announced.

Seniors are to report for class registration between 8:30 a.m. and noon and juniors report between 1 and 3:30 p.m. on the 26th. Sophomores are to report between 8:30 a.m. and noon on the 27th.

Freshmen need not register as their classes are being scheduled by guidance counselors. All new students should report to the guidance office for registration on Sept. 1 or 2 between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

James Benson, planning commission chairman, explained after the meeting that the group could receive a special use permit under township ordinances if the building was offered for community use. He said residents in the area would probably object to commercial rezoning for the building because the land could later be opened for retail use.

"I think your chances for commercial rezoning in that area would be shot down by residents' objections," Benson told Vandenberg during the meeting. Vandenberg said after the meeting the group plans to meet with LMC officials to determine whether they desired to use the building for theater classes during the day. "We're a community organization," he said. "We don't want to

Twin City Players produces five to six plays a year, according to Vandenberg, and uses the money collected from tickets to pay royalties and maintenance costs. Vandenberg said the players' present theater on Red Arrow highway, Lincoln township, near the I-94 interchange has been acquired by the state highway department for the building of a full interchange. He said Twin City Players must vacate the building by January. Present owners of the proposed Benton township location are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Herriman.

Vandenberg said plans for the metal building call for a maximum seating capacity of 250 and include parking space. He said he did not know the estimated cost of the project. In other action, the commission sent to the planning committee a request by Johnny Hudson, representing the "Fun After Fifty" organization, which he said wants a special use permit to establish headquarters for the senior citizens group at 1300 East Main street.

Hudson said the group purchased a portable classroom from Benton Harbor area schools and hopes to move the building on the site. The commission also sent to committee a request for a lot split by Merida Cheatham at 1898 Plymouth avenue.

WATERVLIET HARDWARE SOLD: Watervliet Hardware, 336 North Main street, Watervliet, has been purchased by Skyler "Sky" Kellogg, owner of Kellogg Hardware, Hartford. Store will be renamed Kellogg Hardware and store in Hartford will also continue its operation as it has for past 20 years. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Link Center Gets Operating Grant

Link Crisis Intervention Center, Inc., St. Joseph, has received a $60,000 federal grant to continue its counseling and shelter program for runaway youths.

Congressman Edward Hutchinson (R-St. Joseph) announced the grant was given to the center by the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The grant is for a one-year period from Sept. 30 to Sept. 30, 1977, according to Mrs. Marsha Benson, a secretary and bookkeeper at the Link.

The Link is the only runaway shelter in southwestern Michigan. It offers food, shelter and counseling to young people who have left their homes on a voluntary basis because of disagreements with other family members and their parents.

Mrs. Benson said Link takes in youngsters between 13 and 17 years old. The shelter has a housing capacity of 12 youths, she added. A staff of 12 persons, including Richard Freer, program director, administers the services.

The center is located at 2002 South State street, St. Joseph. It opened its doors in August, 1972, and has been funded continuously by HEW and the Michigan Department of Social Services, Mrs. Benson said.

SJ Woman Awarded $160,000!

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A St. Joseph woman was awarded a $160,111 default judgment this week in Berrien Circuit court after Judge William S. White ruled an auto accident prevented the woman from entering a career as a nurse.

Boat Safety Class Slated In Paw Paw

PAW PAW — A marine safety class will be conducted from 7-9 p.m. Aug. 18-20 at the Van Buren sheriff's department here. The class is required for any youngster between 12 and 16 who plans to operate a boat with a motor six horsepower or larger, according to Lt. Robert (Bud) Small, of the marine division. Adults are also encouraged to attend.

The sum was awarded to Carol L. Reinhardt, 23, and went against Grezgorz Adamiecki, of Chicago, defendant in the case. White entered the judgment when neither the defendant nor an attorney appeared for a hearing.

Miss Reinhardt was injured May 27, 1973, on Niles avenue at I-94 in St. Joseph township when a car driven by Adamiecki crossed the center line of the road and struck the car Miss Reinhardt was driving. White ruled. He awarded her various medical expenses and noted Miss Reinhardt at the time of the accident had just finished her second year as a nursing student at the University of Michigan.

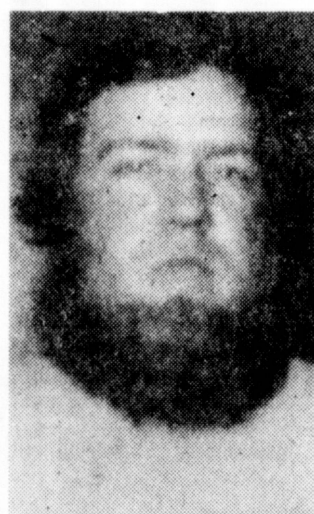

White ruled that because of the accident Miss Reinhardt "has been prevented from continuing her studies and entering into her chosen career, resulting in anticipated loss of income in the amount of $100,000."

St. Joseph Atty. Bruce Conybeare represented Miss Reinhardt.

White also entered a consent judgment of $7,500 on behalf of Linda Maitland, of New Buffalo, who was injured July 27, 1975, when a car struck the motorcycle on which she was a passenger in New Buffalo township.

The judgment went against the defendant in the suit, Charles Williams, of Chicago, driver of the car. White also ruled Miss Maitland is eligible for lifetime medical coverage under no-fault insurance for injuries incurred in the accident.

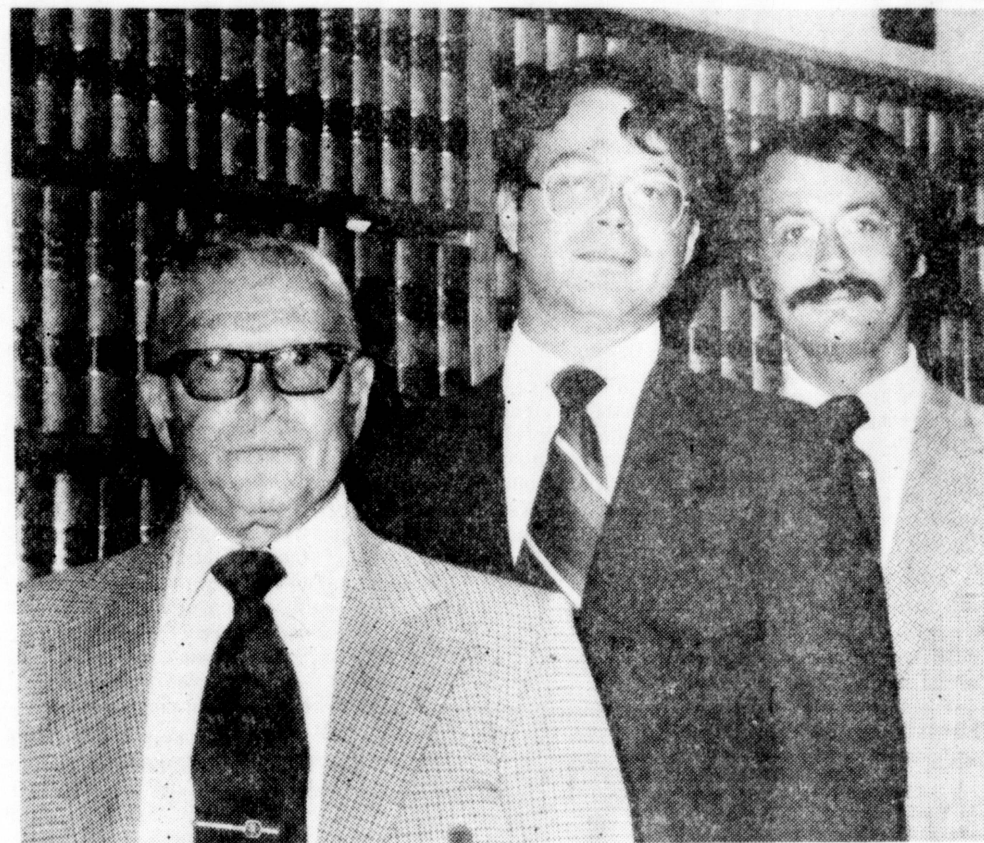

St. Joseph Atty. George Keller represented Miss Maitland and Atty. R.M. James of Kalamazoo was counsel for Williams. The original suit sought $40,000 damages for Miss Maitland.

APPOINTED: William Westcott, 35, has been appointed supervisor of Pine Grove township, near Gobles in Van Buren county, replacing Marshal Howrigan who resigned. Westcott, a farmer, will remain supervisor until general election in November when new supervisor will be elected. He and his wife, Juanita, have two children.

Van Buren Democrats To Meet

DECATUR — Van Buren county Democrats will meet in township convention at the township hall here Saturday night, Aug. 14, at 7:30 to elect 14 delegates to attend the state party convention in Detroit, Aug. 28-29, according to a county party spokesman.

NEW LAW PARTNERS: Atty. Michael Marrs, at right, has joined Attys. B. R. Desenberg, at left, and his son, Louis A. Desenberg, in middle, as partner in Buchanan law firm. New name of firm will be Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs. Marrs recently resigned as assistant Berrien county prosecutor to join firm. B. R. Desenberg said he founded firm in 1936 and his son began practice of law six years ago. (Staff photo)

SMC Enrollment Keeps Rising

DOWAGIAC — A compilation of enrollment changes over the past academic year at Southwestern Michigan college here shows an overall increase of 22.6 per cent during the 1975-76 year. According to figures released by David Schultz, SMC vice president for student services, 4,030 students attended SMC during the summer, fall, interim and spring terms, compared to 3,286 during the 1974-75 year. The count does not include short-course students of which there were several hundred. A breakdown of enrollment figures by each term with the previous year's figures in parenthesis are as follows: Summer term, 582 (422) up 37.9 per cent; fall term, 1,525 (1,153), up 32.4 per cent; interim term, 467 (390), up 19.7 per cent; and spring term, 1,456 (1,321) up 10.2 per cent.

Park Board Fights Discharge Permit

The Berrien county parks and recreation commission (PRC) has voiced objections to a nursing home's plans to discharge treated sewage into Love Creek about one-fourth mile upstream from the county's Love Creek nature preserve.

Charles Barnes, director-naturalist for the PRC, said the commission voted unanimously Wednesday to forward its objections to the Michigan Water Resources commission which is considering issuing a permit to the nursing home.

Patrick G. Collins, of Berrien Center, has applied for the permit to discharge treated sewage from the nursing home on Dean's Hill road in Berrien township.

"We do not want to see in an area noted for its educational purposes and high quality trout stream ruined," Barnes said. The state Water Resources commission is currently accepting comments on the proposed permit and Barnes said people interested in making a comment should write to the commission in Lansing.

The commission also set Sept. 19 for the grand opening of the new Love Creek nature preserve. The center, located off Huckleberry road near Berrien General hospital, opened last spring to the public and has about 100 acres of land along Love Creek.

Arlington School Will Open Aug. 31

BANGOR — Classes begin here Aug. 31 for students who will be attending the Arlington school for the trainable mentally retarded, according to Hugh McBratnie, supervisor for special education services for the Van Buren intermediate school district. He said 60 are expected to attend the school which will hold classes until early June. About 55 students attended last year.

McBratnie said further information about enrollment and class times can be obtained through him at his intermediate school district office in Lawrence.

Mental Facility Path Cleared

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A township near here has cleared the way for the use of a retirement center to house mentally ill persons. The Windsor Township Board of Trustees has voted to use half of Jarvis Acres Retirement Center for the mentally ill.

The center will be leased to the state for five years and is expected to be used to house patients now in a facility at Ionia. The Ionia facility is to be converted into a corrections unit.

Watervliet Names Registration Dates

WATERVLIET — Registration for returning Watervliet high school students will be held Aug. 26 and 27 at the high school cafeteria, school officials have announced.

Seniors are to report for class registration between 8:30 a.m. and noon and juniors report between 1 and 3:30 p.m. on the 26th. Sophomores are to report between 8:30 a.m. and noon on the 27th.

Freshmen need not register as their classes are being scheduled by guidance counselors. All new students should report to the guidance office for registration on Sept. 1 or 2 between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Expenses Reported By Judge Burkholz

Expenditure of $6,941.37 for the primary campaign of Probate Judge Zoe Burkholz for circuit judge was reported today by Rodger V. Bittner, chairman and treasurer of her campaign committee.

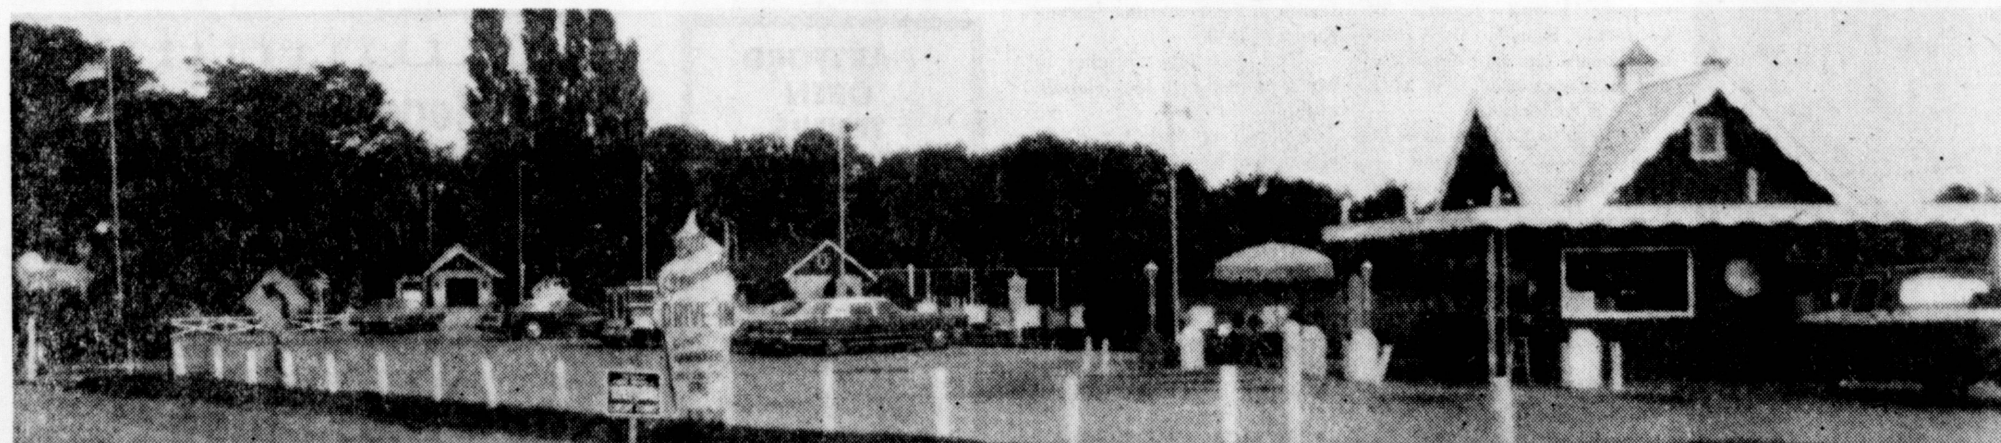

Bittner also reported contributions to the campaign of $8,304.56 from a total of 168 individuals.

Bittner said the campaign expense report would be filed today with County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke.

Judge Burkholz was the top vote getter in the nonpartisan race for the new fourth circuit judgeship in Berrien county, with 9,259 votes. A field of three candidates in the August 3 primary was cut to two for the November election.

BH Pre-School Signup

Enrollment for federally-funded pre-school programs in seven Benton Harbor schools will begin Monday, Aug. 16, from 8:30 - 11:30 p.m. To be eligible, students must be three years old before Dec. 1 and live in one of the following school attendance areas: Sterne Brunson, Calvin Britain, Bard, Boynton, Morton, Columbus, and Seely McCord. Parents may register students at the school offices. Enrollment is limited to a first-come, first-serve basis, with approximately 150 students expected for the 1976-77 school year program, which begins Tuesday, Sept. 7. For more registration information, parents can call the pre-school office at 926-8273 Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

NEW OWNER: Bill Stewart's drive-in restaurant, miniature golf course and golf driving range, Red Arrow highway, Watervliet township, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gaul, Oak Lawn, Ill. New owners plan to change name of popular spot to "Green Acres". Announcement of sale was made by new owners. Stewart had operated business since 1952.

Kuhn Key In Approval Of Series DHs And Bonuses

PHOENIX (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn cast the crucial vote in a decision to permit use of designated hitters for the first time in the 1976 World Series.

Then Kuhn came up with an encore later Thursday with another tiebreaker vote at the summer baseball meetings here to endorse bonus payments for the players. "Subject to discussion with the Players Association."

Kuhn's first shot came when American and National league club owners emerged from their separate caucuses with opposite views on use of designated hitters. The AL, which has used an extra latter for the pitcher since 1973, wanted to use them not only for the series but for all postseason, all-star and exhibition games with NL clubs. NL owners opposed it altogether.

Kuhn couldn't buy the whole AL platform, but he went along with the DH rule for the World Series in alternate years.

"I cast a vote with the American League proposal to use designated hitters in alternate years in the World Series, beginning in 1976," said Kuhn.

Kuhn named a six-man committee consisting of the league presidents and four others from both leagues to "come up with a formula for uniform use of the designated hitter throughout both leagues."

The AL owners had proposed using the designated hitters in World Series games in their own parks.

"Designated hitters will be used in every game of the 1976 World Series," Kuhn declared.

He said the DHs would not be used in the 1977 series, but would return in 1978 and in alternate years thereafter.

Kuhn also supported the AL proposal, over solid NL opposition, for expanded performance bonuses to deserving players.

Kuhn said the performance bonuses, subject to player approval, would be allowed for batters, based on hitting average, runs batted in, homers, slugging percentage, stolen bases, runs scored, total bases and bases on balls.

For pitchers, the bonuses would be tailored to games won, earned run averages, saves and winning percentage.

The 24 club owners also endorsed a resolution to compensate Kuhn and other baseball officials in case a federal court awards a judgment to Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley. Finley filed the suit after Kuhn blocked his $3.5 million sale of players Joe Foweraker, Reggie Fingers and Vida Blue.

New Weiskopf PGA's Leader Temper Tantrums Left Behind

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf said he was stalking off the course in the Westchester Classic last month — his fourth pullout of the year — when his attention was arrested by a small boy walking behind him.

"There was this kid — it wasn't anything he said or did," explained the talented but highly volatile pro from Columbus, Ohio, "but I made a vow to myself right there I would never walk out of another tournament unless I was very ill or badly injured."

"I thought of my two kids — 5 and 3 years old. I realized I was a man in a fishbowl. I am in the public eye. I have to be careful what I say and do."

"I made another resolution — I would never backhand a putt again as long as I live."

It's a new Tom Weiskopf — all the tempests, temper tantrums and blowups behind him, he says — who carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the 55th PGA Golf Championship today over the long and exhausting Congressional Country Club course.

"I don't know whether I will win or not," he said. "But I assure you I am playing this tournament with an entirely different attitude. I have prepared in a different way. I have not practiced much. I have worked on my concentration, armed myself with positive thoughts."

Playing brilliantly but making a couple of what he called "silly shots," the 6-foot-3 former British Open champion fired a five-under-par 68 to edge young Tom Kite of Austin, Tex., and little known optionotrist Dr. Gil Morgan from Wewoka, Okla., tied at 66.

On a muggy day which saw Congressional's par 70 broken 11 times and tied by nine men,

Lee Elder, the first black to play in the Masters, pleased his sometime golfing partner, President Ford, by tying Charles Coody and Jerry McGee at 68.

Five players were at 69, including rookie Jerry Pate, the reigning U.S. and Canadian Open champion; former U.S. Open king Hale Irwin; Mark Hayes, and rank outsiders Bob Zander and Mike Morley.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his 17th major crown, shot a 71 as did the man he succeeded at the pinnacle of the game, 46-year-old Arnold Palmer, who has never won a PGA title.

"Seventy-one is not a bad score for the first round," Nicklaus said philosophically.

"My mind went blank," said Palmer, describing a double bogey six on the 14th hole that robbed him of a sub-par round.

"I find myself having doubts that I never had when I was winning. I am too cautious. I can't hold my momentum."

Palmer hasn't won a major title since the 1964 Masters and his last tour victory was the 1973 Hope Classic.

Robby Knows He's The Man Sends Himself Up, Gets Big Hit

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The situation called for a clutch hitter and Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson knew just the man for the job.

"It was a tough situation but I knew the pressure wasn't going to bother me," Robinson explained. "I was the man for the situation."

Robinson sent himself up as a pinch-hitter with one out, the bases loaded and the score tied in the bottom of the ninth inning against Texas Thursday night. And he made himself look good with a line single to give the Indians a 5-4 victory over the Rangers.

boog Powell ripped a three-run homer in the third inning to help the Indians to an early 3-2 lead, but two walks, a pair of errors and a sacrifice fly by Roy Howell accounted for two runs and put Texas on top 4-3 going into the ninth.

The Indians tied it on a double by John Lowenstein and a single by Larry Blank. Then Rick Manning doubled, Rico Carty was intentionally walked and Robinson came up against Mike Baesik. After failing on a squeeze bunt that just kicked foul — "That's the first time I've tried a squeeze bunt in 21 years," said Robinson — he lined the game-winning hit.

Jeff Terpko, 3-3, the fourth of five Ranger pitchers, took the loss.

Elsewhere in an abbreviated American League schedule, the New York Yankees pounded Minnesota 12-5, Oakland edged Milwaukee 4-3 and Boston edged California 2-1 in 10 innings.

Chris Chambliss drove in three runs and Mickey Rivers and Carlos May had three hits and two RBI apiece as New York upped its lead in the AL East to 10 games. Catfish Hunter, 13-12, posted his first victory since July 21. The Yanks pounded Steve Luebke, 3-3, and four successors for 16 base hits.

Pinch-runner Larry Lintz stole second and scored the tiebreaking run on a single by Gene Tenace in the eighth inning as Oakland pulled within eight games of front-running Kansas City in the AL West. Doubles by Billy Williams and Phil Garner helped the A's score three runs in the fifth. Hollie Fingers, 8-7, won it and Bill Castro, 3-2, lost it, both in relief.

Fred Lynn's broken-bat RBI single in the 10th won it for Boston and Luis Tiant, 12-10, bested Nolan Ryan, 8-15. Rick Burkeson scored the first Boston run when he raced home on the back end of a double steal in the third. Bob Jones' sacrifice fly in the seventh drove in the lone California run.

Dallas' Longley Says Farewell By Slugging Staubach

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I guess it was his way of saying 'goodbye,'" said Dallas starting quarterback Roger Staubach after he was slugged by teammate Clint Longley.

Longley, the Cowboys' No. 2 signal-caller, was suspended after the one-punch fight that resulted in stitches over Staubach's left eye.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Staubach "will be able to play Saturday night" when the Cowboys play host to the Denver Broncos in a National Football League preseason game.

"Danny White, of course, will play the second half instead of Longley," said Landry.

White, who chose to play in the World Football League after the Cowboys made him their No. 3 pick in the 1974 draft, connected on 10 of 21 passes for 101 yards in last week's loss to the Los Angeles Rams. He also appears to have solved part of Dallas' kicking problems, punting four times for a 47.5 average last week.

Before the Longley-Staubach episode, the Cowboys, a perennial contender in the National Conference, have had their problems. Dallas has yet to win in two outings. But they have been playing the cream of the NFL crop.

Denver has posted a 1-2 record, losing last week to San Francisco 17-7 as Broncos rookie Craig Penrose impressed with six completions on 11 passes for 73 yards, including a 22-yard TD strike to Bill Van Housen. Denver starter Steve Ramsey was nine of 15 for 113 yards in the first three periods.

The long NFL weekend begins tonight when the New York Jets play their second game in 48 hours, taking on the Oakland Raiders at Yankee Stadium. The Jets, 0-2, lost 16-14 to the New York Giants Wednesday night on a 34-yard field goal with 16 seconds remaining in the game. The contest had been postponed from Monday because of Hurricane Belle.

In another game tonight, New Orleans, 1-1, travels to Buffalo, 0-2.

Besides the Denver-Dallas collision, Saturday games will pit Pittsburgh at Washington, Los Angeles at Seattle, Baltimore at Chicago, Detroit at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at Miami, the New York Giants at Houston and Tampa Bay vs. Atlanta at Jacksonville, Fla.

Sunday, Kansas City travels to San Francisco and Green Bay plays at New England.

On Monday, the St. Louis Cardinals and San Diego Chargers will play the first NFL game to be staged outside North America. The two teams will meet in Tokyo at 6:30 p.m., Japan time. It will be 5:30 a.m., EDT.

Also Monday, Minnesota will be at Cleveland.

The Raiders will continue to trot in their stable of quarterbacks against the Jets. Starter Ken Stabler will begin, but Oakland will take long looks at Dave Humm, Larry Lawrence, Mike Rae and Jeb Blount. The Jets will start Joe Namath, who went all the way in the loss to the Giants, but Coach Lou Holtz says rookie Richard Todd will play "90 per cent of the game."

New Orleans Coach Hank Stram got his first victory at the helm of the Saints and a slap on the wrist from owner John Mecom for his liberal spending on "non-football related items."

The Saints are looking for their first preseason victory over the Bills, who are still looking for someone to replace O.J. Simpson at running back.

Pittsburgh and Washington will square off in NBC's nationally televised game Saturday night. The defending Super Bowl champion Steelers are 3-0 while Washington is struggling with a 1-1 mark after losing to Baltimore last week.

The Los Angeles Rams, fresh from their 26-14 victory over Dallas, will take on Seattle in the "Seahawks' Kingdom." Rookie quarterback Pat Haden may see duty after Ron Jaworski and James Harris tore apart the Dallas secondary with their pin-point accuracy. The expansion Seahawks have yet to win in two games.

Barring a tie, at least one undefeated team will not be that way when the Baltimore Colts and Chicago Bears finish their game. Both teams have perfect 2-0 records and the Colts have yet to surrender a touchdown.

Cincinnati has won five straight preseason games from Detroit and carries a 2-0 record into their encounter Saturday. Detroit is 1-2, but is delighted with the performance of 10 draft choice James Hunter, who ran a kickoff back 97 yards for a touchdown in last week's loss to Miami. The Bengals are equally delighted with running back Archie Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State. Griffin scored on a 49-yard run against Buffalo last week.

Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil expects to get his first look at veterans Art Malone, a running back, defensive end Will Wynn and wide receiver Harold Carmichael when the Eagles meet Miami. Dolphins Coach Don Shula may give quarterbacks Bob Griese and Earl Morrall, both injured in 1975, their first game action.

HOW SWEET IT IS: Lee Elder raises his arms as he sinks a chip shot on the 18th hole to go 2-under-par during the opening round of the PGA Thursday at Bethesda's (Md.) Congressional Country Club. Elder birdied the hole. (AP Wirephoto)

'Bird' May Win All Top Honors

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie of the Year, Most Valuable Player, even the Cy Young Award — Bird-watchers are beginning to prophesize that the Tigers' rookie pitching whiz, Mark Fidrych, could take them all.

Some even predict that, with a 13-4 record so far and 11 starts left, The Bird could become the first Tiger to win 20 games in his first season since Orel Hershiser set an American League record with 24 victories in 1980.

And winning 20 certainly wouldn't hurt his chances in the race for the coveted Cy Young Award.

The competition is stiff. Players like incumbent Jim Palmer, and Wayne Garland of Baltimore; Bill Travers of Milwaukee; Frank Tanana of California; Kansas City's Dennis Leonard and Al Fitzmorris; and Ed Figueroa of New York all are in contention.

But in spite of his youth — he turns 22 this weekend — Fidrych appears to be in the running. After all, there is perhaps no player in the country who claims the attention or commotion that The Bird has.

The publicity helps, since both the Cy Young and Rookie of the Year are selected by two writers from each of the 12 American League cities.

Add to that his record — a 1.97 ERA, 15 complete games in 18 starts — and suddenly all the grandiose predictions don't sound that far-fetched.

If he keeps it up, Fidrych could become:

- The first Tiger to win the Cy Young Award since Denny McLain captured it in 1968 after winning 31 games and then shared it in 1969 with Baltimore's Mike Cuellar.
- The first Tiger to win Rookie of the Year since Harvey Kuenn in 1953.
- The first Tiger pitcher to win 20 games since Joe Coleman in 1973.

Wouldn't be bad, for a kid nobody had heard of 2½ months ago.

The Saints are looking for their first preseason victory over the Bills, who are still looking for someone to replace O.J. Simpson at running back.

Pittsburgh and Washington will square off in NBC's nationally televised game Saturday night. The defending Super Bowl champion Steelers are 3-0 while Washington is struggling with a 1-1 mark after losing to Baltimore last week.

The Los Angeles Rams, fresh from their 26-14 victory over Dallas, will take on Seattle in the "Seahawks' Kingdom." Rookie quarterback Pat Haden may see duty after Ron Jaworski and James Harris turn up the Dallas secondary with their pin-point accuracy. The expansion Seahawks have yet to win in two games.

Kuhn Key In Approval Of Series DHs And Bonuses

PHOENIX (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn cast the crucial vote in a decision to permit use of designated hitters for the first time in the 1976 World Series.

hitter for the pitcher since 1973, wanted to use them not only for the series but for all postseason, all-star and exhibition games with NL clubs. NL owners opposed it altogether.

Kuhn couldn't buy the whole AL platform, but he went along with the DH rule for the World Series in alternate years.

"I cast a vote with the American League proposal to use designated hitters in alternate years in the World Series, beginning in 1976," said Kuhn.

Kuhn named a six-man committee consisting of the league presidents and four others from both leagues to "come up with a formula for uniform use of the designated hitter throughout both leagues."

The AL owners had proposed using the designated hitters in World Series games in their own parks.

"Designated hitters will be used in every game of the 1976 World Series," Kuhn declared.

He said the DHs would not be used in the 1977 series, but would return in 1978 and in alternate years thereafter.

Kuhn also supported the AL proposal, over solid NL opposition, for expanded performance bonuses to deserving players.

Kuhn said the performance bonuses, subject to player approval, would be allowed for batters, based on hitting average, runs batted in, homers, slugging percentage, stolen bases, runs scored, total bases and bases on balls.

For pitchers, the bonuses would be tailored to games won, earned run averages, saves and winning percentage.

The 24 club owners also endorsed a resolution to compensate Kuhn and other baseball officials in case a federal court awards a judgment to Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley. Finley filed the suit after Kuhn blocked his $3.5 million sale of players Joe Rudi, Rolfe Fingers and Vida Blue.

New Weiskopf PGA's Leader Temper Tantrums Left Behind

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf said he was stalking off the course in the Westchester Classic last month — his fourth pullout of the year — when his attention was arrested by a small boy walking behind him.

"There was this kid — it wasn't anything he said or did," explained the talented but highly volatile pro from Columbus, Ohio, "but I made a vow to myself right there I would never walk out of another tournament unless I was very ill or badly injured."

"I thought of my two kids — 5 and 3 years old. I realized I was a man in a fishbowl. I am in the public eye. I have to be careful what I say and do."

"I made another resolution — I would never backhand a putt again as long as I live."

It's a new Tom Weiskopf — all the tempests, temper tantrums and blowups behind him, he says — who carried a one-stroke lead into the second round of the 58th PGA Golf Championship today over the long and exhausting Congressional Country Club course.

"I don't know whether I will win or not," he said. "But I assure you I am playing this tournament with an entirely different attitude. I have prepared in a different way. I have not practiced much. I have worked on my concentration, armed myself with positive thoughts."

Playing brilliantly but making a couple of what he called "silly shots," the 6-foot-3 former British Open champion fired a five-under-par 65 to edge young Tom Kite of Austin, Tex., and little known optimist Dr. Gil Morgan from Wewoka, Okla., tied at 66.

On a muggy day which saw Congressional's par 70 broken 11 times and tied by nine men,

Lee Elder, the first black to play in the Masters, pleased his sometime golfing partner, President Ford, by tying Charles Coody and Jerry McGee at 68.

Five players were at 69, including rookie Jerry Pate, the reigning U.S. and Canadian Open champion; former U.S. Open king Hale Irwin; Mark Hayes, and rank outsiders Bob Zender and Mike Morley.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, gunning for his 17th major crown, shot a 71 as did the man he succeeded at the pinnacle of the game, 46-year-old Arnold Palmer, who has never won a PGA title.

"Seventy-one is not a bad score for the first round," Nicklaus said philosophically.

"My mind went blank," said Palmer, describing a double bogey six on the 14th hole that robbed him of a sub-par round. "I find myself having doubts that I never had when I was winning. I am too cautious. I can't hold my momentum."

Palmer hasn't won a major title since the 1964 Masters and his last tour victory was the 1973 Hope Classic.

Robby Knows He's The Man Sends Himself Up, Gets Big Hit

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The situation called for a clutch hitter and Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson knew just the man for the job.

"It was a tough situation but I knew the pressure wasn't going to bother me," Robinson explained. "I was the man for the situation."

Robinson sent himself up as a pinch-hitter with one out, the bases loaded and the score tied in the bottom of the ninth inning against Texas Thursday night. And he made himself look good with a line single to give the Indians a 5-4 victory over the Rangers.

boog Powell ripped a three-run homer in the third inning to help the Indians to an early 3-2 lead, but two walks, a pair of errors and a sacrifice fly by Roy Howell accounted for two runs and put Texas on top 4-3 going into the ninth.

The Indians tied it on a double by John Lowenstein and a single by Larvell Blanks. Then Rick Manning doubled, Rico Cart was intentionally walked and Robinson came up against Mike Bacsik. After failing on a squeeze bunt that just kicked foul — "That's the first time I've tried a squeeze bunt in 21 years," said Robinson — he lined the game-winning hit.

Jeff Terpko, 3-3, the fourth of five Ranger pitchers, took the loss.

Elsewhere in an abbreviated American League schedule, the New York Yankees pounded Minnesota 12-5, Oakland shaded Milwaukee 4-3 and Boston edged California 2-1 in 10 innings.

Chris Chambliss drove in three runs and Mickey Rivers and Carlos May had three hits and two RBI apiece as New York upped its lead in the AL East to 10 games. Catfish Hunter, 13-12, posted his first victory since July 21. The Yanks pounded Steve Luebber, 3-3, and four successors for 16 base hits.

Pinch-runner Larry Lintz stole second and scored the tiebreaking run on a single by Gene Tenace in the eighth inning as Oakland pulled within eight games of front-running Kansas City in the AL West. Doubles by Billy Williams and Phil Garner helped the A's score three runs in the fifth. Rolfe Fingers, 8-7, won it and Bill Castro, 3-2, lost it, both in relief.

Fred Lynn's broken-bat RBI single in the 10th won it for Boston and Luis Tiant, Tiant, 12-10, bested Nolan Ryan, 9-15. Rick Burleson scored the first Boston run when he raced home on the back end of a double steal in the third. Bob Jones' sacrifice fly in the seventh drove in the lone California run.

Dallas' Longley Says Farewell By Slugging Staubach

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I guess it was his way of saying 'goodbye,'" said Dallas starting quarterback Roger Staubach after he was slugged by teammate Clint Longley.

Longley, the Cowboys' No. 2 signal-caller, was suspended after the one-punch fight that resulted in stitches over Staubach's left eye.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Staubach "will be able to play Saturday night" when the Cowboys play host to the Denver Broncos in a National Football League preseason game.

"Danny White, of course, will play the second half instead of Longley," said Landry.

White, who chose to play in the World Football League after his No. 3 pick in the 1974 draft, connected on 10 of 21 passes for 101 yards in last week's loss to the Los Angeles Rams. He also appears to have solved part of Dallas' kicking problems, punting four times for a 47.5 average last week.

Before the Longley-Staubach episode, the Cowboys, a perennial contender in the National Conference, have had their problems. Dallas has yet to win in two outings. But they have been playing the cream of the NFL crop.

Denver has posted a 1-2 record, losing last week to San Francisco 17-7 as Broncos rookie Craig Penrose impressed with six completions on 11 passes for 75 yards, including a 22-yard TD strike to Bill Van Heusen. Denver starter Steve Ramsey was nine of 15 for 113 yards in the first three periods.

The long NFL weekend begins tonight when the New York Jets play their second game in 48 hours, taking on the Oakland Raiders at Yankee Stadium. The Jets, 0-2, lost 16-14 to the New York Giants Wednesday night on a 34-yard field goal with 16 seconds remaining in the game. The contest had been postponed from Monday because of Hurricane Belle.

In another game tonight, New Orleans, 1-1, travels to Buffalo, 0-2.

Besides the Denver-Dallas collision, Saturday games will pit Pittsburgh at Washington, Los Angeles at Seattle, Bal timore at Chicago, Detroit at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at Miami, the New York Giants at Houston and Tampa Bay vs. Atlanta at Jacksonville, Fla.

Sunday, Kansas City travels to San Francisco and Green Bay plays at New England.

On Monday, the St. Louis Cardinals and San Diego Chargers will play the first NFL game to be staged outside North America. The two teams will meet in Tokyo at 6:30 p.m., Japan time. It will be 5:30 a.m., EDT.

Also Monday, Minnesota will be at Cleveland.

The Raiders will continue to trot in their stable of quarterbacks against the Jets. Starter Ken Stabler will begin, but Oakland will take long looks at Dave Humm, Larry Lawrence, Mike Rae and Jeb Blount. The Jets will start Joe Namath, who went all the way in the loss to the Giants, but Coach Lou Holtz says rookie Richard Todd will play "90 per cent of the game."

New Orleans Coach Hank Stram got his first victory at the helm of the Saints and a slap on the wrist from owner John Mecom for his liberal spending on "non-football related items."

The Saints are looking for their first preseason victory over the Bills, who are still looking for someone to replace O.J. Simpson at running back. Pittsburgh and Washington will square off in NBC's nationally televised game Saturday night. The defending Super Bowl champion Steelers are 3-0 while Washington is struggling with a 1-1 mark after losing to Baltimore last week.

The Los Angeles Rams, fresh from their 26-14 victory over Dallas, will take on Seattle in the "Seahawks' Kingdom." Rookie quarterback Pat Haden may see duty after Ron Jaworski and James Harris tore apart the Dallas secondary with their pinpoint accuracy. The expansion Seahawks have yet to win in two games.

Alt Named

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Former Wittenberg University star quarterback Rocky Alt has been named offensive line coach at the Ohio Conference school.

Barring a tie, at least one undefeated team will not be that way when the Baltimore Colts and Chicago Bears finish their game. Both teams have perfect 2-0 records and the Colts have yet to surrender a touchdown.

Cincinnati has won five straight preseason games from Detroit and carries a 2-0 record into their encounter Saturday. Detroit is 1-2, but is delighted with the performance of top draft choice James Hunter, who ran a kickoff back 97 yards for a touchdown in last week's loss to Miami. The Bengals are equally delighted with running back Archie Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State. Griffin scored on a 49-yard run against Buffalo last week.

Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil expects to get his first look at veterans Art Malone, a running back, defensive end Will Wynn and wide receiver Harold Carmichael when the Eagles meet Miami. Dolphins Coach Don Shula may give quarterbacks Bob Griese and Earl Morrall, both injured in 1975, their first game action.

HOW SWEET IT IS: Lee Elder raises his arms as he sinks a chip shot on the 18th hole to go 2-under-par during the opening round of the PGA Thursday at Bethesda's (Md.) Congressional Country Club. Elder birdied the hole. (AP Wirephoto)

'Bird' May Win All Top Honors

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie of the Year, Most Valuable Player, even the Cy Young Award — Bird-watchers are beginning prophesize that the Tigers' rookie pitching whiz, Mark Fidrych, could take them all.

Some even predict that, with a 13-4 record so far and 11 starts left, The Bird could become the first Tiger to win 20 games in his first season since Oren Summers set an American League record with 24 victories in 1968.

And winning 20 certainly wouldn't hurt his chances in the race for the coveted Cy Young Award.

The competition is stiff. Players like incumbent Jim Palmer, and Wayne Garland of Baltimore; Bill Travers of Milwaukee; Frank Tanana of California; Kansas City's Dennis Leonard and Al Fitzmorris; and Ed Figueroa of New York all are in contention.

But in spite of his youth — he turns 22 this weekend — Fidrych appears to be in the running. After all, there is perhaps no player in the country who claims the attention or commotion that The Bird has.

The publicity helps, since both the Cy Young and Rookie of the Year are selected by two writers from each of the 12 American League cities.

Add to that his record — a 1.97 ERA, 15 complete games in 18 starts — and suddenly all the grandiose predictions don't sound that far-fetched.

If he keeps it up, Fidrych could become:

—The first Tiger to win the Cy Young Award since Denny McLain captured it in 1968 after winning 31 games and then shared it in 1969 with Baltimore's Mike Cuellar.

—The first Tiger to win Rookie of the Year since Harvey Kuenn in 1953.

—The first Tiger pitcher to win 20 games since Joe Coleman in 1973.

Wouldn't be bad, for a kid nobody had heard of 2½ months ago.

LaCorte Finally Winner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank LaCorte was a frustrated young man. The Atlanta Braves pitcher was 0-6 with a 7.14 ERA.

LaCorte recalled how he'd go home at night and say to his wife, "Honey, I know I can pitch. What's wrong? She'd say she didn't know, and I'd get mad."

Well, nothing was wrong for the 24-year-old LaCorte Thursday night. He limited the Philadelphia Phillies to four hits and two runs in 5 2-3 innings, and two relievers protected the lead for LaCorte's first major league victory, a 4-3 decision.

The Braves built a 4-0 lead in the first three innings off Phillies' loser Jim Lonborg, 12-8. Singles by Jerry Royster and Darrel Chaney and a double play ball accounted for a first-inning run. Cito Gaston had an RBI double and Willie Montanez socked a two-run homer in the third.

The 6-foot-1 LaCorte gave up a run in the fifth on a single by Larry Bowa and pinch-hitter Bob Boone's double.

In the Philadelphia sixth, LaCorte got in a jam and was relieved by Mike Beard. Garry Maddox opened the inning with a single. LaCorte got the next two outs, but he walked Ray Johnstone and Tommy Hutton and that was it. Beard walked pinch-hitter Ollie Brown, fared in the run and making it 4-2.

LaCorte retired to the dressing room where he lived and died with each play as Beard and then Adrian Devine battled to save the rookie's first big league win. The ninth was a lifetime for LaCorte.

It was the kind of an inning designed to drive pitchers mad. Bowa bounced out to start the Phil's ninth, but Jerry Martin, Dave Cash and Maddox singled in succession for one run and there was the tying run at third and the winner on first with one out.

All Devine had to do was retire Mike Schmidt and Greg Luzinski, two of baseball's best sluggers. Schmidt struck out.

"I was saying, 'please, it's so hard to get this first one (win).'" LaCorte related.

With Luzinski at bat, Maddox stole second. A single could win the game for Philadelphia. But Luzinski popped up.

LaCorte went up. He stood at the door and shook each Brave's hand as the team filed into the dressing room.

There were just two other National League games played Thursday. Cincinnati rocked the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and San Diego blanked the New York Mets 3-0.

George Foster slammed two home runs and drove in four runs for the Reds. Johnny Bench and Joe Morgan also hit home runs for Cincinnati. Pete LaCock drove in two Chicago runs with a single and a homer.

Morgan and Foster hit back-to-back shots to open the eighth inning and knot the argument-filled game at 3-3. Bench singled and scored on Dave Concepcion's triple to break the tie.

In the ninth, Foster hit his 26th homer of the season, a three-run shot that gave him 802 runs batted in for the year, tops in the major leagues.

Bench followed with his homer. Cubs starter Rick Reuschel had a 3-1 lead going into the eighth and Reuschel twice thought Morgan had struck out before the Reds' second baseman hit his 21st homer.

Reuschel then rushed plate umpire John Kibler, who threw the pitcher out of the game. Foster greeted reliever Bruce Satter with his 25th homer to tie the game.

Following Bench's single, Tony Perez grounded into what appeared to be a double play. But first-base umpire Terry Tata called Perez safe, touching off another argument.

Rookie Rick Sawyer, 3-0, bested Tom Seaver, 9-8, with an eight-hitter. Seaver, who has not won since July 8, gave up all three runs in the second inning — two on a single by Fred Kendall and the other on a single by Sawyer. After the game it was announced that the Mets have extended Manager Joe Frazier's contract for another year.

Greenwood Upsets Naber In 200-Meter Freestyle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After beating Olympic hero and Southern California teammate John Naber in the 200 meter freestyle, Mark Greenwood felt good. And that's the big reward for any swimmer.

"Swimming, if you don't do good, is a waste of time," the 20-year-old Greenwood said. "It's only good when you do good because so much sacrifice is involved."

Greenwood's sacrifice paid off Thursday night at the AAU National Swimming Championships at Kelly Pool here. He swam the 200 in 1 minute, 52.21 seconds in the outdoor long course championships to make up for a dismal performance in the Olympic trials.

Only one championship record fell. The Central Jersey Aquatics Club, checked in 4:22.89 in the women's 400 medley relay, erased Mississauga's old mark of 4:24.07 set in 1975.

Olympic Kim Peyton, competing in her last national tournament, won the women's 200 freestyle and 14-year-old Jesse Vassallo defeated Brian Goodell to win the men's 400 individual medley.

But Greenwood's defeat of Naber was the biggest surprise of the night as times again were well below the world record paces.

Greenwood, swimming seven-tenths of a second faster than he had ever done before, turned in a 1:52 in the Olympic trials and failed to make the team. "I bombed out at the trials," said Greenwood. "I just wasn't mentally prepared. I was thinking too much about the other swimmers and not enough about myself. Tonight I swam my own race."

Paced by Wendy Boglioli and anchored by Kathy Hedy, the Central Jersey team raced to a comfortable victory. And helping the team was the big motivation for the 21-year-old Boglioli, the winner of 100 butterfly on opening day.

Peyton was clocked in 2:03.01 in the 200 freestyle. Brenda Borgh of Newtown Square, Pa., was second in 2:03.82.

Vassallo, timed in 4:28.34, beat Mississauga teammate Goodell by 2 1/2 seconds.

In other action Thursday, Donnie Weinstrom of California's West Valley Swim Team took the women's 400 individual medley in 4:57.74.

The Santa Clara A team took the men's 400 medley relay. With Dan Stephenson swimming anchor, the team finished in 3:51.34.

Mississauga Viejo has the over-all team lead in the tournament. The California club has 276 points, with Suburban Swim Club of Newtown Square in second with 173.

Today's events include men's and women's races in the 200 butterfly, the 200 breaststroke, the 100 backstroke and the 500 freestyle relay.

SURPRISE VICTORY: Mark Greenwood of Fresno, Calif., is congratulated by John Naber (left) of Ladera Oaks, Calif., after Greenwood defeated Naber in the 200-meter freestyle event with a time of 1:52.21 during the AAU National Swimming Championships Thursday night in Philadelphia. A DAY FOR ARGUING: Chicago Cubs pitcher Rick Reuschel (48) is restrained by both Cubs manager Jim Marshall (left) and Cubs catcher Steve Swisher (9), (right) as he argued with plate umpire John Kibler during the eighth inning of Thursday's game with Cincinnati in Chicago. Kibler ejected Reuschel from the game for challenging two calls with Reds' Joe Morgan at bat. Later in the same inning, Marshall argues with umpire Frank Pulli as Cubs coaches Jim Saul (2) and Marv Grissom (46) leave the field after being ejected for arguing with Pulli after Reds' Tony Perez had been called safe at first. ## Red Sluggers Club Cubs LaCorte Finally Winner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank LaCorte was a frustrated young man. The Atlanta Braves pitcher was 0-6 with a 7.14 ERA.

LaCorte recalled how he'd go home at night and say to his wife, "Honey, I know I can pitch. What's wrong? She'd say she didn't know, and I'd get mad."

Well, nothing was wrong for the 24-year-old LaCorte Thursday night. He limited the Philadelphia Phillies to four hits and two runs in 5 2-3 innings, and two relievers protected the lead for LaCorte's first major league victory, a 4-3 decision.

The Braves built a 4-0 lead in the first three innings off Phillies' loser Jim Lonborg, 12-8. Singles by Jerry Royster and Darrel Chaney and a double play ball accounted for a first-inning run. Cito Gaston had an RBI double and Willie Montanez socked a two-run homer in the third.

The 6-foot-1 LaCorte gave up a run in the fifth on a single by Larry Bowa and pinch-hitter Bob Boone's double.

In the Philadelphia sixth, LaCorte got in a jam and was relieved by Mike Beard. Garry Maddox opened the inning with a single. LaCorte got the next two outs, but he walked Ray Johnstone and Tommy Hutton and that was it. Beard walked pinch-hitter Ollie Brown, forcing in the run and making it 4-2.

LaCorte retired to the dressing room where he lived and died with each play as Beard and then Adrian Devine battled to save the rookie's first big league win. The ninth was a lifetime for LaCorte.

It was the kind of an inning designed to drive pitchers mad. Bowa bounced out to start the Phil's ninth, but Jerry Martin, Dave Cash and Maddox singled in succession for one run and there was the tying run at third and the winner on first with one out.

All Devine had to do was retire Mike Schmidt and Greg Luzinski, two of baseball's best sluggers. Schmidt struck out.

"I was saying, 'please, it's so hard to get this first one (win),' LaCorte related.

With Luzinski at bat, Maddox stole second. A single could win the game for Philadelphia. But Luzinski popped up.

LaCorte went ape. He stood at the door and shook each Brave's hand as the team filed into the dressing room.

There were just two other National League games played Thursday. Cincinnati rocked the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and San Diego blanked the New York Mets 3-0.

George Foster slammed two home runs and drove in four runs for the Reds. Johnny Bench and Joe Morgan also hit home runs for Cincinnati. Pete LaCock drove in two Chicago runs with a single and a homer.

Reuschel then rushed plate umpire John Kibler, who threw the pitcher out of the game. Foster greeted reliever Bruce Sutter with his 25th homer to tie the game.

Following Bench's single, Tony Perez grounded into what appeared to be a double play. But first-base umpire Terry Tata called Perez safe, touching off another argument.

Rookie Rick Sawyer, 3-0, bested Tom Seaver, 9-8, with an eight-hitter. Seaver, who has not won since July 8, gave up all three runs in the second inning — two on a single by Fred Kendall and the other on a single by Sawyer. After the game it was announced that the Mets have extended Manager Joe Frazier's contract for another year.

Sox Need Master's Help

Weather, Schedule, Injuries Hurt

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck says the floundering Chicago White Sox might be helped by better communications. Better communications with God.

"I guess I'm not communicating with The Man upstairs," groaned Veeck as the Sox dropped another one recently.

"I've never seen things go as badly for a team as they have for us this year," said Veeck, head of a syndicate that bought the Sox last winter, thereby preventing a move of the franchise to Seattle.

"In every respect, weather, schedule, injuries, we've taken it on the chin," he said. "There is no way we can duplicate the things that happened to us this year, next year."

"The weather has cost us maybe 300,000 in attendance,"

said Veeck. "Not only in the games we were rained and snowed out of early in the season but even when we've played, we've had to play under adverse conditions. In two games with the Yankees, rain kept the crowds under our advance sales."

"We haven't played as well as I had hoped. The weather hasn't been as good as I had hoped and then things started to happen to key people," Veeck said.

"First we lose Willard Wood, the anchor of our pitching staff. Then we lose our top reliever (Clay Carroll) in a non-diamond oriented injury. The absence of Wood has made us particularly vulnerable to doubleheaders which piled up on us because of bad early season weather."

Veeck is not one to quit just because the going is tough. He tried to draw fans by putting a salute to Mexico day, complete with Sox coach Minnie Minoso, once a star of the team, as matador in a "bull fight" with a groggy, overweight steer.

Then came Greek night. Veeck's troupe of thinly clad belly dancers looked soggy as the weather dumped on Chicago's self-proclaimed hustler once again.

Finally, Veeck unveiled his players in uniforms that featured knee breeches.

"Can you believe it?" he said. "We finally put on the shorts and so far this has been the coldest August in history."

Despite all the adversity, Sox attendance has held up rather well with the team averaging slightly under 15,000 and going well over the 700,000 mark last Sunday.

"We should reach a million," said Veeck who had aimed for 1.2 million before the start of the season but had hoped for 1.4 million.

Except for a 10-game winning streak early in the season, the White Sox have not played well and could very well finish last in the American League West.

"Still our pitching has been better than anticipated considering the players we lost," he said. "There have been some bright spots."

"Kevin Bell, Bart Johnson, Francisco Barrios are the bright spots because we hadn't counted on them," said Veeck.

"Despite all our disasters, it has been an interesting year. Still, I can't wait until next year. But for now, let us just say disaster has struck and we are it."

Pay $81.5 Million For Grid Games

Broadcasting Big Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Broadcasters are paying $81.5 million for the radio-television rights to college and professional football games this fall. Broadcasting Magazine says. However, they are telling potential sponsors they are sold out.

In a copyrighted survey in its Aug. 8 issue, the industry weekly news magazine said the total radio-TV football rights accruing to the professional clubs and colleges is only $843,660 more than the $80.7 million they received in 1975.

A nationwide survey, conducted annually by the magazine, produced this breakdown of the prospective payments to football this season:

- $75.4 million from television and radio networks for professional and college games. This is the same as last year, since the networks are continuing in multi-year contracts negotiated prior to this season:

- $3.6 million from local radio outlets for rights to NFL games (exhibition and regular season), a substantial increase over last year's $2.9 million.
- $796,000 in local TV rights to NFL games, mostly pre-season, up from $680,000 last season.
- $1.7 million for local radio and delayed TV rights to schools and colleges. The comparable figure in 1975 was $1.5 million.

Among other findings, one television minute in Super Bowl XI will cost NBC-TV sponsors a record $350,000. Last January, a minute went for $230,000 on CBS-TV; the prior year NBC-TV charged $214,000.

Mutual Broadcasting System plans a record 56 network radio broadcasts of college and pro games. That will include Sunday coverage of top NFL action for the sometimes neglected Sunday afternoon driver-fan.

Lakeshore East Champs

Lakeshore East claimed the championship of the North Lincoln Babe Ruth Invitational by downing Fairplain 9-4 Thursday at Eaton Park.

Lakeshore East, which went through the double elimination tourney unscathed, got a three-for-four hitting effort, including a double, Thursday from Paul Freer, Mike Mervene and winning pitcher Brian Warnock went two-for-three and Dave Goodwin contributed a double. Neil Kirkwood was two-for-three, including a double, for Fairplain, which ended up second in the tournament. Brad Wheeler was the losing pitcher.

Another Fairplain player, Gary Aber, received the Gary Coburn Memorial Trophy for being the outstanding player-sportsman in the tourney.

Benton Harbor No. 1 captured third place in the tournament by downing Decatur 7-6 Thursday. The fourth spot went to Decatur.

Duane Sterling led Benton Harbor to victory by hurling a two-hitter. Kevin Allen contributed a three-for-three hitting effort, including two triples. Ron Jones went two-for-three, including a triple, and Mike Gillespie was two-for-three.

Robards Keys Plangger's No. 2

Rich Robards tossed a one-hitter, fanned 14 and also collected the winning hit as Plangger's No. 2 blanked Misty Acres 2-0 Thursday night in fastpitch district softball action at Plangger's Park. Roger Cofel added two hits for the winners in the Class B game. In Class C play, Michigan Bell defeated Rosie's Party Store 7-3. Doug Jones posted the win. Tom Griffiths and Bob Bilton got two hits. Larry Bennett notched three and Nate Whitelaw two hits for the losers.

Ausco axed the Y's Men 14-4 with Leroy Johnson, the winning pitcher, slugging a homer and Dennis Outlaw, Alex McNutt and Ed Russell collecting two hits each. Dave Gaul had two hits for the losers.

In tonight's action in loser's bracket play, Borchett's meets Y's Men at 7:30 p.m., followed by Stroh's vs. Misty Acres and Clark's vs. Rosie's.

Hacker's, Midwest Win

NILES — Hacker's scored five runs in the eighth inning to top the Lakers 20-18 Thursday night in women's district softball action at Plym Park. Elaine Morrison and Terri Hill had three hits each for the winners. Sue Robach added two. Linda Munnaw rapped four hits and Ann Donahue three for the Lakers.

Midwest edged Cavalier's 8-7 with Val Vincent swatting two hits for Midwest. Denise Boyd and Selenia Deloney had two each for the losers.

Players Praise KC Coach Lau

KANSAS CITY (AP) — One night before, a fastball had slammed into his head and knocked him unconscious.

Now a dull ache throbbled behind his left ear as Hal McKee stood nervously in the Kansas City Royals dressing room, unsure for the first time in his life whether he wanted to put on a uniform.

Charley Lau watched and swept it all in.

Quietly, without attracting attention, Coach Lau spoke with McKee in private. He told him there must be no hesitation.

"Take the first pitch," Lau said. "No matter where the ball comes, just watch it coming. You'll be all right."

McKee watched that first pitch sail across the plate without flinching a muscle. Then, visibly more relaxed, he went out and batted four hits.

Four years earlier, a raw rookie named Joe Rudi asked Lau, then a first-year batting instructor at Oakland, if he had any future in baseball. Lau assured him he did, and afterward the two were seen daily at the batting cage, working hour after hour, Lau observing from every angle and making suggestions in his soft, level voice.

This June, shortly after an abortive trade set Rudi's market value as a baseball player at $1 million, he told a writer, "I'd be driving a truck in Modesto today if it weren't for Charley Lau."

McKee, after uncorking three base hits one game this month and zooming to the top of the American League batting charts, pointed at Lau sitting alone across the room.

"There's the man who got me going," he said. "Give the credit to Charley Lau."

Testimonials for the Kansas City hitting instructor, a virtual unknown to millions of baseball fans, gush forth from many of the brightest stars in the game.

Still ruggedly handsome at 41, Lau is an intensely private and unpretentious man who does not ask for the praise his students lavish upon him, but treasures their friendship.

A 253 lifetime hitter, he has acquired a vast following among baseball insiders for helping young men, who grab the headlines and most of the money, excel in a way he never could.

"I help them make money, so naturally they say nice things about me," Lau said with a smile when a compliment was passed along to him.

But the players speak of him as a friend and confidant, a patient, tireless teacher who meets with them anytime they ask and works as hard as they are willing to work.

"Whatever success I've had I owe to Charley," says first baseman John Mayberry, the runnerup in last year's Most Valuable Player voting. "But he's more than that. If I ran out of gas at three o'clock in the morning, I could call Charley. So could anybody else in this room."

This year the Royals, while building a wide lead in the Western Division, are pacing the American League in virtually every offensive category, including team batting. And they are probably giving Lau, who seeks no personal acclaim, the deepest satisfaction he has ever experienced in 16 years as a player and eight as a coach.

Zion took St. Paul's 8-7 with Ken Parr hitting a homer and Ken Barts and Bob Demler triples for Zion. Jim Vidi took the win. Check hit a triple and Bowman a double for St. Paul's.

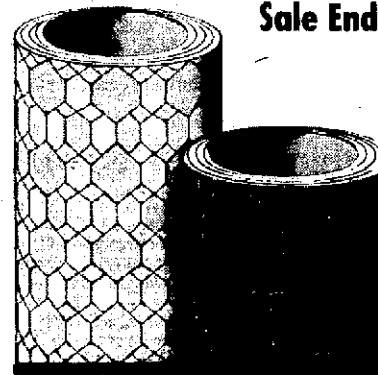

Jeff Klapp banged three hits and John Dora two as Christ Lutheran topped Trinity 7-3. Gene Mantovi got the win.

Weather, Schedule, Injuries Hurt

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck says the floundering Chicago White Sox might be helped by better communications with God.

"I guess I'm not communicating with The Man upstairs," groaned Veeck as the Sox dropped another one recently.

"I've never seen things go as badly for a team as they have for us this year," said Veeck, head of a syndicate that bought the Sox last winter, thereby preventing a move of the franchise to Seattle.

"In every respect, weather, schedule, injuries, we've taken it on the chin," he said. "There is no way we can duplicate the things that happened to us this year, next year."

said Veeck. "Not only in the games we were rained and snowed out of early in the season but even when we've played, we've had to play under adverse conditions. In two games with the Yankees, rain kept the crowds under our advance sales."

"We haven't played as well as I had hoped. The weather hasn't been as good as I had hoped and then things started to happen to key people," Veeck said.

"First we lose Wilbur Wood, the anchor of our pitching staff. Then we lose our top reliever (Clay Carroll) in a non-diamond oriented injury. The absence of Wood has made us particularly vulnerable to doubleheaders which piled up on us because of bad early season weather."

Veeck is not one to quit just because the going is tough. He tried to draw fans by putting a salute to Mexico day, complete with Sox coach Minnie Minoso, once a star of the team, as matador in a "bull fight" with a groggy, overweight steer.

Then came Greek night. Veeck's troupe of thinly clad belly dancers looked soggy as the weather dumped on Chicago's self-proclaimed hustler once again.

Finally, Veeck unveiled his players in uniforms that featured knee breeches.

"Can you believe it?" he said. "We finally put on the shorts and so far this has been the coldest August in history."

Despite all the adversity, Sox attendance has held up rather well with the team averaging slightly under 15,000 and going well over the 700,000 mark last Sunday.

"We should reach a million," said Veeck who had aimed for 1.2 million before the start of the season but had hoped for 1.4 million.

Except for a 10-game winning streak early in the season, the White Sox have not played well and could very well finish last in the American League West.

"Still our pitching has been better than anticipated considering the players we lost," he said. "There have been some bright spots."

Kevin Bell, Bart Johnson, Francisco Barrios are the bright spots because we hadn't counted on them," said Veeck.

"Despite all our disasters, it has been an interesting year. Still, I can't wait until next year. But for now, let us just say disaster has struck and we are it."

Pay $81.5 Million For Grid Games

Broadcasting Big Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Broadcasters are paying $81.5 million for the radio-television rights to college and professional football games this fall, Broadcasting Magazine says. However, they are telling potential sponsors they are sold out.

In a copyrighted survey in its Aug. 9 issue, the industry weekly news magazine said the total radio-TV football rights accruing to the professional clubs and colleges is only $843,660 more than the $80.7 million they received in 1975.

A nationwide survey, conducted annually by the magazine, produced this breakdown of the prospective payments to football this season:

— $75.4 million from television and radio networks for professional and college games. This is the same as last year, since the networks are continuing in multi-year contracts negotiated prior to this season.

— $3.6 million from local radio outlets for rights to NFL games (exhibition and regular season), a substantial increase over last year's $2.9 million.

— $796,000 in local TV rights to NFL games, mostly preseason, up from $680,000 last season.

— $1.7 million for local radio and delayed TV rights to schools and colleges. The comparable figure in 1975 was $1.5 million.

Among other findings, one television minute in Super Bowl XI will cost NBC-TV sponsors a record $250,000. Last January, a minute went for $230,000 on CBS-TV; the prior year NBC-TV charged $214,000.

Mutual Broadcasting System plans a record 56 network radio broadcasts of college and pro games. That will include Sunday coverage of top NFL action for the sometimes neglected Sunday afternoon driver-fan.

The strangest time for a live broadcast will be 4 a.m. in St. Louis. That's when insomniacs and fans will hear live coverage of the Cardinals-San Diego Chargers exhibition Aug. 16 from Korakuen Stadium in Tokyo.

A commercial minute in ABC's Monday night game goes for $105,000, up from $100,000 last year, while a minute in the preseason contests is pegged at $86,000, same as last year. ABC will also have the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, tentatively set for Jan. 17, 1977, in Seattle, with minute rates in that one $75,000, also unchanged from this year's.

CBS has its minutes in the first two preseason games pegged at $50,000 and in the third at $54,000, all the same as last year.

During the regular season, individual game prices range from $56,000 a minute in the first two to a high of $120,000 on Thanksgiving — representing in most cases apparent increases from a year ago.

Victims Of Quake Facing New Enemy

By MICHAEL J. DUFFY
Associated Press Writer

OSOPPO, Italy (AP) — Three months after the earthquake that killed almost 1,000 persons in northeastern Italy, the survivors are racing against time to prevent a new tragedy from winter exposure.

Their immediate goal is to provide adequate shelter for the 70,000 still homeless to prevent further loss of life in the harsh winter weather of this Dolomite Mountain area. Prefabricated wooden buildings must replace the tent cities in which they have passed the summer.

"There are 10 alternatives to the prefabs except to evacuate the area, and that is totally unacceptable," said Ezio Lenuzza, comptroller of Osoppo.

"The old people and the children won't make it through the winter if they have to live in tents," a volunteer worker in Genova said.

The government had promised enough prefabricated structures by June to house 4,500 persons. But there were only a handful up by the end of July. Now a total of 8,000 family units have been promised by the end of September — close to the cold season here.

Many whose homes can be repaired have already begun the job, and some have covered the basements of their collapsed houses to provide a winter refuge if the prefabricated houses don't come in time.

The initial government response to the quake was $40 million in emergency aid. Other help came from around the world, including $25 million from the United States.

With damage estimates running as high as $5 billion this was barely enough to provide water, food, tents, toilets and other basics for the estimated 129 villages destroyed or damaged in the May 6 earthquake.

A close watch was kept on the way the relief money was spent. The residents of Malano reacted bitterly when a contractor asked almost $35,000 to knock down the crumbling cathedral bell tower. They found someone else to do the job for just over $1,000.

Survivors have complained mainly, however, about what they considered the slow pace of the relief efforts. Thousands of quake victims demonstrated in mid-July to make it clear they would not become another Belice — an area of western Sicily where 10,000 people still live in shanties eight years after an earthquake there.

Among nongovernment relief efforts in the quake area are: —The people of Lazio, the area around Rome which suffered an earthquake in 1971, are sending their used barracks to Osoppo and furnishing $350,000 to erect them.

—Austrian pen pals hosted more than 50 children from the quake area for a four-week vacation from the misery of the quake aftermath.

—The Yugoslavs provided some prefabricated buildings and mobile homes for the very old and the sick.

—The Italian city of Bergamo sent a team of volunteer workers and a Belgian relief worker has been cooking for the volunteers and others who are without their own stoves.

The tent encampment here:

Gladiolus Committee Will Meet

COLOMA — The Coloma Gladiolus festival committee will hold its monthly meeting, Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m., at the Coloma Township hall.

Mike Dilts, festival president, said during the meeting, dates will be set for next year's festival and activities of the past festival, Aug. 2-8 will be reviewed.

Dilts said the meeting is open to the public and people interested in volunteering their services for next year's festival.

toured by U.S. Vice President Nelson Rockefeller shortly after the quake has been transferred to more firm foundations on an old airstrip used by the Germans during World War II. Each large army tent serves a single family, and many of them are outfitted with batane stoves and the furnishings of a small house.

There is a coin-operated laundry and there are sinks for those who prefer to do their laundry by hand. There's a hospital tent for men and women; several portable medical units; a commissary for the distribution of donated food and a playground area for the children.

A flower garden in the middle of the camp cheers things up a bit and a floral pattern spelling out "Osoppo will Rise Again" expresses the faith of the people in their future.

Life in some other villages seems less organized. Most of the ruined buildings of Genova and Verzona have still not been carted off, partly because they contained art treasures from the Middle Ages.

Some smaller villages high in the mountains of the Friuli area were still inaccessible by road until recently, and much remains to be done for them.

The economic life of the area, however, has recovered remarkably well. An estimated 15,000 were left jobless by the quake, but almost all are now back at work.

The biggest employer in the area, the Snider kitchen factory of Malano, suffered heavy damage. But it kept its 1,000 workers busy during repairs by sending them to work in branch plants in nearby towns.

The biggest "industry" in the area, however, was emigration, with residents of the Friuli territory going abroad by the thousands to work and earn enough money to build a house in their hometowns. The severe shortage of housing for the winter was expected to drive even more abroad.

Educators Oppose Tax Limit

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A ballot proposal to limit the state's taxing power would prevent Michigan from reducing its dependence on local property taxes to fund education, the state Board of Education says. The proposed constitutional amendment would limit annual state taxes to 8.3 percent of the previous year's state personal income, unless the legislature voted that an emergency existed. Michigan residents will vote on the amendment in the Nov. 2 election.

Victims Of Quake Facing New Enemy

By MICHAEL J. DUFFY
Associated Press Writer

OSOPPO, Italy (AP) — Three months after the earthquake that killed almost 1,000 persons in northeastern Italy, the survivors are racing against time to prevent a new tragedy from winter exposure.

Their immediate goal is to provide adequate shelter for the 70,000 still homeless to prevent further loss of life in the harsh winter weather of this Dolomite Mountain area. Prefabricated wooden buildings must replace the tent cities in which they have passed the summer.

"There are no alternatives to the prefabs except to evacuate the area, and that is totally unacceptable," said Ezio Lemuzza, comptroller of Osoppo.

"The old people and the children won't make it through the winter if they have to live in tents," a volunteer worker in Gemona said.

The government had promised enough prefabricated structures by June to house 4,500 persons. But there were only a handful up by the end of July. Now a total of 8,000 family units have been promised by the end of September — close to the cold season here.

Many whose homes can be repaired have already begun the job, and some have covered the basements of their collapsed homes to provide a winter refuge if the pre-fabricated houses don't come in time.

The initial government response to the quake was $640 million in emergency aid. Other help came from around the world, including $25 million from the United States.

With damage estimates running as high as $5 billion this was barely enough to provide water, food, tents, toilets and other basics for the estimated 129 villages destroyed or damaged in the May 6 earthquake.

A close watch was kept on the way the relief money was spent. The residents of Maliano reacted bitterly when a contractor asked almost $35,000 to knock down the crumbling cathedral bell tower. They found someone else to do the job for just over $1,000.

Survivors have complained mainly, however, about what they considered the slow pace of the relief efforts. Thousands of quake victims demonstrated in mid-July to make it clear they would not become another Belice — an area of western Sicily where 10,000 people still live in shanties eight years after an earthquake there.

Among nongovernment relief efforts in the quake area are:

—The people of Lazio, the area around Rome which suffered an earthquake in 1971, are sending their used barracks to Osoppo and furnishing $350,000 to erect them.

—Austrian pen pals hosted more than 50 children from the quake area for a four-week vacation from the misery of the quake aftermath.

—The Yugoslavs provided some prefabricated buildings and mobile homes for the very old and the sick.

—The Italian city of Bergamo sent a team of volunteer workers and a Belgian relief worker has been cooking for the volunteers and others who are without their own stoves.

Gladiolus Committee Will Meet

COLOMA — The Coloma Gladiolus festival committee will hold its monthly meeting, Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m., at the Coloma Township hall.

Mike Dilts, festival president, said during the meeting, dates will be set for next year's festival and activities of the past festival, Aug. 2-8 will be reviewed.

Dilts said the meeting is open to the public and people interested in volunteering their services for next year's festival.

toured by U.S. Vice President Nelson Rockefeller shortly after the quake has been transferred to more firm foundations on an old airstrip used by the Germans during World War II. Each large army tent serves a single family, and many of them are outfitted with butane stoves and the furnishings of a small house.

There is a coin-operated laundry and there are sinks for those who prefer to do their laundry by hand. There's a hospital tent for men and women; several portable medical units, a commissary for the distribution of donated food and a playground area for the children.

A flower garden in the middle of the camp cheers things up a bit and a floral pattern spelling out "Osoppo will Rise Again" expresses the faith of the people in their future.

Life in some other villages seems less organized. Most of the ruined buildings of Gemona and Venzona have still not been carted off, partly because they contained art treasures from the Middle Ages.

Some smaller villages high in the mountains of the Friuli area were still inaccessible by road until recently, and much remains to be done for them.

The economic life of the area, however, has recovered remarkably well. An estimated 15,000 were left jobless by the quake, but almost all are now back at work.

The biggest employer in the area, the Snaidero kitchen factory of Maliano, suffered heavy damage. But it kept its 1,000 workers busy during repairs by sending them to work in branch plants in nearby towns.

The biggest "industry" in the area, however, was emigration, with residents of the Friuli territory going abroad by the thousands to work and earn enough money to build a house in their hometowns. The severe shortage of housing for the winter was expected to drive even more abroad.

Cass Psychiatric Director Named

CASSOPOLIS — Philip W. Song, M.D., has recently been named director of psychiatric services at the Cass county mental health facility here.

A native of Korea, Dr. Song, a psychiatrist, will also operate a private office at 1011 Broadway, Niles, two evenings a week on Tuesday and Thursday. He was also recently appointed as a staff member at Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac.

Dr. Song earned his medical degree at Kyungpote Notund university, Korea, in 1968. From 1968 to 1971 he was in military service as a medical officer at the Korean Air Force hospital. He was then director of Kimcheon City public health center, Korea, until coming to the U.S. in June, 1972.

Dr. Song served a year's internship at South Baltimore General hospital, Baltimore, Md. He was a resident in psychiatry at Medfield State hospital, Medfield, Mass., from July, 1973 to June, 1974, and at Ypsilanti State hospital, Ypsilanti, from July, 1974 to July

Educators Oppose Tax Limit

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A ballot proposal to limit the state's taxing power would prevent Michigan from reducing its dependence on local property taxes to fund education, the state Board of Education says. The proposed constitutional amendment would limit annual state taxes to 8.3 per cent of the previous year's state personal income, unless the legislature voted that an emergency existed. Michigan residents will vote on the amendment in the Nov. 2 election.

HARVESTER IN ACTION: The newly developed harvester is shown working in fields in northern Michigan late this spring. Ideally only three people will be needed to operate it.

Strawberry Research

Harvester And Capper Prove Effective

By JOHN FENNELL
Staff Writer

Six northern Michigan growers and three processors are hopeful that a newly developed strawberry harvester and capper used this year will revitalize the state's strawberry industry within the next five years.

The group has formed a corporation — Strawberry Harvesting Systems, Inc. — to finance and develop an effective harvester and capper for use in the near future. And with the help of Michigan State University, a Canadian company, and the insight of the men responsible for the creation of the machines, they are on their way.

The final results are not in yet, but the machines proved themselves effective in both harvesting and capping when used in northern Michigan this season, and aroused the interest of many other strawberry growers, according to Larry Bradford, Manistee county extension director.

Those involved with the project said the berries that were harvested and capped this season suffered little damage, leading them to think the machine could eventually harvest berries for the fresh market.

The new machines still have some bugs, but the hopes are that within five years many growers, both for the fresh and processed markets, will be using the machines, according to the president of the corporation, John Mead.

"I think it's analogous to the history of the cherry shaker. They had a rough first couple of years but improved and before long were being used by most growers," Mead said. "Like the cherry shaker, it may be five years before it really gets rolling. But we're happy with the initial results," he added.

Many growers faced with rising labor costs and tightening government restrictions on safety measures and housing of farm workers have pulled out of the strawberry industry in recent years. Acreage for the berry has been on a steady decline in Michigan, and this year reached a low of 2,900 acres.

Faced with these problems, many growers are saying that unless Michigan's strawberry industry mechanizes, it may die.

As a result, the corporation was formed. Each of its members have put up money in order, as one member put it, "to save strawberries."

The group bought two recently developed harvesters already being successfully used in England and three cappers and have used them this year.

The harvester was designed by Ivor Kemp in England, built in Canada by Canner's Machinery, Ltd., and modified by scientists at MSU. The capper was designed by MSU agricultural engineer Clarence Hansen and his team of engineering researchers, and also built in Canada.

The cost of harvesting strawberries with the new equipment will be about five times less than hand picking, according to Mead. Where it costs 13 to 15 cents to hand pick, the machines will be able to do the job for 3 to 5 cents, he added.

The machine mows down the top of the plants, sifts through the leaves and drops the berries with stem and cap into a plastic bag and blows out most of the cuttings.

Ideally the harvester will require only three people. Traveling at one mile an hour, it is expected they can harvest about four acres a day.

The berry is then eventually put through the capping machine and sold.

The goals this year were to harvest a ton of strawberries per hour with the harvester and process 700 pounds per hour with the capper.

Ag engineer Dick Ledebuhr said they came close to the capping figure but were off on the harvesting mostly because the fields were not groomed for the mechanical harvester. (Fields must be flat.)

In mostly experimental runs in northern Manistee county, the machine was picking up anywhere from 50 to 80 per cent of the berries depending on the condition of the field. Next year when the fields are groomed for mechanization, it is hoped that the yield will be greater, Ledebuhr said.

Right now, most strawberries mature at different times and require anywhere from two to four pickings. In order to effectively use the machine, a variety that ripens at the same time must be developed. Researchers are now working on the problem.

For the most part, the variety harvested by the machine this year was Midway, number 2. Because of good weather this season, about 85 per cent of the berries were ripe at the same time, making the variety probably the most attractive for any grower who intends to use the harvester in the near future, Mead said.

Ledebuhr said it is possible that growers could use laborers for the first couple of pickings if the variety in use does not have a good ripening factor, and then use the machine for the final harvest.

Fruit Industry Still Awaits
Ruling On Bargaining Act SuitBy NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

The clerk of the Michigan Supreme court said this week that "it's not possible in advance to say" when the court will rule on the constitutionality of the 1972 Michigan Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act.

Ten months ago — Oct. 10 — attorneys gave oral arguments before the court, but due to the "most troubling problem" of a large case load the justices have not made a ruling, Clerk Harold Haag said.

Haag said the average time between oral argument and the issuance of an opinion is shorter than 10 months.

The case before the supreme court justices is known as the "asparagus suit." It was first filed in Ingham Circuit court in March of 1974 after the accreditation under the Act of the first bargaining agent, the Michigan Asparagus Growers, a division of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA).

Plaintiffs are the Michigan Canners and Freezers association, Dukeshere Farms, Inc., Benton township, and Ferris Pierson, Sister Lakes. Defendants are the marketing and bargaining board, which administers the Act, and MACMA.

The suit ended up before the supreme court in January of 1975. Plaintiffs were appealing an Ingham Circuit court ruling that said the suit should have originated in the Michigan Court of Appeals, not circuit court.

The supreme court ignored standard practice and chose to ignore the appeal and rule on the central question in the suit: the constitutionality of the Act.

Meanwhile, other lawsuits questioning the cherry and potato bargaining units have been adjourned in the court of appeals until the asparagus suit is decided. Actions of those two bargaining units has been halted by the court.

The Act, passed with an expiration date of September of 1976, was made permanent by the legislature this year. The binding arbitration stipulation of the Act is the chief feature upon which the lawsuits are all based. The suits claim that processors are now forced to bargain with a group rather than with individuals. And growers have lost the right to individually go out and market their crops, the suits state.

Nurserymen To Meet Aug. 17

Michigan State University announced its annual nurserymen's field day will be held Aug. 17 at MSU's horticultural research center on College road, East Lansing. The morning session starts at 10 a.m., the afternoon session at 1:30 p.m.

Grain
Pegged

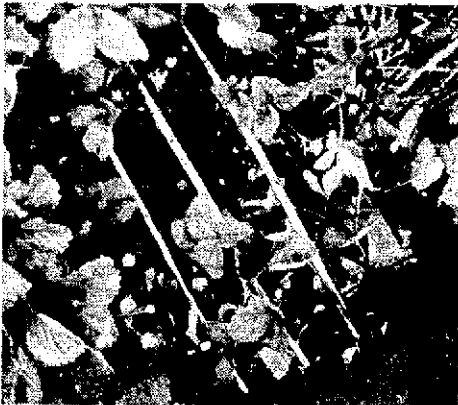

Grain prices for harvest and beyond for Michigan are not firm to date, but it looks as though they may run this way: corn, $2.25 per bushel; soybeans, around $6 per bushel; and wheat, $3.15 to $3.20 per bushel.

The tentative outlook for 1976-1977 prices was put together by Dr. Henry Larzelere, Michigan State University agricultural economist, based on the United States Department of Agriculture July 1 crop report.

Corn prices in central Michigan on July 29 were $2.51 a bushel, down 34 cents from a year ago. The July 1 crop report indicates the 1976 corn crop will be 14 per cent greater than last year's yield.

Soybean prices have been extremely volatile reflecting great uncertainty of supply and use. On July 29, central Michigan prices were $5.71 a bushel, but on July 6 were $6.77.

Wheat prices for the area on July 29 were $2.83 a bushel, compared to $3.05 a year ago. It looks as though winter wheat production will be 7 per cent less than last year's production level. Total wheat production, including spring wheat, looks to be about 4 per cent less than the amount harvested last year, Larzelere said.

WORKING PARTS: Tines lift strawberry plant, to be sheared by a blade and sent up a conveyor belt. The berries are then sorted from the "trash" and put in plastic lugs.

State Shows Increase In Cattle And Hogs

Michigan cattle feeders have restocked their feedlots to pre-1975 levels, and the state's hog and pig numbers are on the increase, according to reports compiled by the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

A July 1 survey showed that 180,000 cattle and calves were on feed in the state, a 25 per cent increase above the very low numbers of last year, and 6 per cent above 1974.

Since April, cattlemen have marketed 79,000 fat cattle. Marketings July through September are expected to total about 80,000 cattle, the reporting service said.

According to a June 1 report, hog farmers had a total herd of

The market hog inventory jumped 18 per cent, with a total of 637,000 hogs and pigs counted.

The reporting service said although the number is relatively high, no porker glut is expected because of the low weights of the animals.

U-Pick Tour Next Week
In Allegan County

An extension service sponsored tour of three western Allegan county roadside markets and U-Pick operations is planned for the afternoon of Aug. 18.

The tour is being held at the request of people who attended the extension service's late winter meeting, according to Clare Musgrove, county extension director.

The tour will begin at 1 p.m. at Dalton Orchards, 55th at the north end of M-89, east of Fennville. It will continue at 2 p.m. at Crane Orchards on M-89 west of Fennville and end with a 3 p.m. visit of a roadside market operated by Max and Helen Radseck at Blue Star highway south of Glenn, Musgrove said.

Farmers Rotating From Corn To Alfalfa Beware

Farmers who intend to rotate from corn to alfalfa on the same ground next spring are warned that too high a herbicide application rate on the corn in past years may severely damage the alfalfa crop.

Michigan State University crop scientists M.B. Tesar and W.F. Muggitt said alfalfa crops spring-seeded in 1975 have shown poor stands when they were preceded by corn crops treated with one or two pounds of active ingredient AATrex in 1974 and four pounds in 1973.

Numerous reports from dairy farmers indicate the alfalfa seedlings in rotation with corn have often been poor in recent years, and AATrex herbicide toxicity from a previous corn crop may well be the cause, according to G. Wayne Hothorn, Cass county extension director.

The alfalfa seedlings are often established alone without oats in April and look thrifty for about six to eight weeks. When they are about four to six inches tall they become yellowed and stunted, and finally die when their roots reach the AATrex, Hothorn said.

The resulting stands

frequently have only two to three plants per square foot instead of the desired 30, Hothorn added.

AATrex has a residual carryover effect. If applied to corn this year at two pounds per acre it will injure next year's alfalfa seedlings if rates of two pounds or more per acre had been used on the 1975 corn crop.

Injury to the alfalfa will be severe and possibly result in a stand failure if the application a year before the alfalfa seeding was one or two pounds and the application two years before was four pounds, Hothorn said.

The extension service recommends that if AATrex is used at the recommended four pounds per acre to control quackgrass, corn should be grown another year, preferably two, without AATrex to eliminate the carryover effect on seeded alfalfa.

Suggested herbicide applications to use on the corn in the year or years prior to seeding alfalfa can be found in Extension bulletin E-34, Hothorn added.

Apple Storage Clinic
To Be Held Aug. 19

Apple growers, storage operators and marketers can brush up on the latest ideas for improving quality, storage techniques and market strategies during the 1976 controlled atmosphere storage clinic Aug. 19.

The event, sponsored by extension service, will be held at 7:45 p.m. at the Kenowa Hills High School, northeast of Grand Rapids, near Walker, on Hendershott road at 4-mile road, according to Linda Christensen of MSU's department of information services.

Experts will be on hand to discuss harvest marketing, management and scald control. A demonstration on how to determine fruit ripeness and suitability for long-term storage will be shown.

Fruit Industry Still Awaits Ruling On Bargaining Act Suit

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

The clerk of the Michigan Supreme court said this week that "it's not possible in advance to say" when the court will rule on the constitutionality of the 1972 Michigan Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act.

Ten months ago — Oct. 10 — attorneys gave oral arguments before the court, but due to the "most troubling problem" of a large case load the justices have not made a ruling, Clerk Harold Hoag said.

Hoag said the average time between oral argument and the issuance of an opinion is shorter than 10 months.

The case before the supreme court justices is known as the "asparagus suit." It was first filed in Ingham Circuit court in March of 1974 after the accreditation under the Act of the first bargaining agent, the Michigan Asparagus Growers, a division of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MAC-MA).

Plaintiffs are the Michigan Canners and Freezers association, Dukeshere Farms, Inc., Benton township, and Ferris Pierson, Sister Lakes. Defendants are the marketing and bargaining board, which administers the Act, and MAC-MA.

The suit ended up before the supreme court in January of 1975. Plaintiffs were appealing an Ingham Circuit court ruling that said the suit should have originated in the Michigan Court of Appeals, not circuit court.

The supreme court ignored standard practice and chose to ignore the appeal and rule on the central question in the suit: the constitutionality of the Act.

Meanwhile, other lawsuits questioning the cherry and potato bargaining units have been adjourned in the court of appeals until the asparagus suit is decided. Actions of those two bargaining units has been halted by the court.

The Act, passed with an expiration date of September of 1976, was made permanent by the legislature this year. The binding arbitration stipulation of the Act is the chief feature upon which the lawsuits are all based. The suits claim that processors are now forced to bargain with a group rather than with individuals. And growers have lost the right to individually go out and market their crops, the suits state.

Nurserymen To Meet Aug. 17

Michigan State University announced its annual nurserymen's field day will be held Aug. 17 at MSU's horticultural research center on College road, East Lansing. The morning session starts at 10 a.m., the afternoon session at 1:30 p.m.

Strawberry Research

Harvester And Capper Prove Effective

Staff Writer

Six northern Michigan growers and three processors are hopeful that a newly developed strawberry harvester and capper used this year will revitalize the state's strawberry industry within the next five years.

The group has formed a corporation — Strawberry Harvesting Systems, Inc. — to finance and develop an effective harvester and capper for use in the near future. And with the help of Michigan State University, a Canadian company, and the insight of the men responsible for the creation of the machines, they are on their way.

The final results are not in yet, but the machines proved themselves effective in both harvesting and capping when used in northern Michigan this season, and aroused the interest of many other strawberry growers, according to Larry Bradford, Manistee county extension director.

Those involved with the project said the berries that were harvested and capped this season suffered little damage, leading them to think the machine could eventually harvest berries for the fresh market.

The new machines still have some bugs, but the hopes are that within five years many growers, both for the fresh and processed markets, will be using the machines, according to the president of the corporation, John Mead.

"I think it's analogous to the history of the cherry shaker. They had a rough first couple of years but improved and before long were being used by most growers," Mead said. "Like the cherry shaker, it may be five years before it really gets rolling. But we're happy with the initial results," he added.

Many growers faced with rising labor costs and tightening government restrictions on safety measures and housing of farm workers have pulled out of the strawberry industry in recent years. Acreage for the berry has been on a steady decline in Michigan, and this year reached a low of 2,900 acres.

Faced with these problems, many growers are saying that unless Michigan's strawberry industry mechanizes, it may die.

As a result, the corporation was formed. Each of its members have put up money in order, as one member put it, "to save strawberries."

The group bought two recently developed harvesters already being successfully used in England and three cappers and have used them this year.

The harvester was designed by Ivor Kemp in England, built in Canada by Canner's Machinery, Ltd., and modified by scientists at MSU. The capper was designed by MSU agricultural engineer Clarence Hansen and his team of engineering researchers, and also built in Canada.

The cost of harvesting strawberries with the new equipment will be about five times less than hand picked, according to Mead. Where it costs 13 to 15 cents to hand pick, the machines will be able to do the job for 3 to 5 cents, he added.

The machine mows down the top of the plants, sifts through the leaves and drops the berries with stem and cap into a plastic bag and blows out most of the cuttings.

Ideally the harvester will require only three people. Traveling at one mile an hour, it is expected they can harvest about four acres a day.

The berry is then eventually put through the capping machine and sold.

The goals this year were to harvest a ton of strawberries per hour with the harvester and process 700 pounds per hour with the capper.

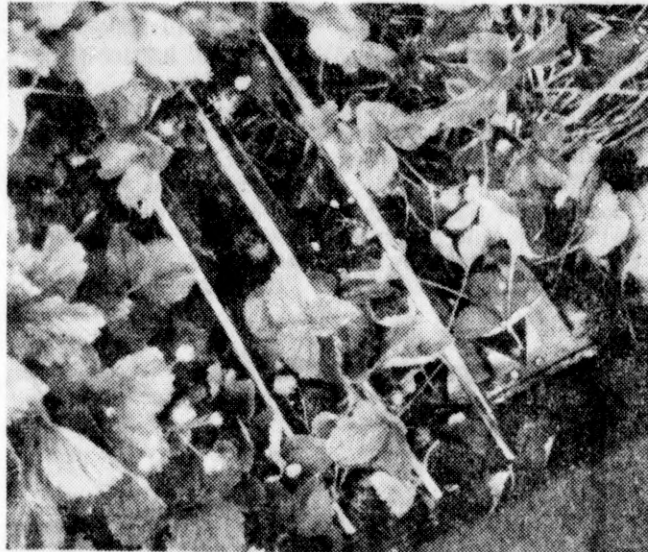

Ag engineer Dick Ledebuhr said they came close to the capping figure but were off on the harvesting mostly because the fields were not groomed for the mechanical harvester. (Fields must be flat.)

In mostly experimental runs in northern Manistee county, the machine was picking up anywhere from 50 to 80 per cent of the berries depending on the condition of the field. Next year when the fields are groomed for mechanization, it is hoped that the yield will be greater, Ledebuhr said.

Right now, most strawberries mature at different times and require anywhere from two to four pickings. In order to effectively use the machine, a variety that ripens at the same time must be developed. Researchers are now working on the problem.

For the most part, the variety harvested by the machine this year was Midway, number 2. Because of good weather this season, about 85 per cent of the berries were ripe at the same time, making the variety probably the most attractive for any grower who intends to use the harvester in the near future, Mead said.

Ledebuhr said it is possible that growers could use laborers for the first couple of pickings if the variety in use does not have a good ripening factor, and then use the machine for the final harvest.

WORKING PARTS: Tines lift strawberry plant, to be sheared by a blade and sent up a conveyor belt. The berries are then sorted from the "trash" and put in plastic bags.

State Shows Increase In Cattle And Hogs

Michigan cattle feeders have restocked their feedlots to pre-1975 levels, and the state's hog and pig numbers are on the increase, according to reports compiled by the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

A July 1 survey showed that 180,000 cattle and calves were on feed in the state, a 25 per cent increase above the very low numbers of last year, and 6 per cent above 1974.

Since April, cattlemen have marketed 79,000 fat cattle. Marketings July through September are expected to total about 80,000 cattle, the reporting service said.

According to a June 1 report, hog farmers had a total herd of 760,000 hogs and pigs on hand, up 17 per cent from last June, but only 1 per cent above two years ago.

The market hog inventory jumped 19 per cent, with a total of 637,000 hogs and pigs counted.

The reporting service said although the number is relatively high, no porker glut is expected because of the low weights of the animals.

U-Pick Tour Next Week In Allegan County

An extension service sponsored tour of three western Allegan county roadside markets and U-Pick operations is planned for the afternoon of Aug. 16.

The tour is being held at the request of people who attended the extension service's late winter meeting, according to Clare Musgrove, county extension director.

The tour will begin at 1 p.m. at Dalton Orchards, 55th at the north end of M-89, east of Fennville. It will continue at 2 p.m. at Crane Orchards on M-89 west of Fennville and end with a 3 p.m. visit of a roadside market operated by Max and Helen Radseck at Blue Star highway south of Glenn, Musgrove said.

Farmers Rotating From Corn To Alfalfa Beware

Farmers who intend to rotate from corn to alfalfa on the same ground next spring are warned that too high a herbicide application rate on the corn in past years may severely damage the alfalfa crop.

Michigan State University crop scientists M.B. Tesar and W.F. Meggitt said alfalfa crops spring-seeded in 1975 have shown poor stands when they were preceded by corn crops treated with one or two pounds of active-ingredient Aatrex in 1974 and four pounds in 1973.

Numerous reports from dairy farmers indicate the alfalfa seedlings in rotation with corn have often been poor in recent years, and Aatrex herbicide toxicity from a previous corn crop may well be the cause, according to G. Wayne Hothem, Cass county extension director.

The alfalfa seedlings are often established alone without oats in April and look thrifty for about six to eight weeks. When they are about four to six inches tall they become yellowed and stunted, and finally die when their roots reach the Aatrex, Hothem said.

The resulting stands

frequently have only two to three plants per square foot instead of the desired 30, Hothem added.

Aatrex has a residual carryover effect. If applied to corn this year at two pounds per acre it will injure next year's alfalfa seedlings if rates of two pounds or more per acre had been used on the 1975 corn crop.

Injury to the alfalfa will be severe and possibly result in a stand failure if the application a year before the alfalfa seeding was one or two pounds and the application two years before was four pounds, Hothem said.

The extension service recommends that if Aatrex is used at the recommended four pounds per acre to control quackgrass, corn should be grown another year, preferably two, without Aatrex to eliminate the carryover effect on seeded alfalfa.

Suggested herbicide applications to use on the corn in the year or years prior to seeding alfalfa can be found in Extension bulletin E-34, Hothem added.

Apple Storage Clinic To Be Held Aug. 19

Apple growers, storage operators and marketers can brush up on the latest ideas for improving quality, storage techniques and market strategies during the 1976 controlled atmosphere storage clinic Aug. 19.

The event, sponsored by extension service, will be held at 7:45 p.m. at the Kenowa Hills High School, northeast of Grand Rapids, near Walker, on Hendershott road at 4-mile road, according to Linda Christensen of MSU's department of information services.

Experts will be on hand to discuss harvest marketing, management and scald control. A demonstration on how to determine fruit ripeness and sui-ability for long-term storage will be shown.

CLIFFORD RICHARD
Time May Be Ripe

European Star May Crack Into U.S. Fame

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm Nearly Famous," proclaims the title of Cliff Richard's latest record album. Quite so.

At 35, Richard has been a major talent in England and Europe for 18 years. As a pop music singer he has produced more than 60 hit songs. He also has starred in movies and acted in plays. He has had his own television series.

Yet he is virtually unknown in the United States.

For all his success in other parts of the world, Cliff Richard has never been able to crack the U.S. market. His only hit song was "Livin' Doll," which hit No. 30 on the national sales charts in the winter of 1959.

Now he is making a determined effort to change all that. His album is out on Rocket Records, the label owned by fellow Briton Elton John, and a single, "Devil Woman," is climbing the song charts. Richard recently blitzed through the country on a 12-day binge to promote the records and feel out a possible performing tour.

"I'm excited about it," Richard confessed when he got to Los Angeles. "If people like the music I'll come over and do concerts. I'm not so ambitious to be an actor anymore; what I want is to be a pop singer."

That's what he was in the beginning, of course, and he did do a concert tour in January 1960, including an appearance on "The Ed Sullivan Show."

But as Richard tells it now, the United States already was wrapped up in the music of Elvis Presley, Ricky Nelson, Frankie Avalon, Fabian and other American singers. The Englishman got lost in the shuffle.

Then came the Beatles and the invasion of English rock groups. Neither Richard nor any other solo artists had much of a chance in that climate.

His popularity at home continued to rise, however, and Richard moved into films and adopted a safe, middle-of-the-road musical style that didn't fit in at all with what was going on in the United States. But he was much in demand in Europe, Japan and Australia.

"I've not missed America," the slim, handsome entertainer said. "For many years I never thought about it. I mean, it was not as though I was being ignored — not when one is told his records have sold 25 million copies. And that was nine years ago."

Tony King, executive vice president of Rocket Records, believes a number of things have happened in the United States over the past few years to make this the right time for Richard finally to gain attention here.

For one thing, he says, the music on "I'm Nearly Famous" is much more rock oriented than Richard's past material, although it still falls within the industry's broad category of middle of the road. For another, King says, the U.S. market is wide open these days for that sound or any other.

pany executive. "He looks like a new artist; a lot of people don't know he has a history. And he's approaching America with all the freshness and enthusiasm of a new career, but with the professionalism of 18 years to make it work."

Indeed, there is vitality in the singer as he discusses his new enthusiasm for performing and the prospect of cultivating an audience in America.

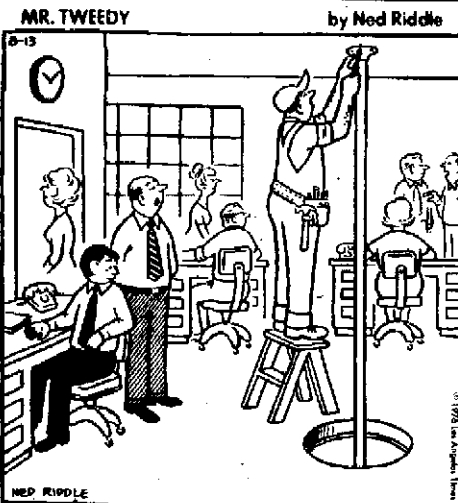

It was sparked, he explains, by the different variety of songs he got to sing for "I'm Nearly Famous." For once his producer went out looking for good material instead of sitting back and waiting for writers to submit songs that they felt were in the traditional Richard style.

He is far from over-optimistic about hitting it off with the American record buying public. He thinks the timing is right but 18 years of being a star in England and an unknown in the United States have left him mystified as to what makes a record click in one country and not the other.

"I'm enjoying what is about to happen," Richard concludes. "And if it doesn't, I'll go back to my hectic career in the rest of the world. It's the nicest possible way to chase a new career."

Weesaw Permits

NEW TROY — Four building permits for an estimated $63,100 in construction were issued in Weesaw township for July, according to William Bartholomew, building inspector. The permits were issued to: Richard Knapp Jr., Log Cabin road, remodel and add aluminum siding, $4,500; Richard Bray, Sawyer road, garage, $2,000; Mrs. Pearl Woods, New Troy, new roof, $800; Wayne Krieger, New Troy, metal building, $56,000.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Aug. 13, the 228th day of 1976. There are 140 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1961, Communist East Germany sealed the border between East and West Berlin to halt the flight of refugees from East Germany.

On this date: In 1521, the Spanish conqueror Hernando Cortez captured Mexico City from the Aztec Indians.

In 1848, the American flag was first raised in Los Angeles.

In 1898, during the Spanish-American War, the Spanish surrendered the Philippine city of Manila to the Americans.

In 1937, the Japanese attacked Shanghai, China.

In 1967, U.S. bombers pounded targets in North Vietnam and struck a railway yard and highway bridge only 10 miles from the China border.

Ten years ago: Communist China's Mao Tse-Tung won complete vindication for his country's tough policies at home and abroad.

Five years ago: East Germany, celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Berlin Wall, paraded the groups which built it.

One year ago: General Motors announced it would raise prices on its 1976 model cars by an average of about 4½ per cent.

Today's birthdays: Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro is 50 years old. Movie director Alfred Hitchcock is 77.

Thought for today: Man is not made for defeat — Ernest Hemingway, 1899-1961.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago, Gen. George Washington, expecting an attack on New York, packed all his important papers and ordered them to be forwarded to Philadelphia for safe keeping.

CLIFFORD RICHARD
Time May Be Ripe

European Star May Crack Into U.S. Fame

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm Nearly Famous," proclaims the title of Cliff Richard's latest record album. Quite so.

At 35, Richard has been a major talent in England and Europe for 18 years. As a pop music singer he has produced more than 60 hit songs. He also has starred in movies and acted in plays. He has had his own television series.

Yet he is virtually unknown in the United States.

For all his success in other parts of the world, Cliff Richard has never been able to crack the U.S. market. His only hit song was "Livin' Doll," which hit No. 30 on the national sales charts in the winter of 1959.

Now he is making a determined effort to change all that. His album is out on Rocket Records, the label owned by fellow Briton Elton John, and a single, "Devil Woman," is climbing the song charts. Richard recently blitzed through the country on a 12-day binge to promote the records and feel out a possible performing tour.

"I'm excited about it," Richard confessed when he got to Los Angeles. "If people like the music I'll come over and do concerts. I'm not so ambitious to be an actor anymore; what I want is to be a pop singer."

That's what he was in the beginning, of course, and he did do a concert tour in January 1960, including an appearance on "The Ed Sullivan Show."

But as Richard tells it now, the United States already was wrapped up in the music of Elvis Presley, Ricky Nelson, Frankie Avalon, Fabian and other American singers. The Englishman got lost in the shuffle.

Then came the Beatles and the invasion of English rock groups. Neither Richard nor any other solo artists had much of a chance in that climate.

His popularity at home continued to rise, however, and Richard moved into films and adopted a safe, middle-of-the-road musical style that didn't fit in at all with what was going on in the United States. But he was much in demand in Europe, Japan and Australia.

"I've not missed America," the slim, handsome entertainer said. "For many years I never thought about it. I mean, it was not as though I was being ignored — not when one is told his records have sold 25 million copies. And that was nine years ago."

Tony King, executive vice president of Rocket Records, believes a number of things have happened in the United States over the past few years to make this the right time for Richard finally to gain attention here.

For one thing, he says, the music on "I'm Nearly Famous" is much more rock oriented than Richard's past material, although it still falls within the industry's broad category of middle of the road. For another, King says, the U.S. market is wide open these days for that sound or any other.

"Cliff is fresh and young looking," says the record company executive. "He looks like a new artist; a lot of people don't know he has a history. And he's approaching America with all the freshness and enthusiasm of a new career, but with the professionalism of 18 years to make it work."

Indeed, there is vitality in the singer as he discusses his new enthusiasm for performing and the prospect of cultivating an audience in America.

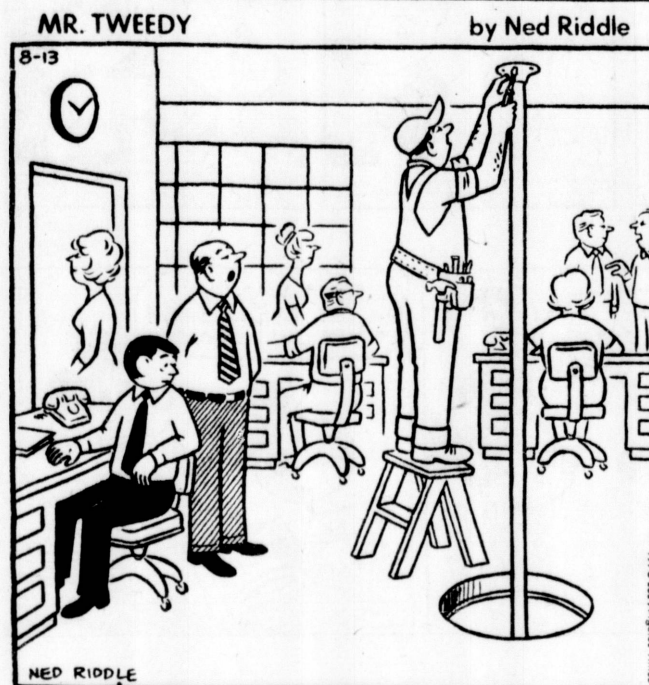

It was sparked, he explains, by the different variety of songs he got to sing for "I'm Nearly Famous." For once his producer went out looking for good material instead of sitting back and waiting for writers to submit songs that they felt were in the traditional Richard style.

He is far from over-optimistic about hitting it off with the American record buying public. He thinks the timing is right but 18 years of being a star in England and an unknown in the United States have left him mystified as to what makes a record click in one country and not the other.

ARRANGER DIES

DALLAS (AP) — Former big band arranger Jerry Gray, 58, credited with creating the Glenn Miller sound, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack. His first big arrangement was "Begin The Beguine" for Artie Shaw.

TRAPS IN SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFIT HIKES

This year's boosts in Social Security benefits may be a bonanza for someone you help support — but a trap for you. For the higher benefits may cost you (1) a $750 dependency deduction; (2) a new, bigger-than-ever tax credit; and (3) a medical expense deduction.

As an illustration, you may get a dependency deduction for your mother only if (1) she has a "gross income" of less than $500 a year; and (2) you provide more than half her support.

Example: Last year, your mother received $8 benefits of $1,000 and had no other income. To help her out, you paid all her medical and dental bills in excess of Medicare — a total of $3,100. Result: you got a dependency deduction of $750 and also deducted the $3,100 in medical expenses.

Reason: SS benefits aren't counted for the "gross income" test and you contributed more than half your mother's support.

Now, let's say you contribute the same $3,100 this year, but another boost in Social Security benefits (tied to the cost of living index) lifts your mother's benefits to $3,150 in 1976. Your mother spends the entire amount on her support.

(1) You wind up a loser. You forfeit the $750 dependency deduction and the big new credit, for you don't contribute more than half her support. You also lose the $3,100 of medical deductions.

(2) Your mother gets no benefit from her dependency exemption since she has no income from which to deduct it.

(3) The only winner is the IRS.

But with the proper tax strategy, you can be the winner and your mother can benefit too.

Take action now. Make sure you nail down the entire $3,850-plus in deductions by being positive you contribute more than half her support in 1976. By starting early and giving your mother a few dollars extra each week and by rechecking your figures before yearend, you can confirm whether you have contributed more than half her support. Then, money that otherwise would go to the U.S. Treasury will turn into major tax savings to you.

A special twist in the area of dependency deductions is the government-approved "unit rule." Here's how that unit rule allowed one taxpayer who contributed to the support of his parents to parlay a cash outlay into two extra dependency deductions.

In this instance, Prentice-Hall explains the total support of the taxpayer's retired parents came to $4,100 for the year. The taxpayer paid $2,100, and the other $2,000 came from his father's Social Security benefits. The taxpayer claimed both $750 dependency deductions — one for his father, one for mother.

Result: the taxpayer wins. For dependency purposes, unless a taxpayer proves otherwise, he must treat both parents "as a unit." If proof is lacking, it is assumed that every dollar his father and mother receive — whether from the taxpayer or otherwise — is spent equally on each.

Since the taxpayer has provided more than half of their support together, he gets exemptions for each.

But say in your case your father's Social Security is $1,800 and your mother's is $800. You provide $1,300 for support. Under the unit rule, that's split equally, $650 for your father, $650 for your mother. So you provide less than half the support for both. The unit rule knocks out any exemptions for you and you wind up with zero deduction for support!

But by using the right strategy, you'll get the deduction for your mother's exemption. Allocate your support payments solely to your mother and keep careful records to prove your allocation. Because you have specifically allocated your support payments, the unit rule does not apply and you save your mother's exemption.

Pay your mother's expenses directly for clothing, medical bills, etc. Ask your mother to have bills made out to her, then pay these by check. Keep bills, and cancelled checks as proof. Make sure she sends you her yearend bills promptly, so you can make out and mail your checks before yearend and have them count for 1976.

Caution: because SS benefits are now geared to the cost of living and they keep going up, you may have to contribute more cash EACH YEAR to meet the more-than-half support test and protect your dependency deductions.

Watch this trap, starting now!

Market Is Up At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened higher in active trading today after a mixed session Thursday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction in early trading and stock sales were running a minute ahead of the NYSE ticker tape.

At the beginning of the session, the Commerce Department reported that business inventories in June rose 3.32 billion, its biggest increase in 18 months.

Early prices today included Tandy Corp., up 1/4 to 29 1/2; Joy Manufacturing off 1/4 to 46 1/2; and Amalgamated, off 1/4 to 54 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average showed a modest 33 gain to 987.12 after being down most of the session.

On the New York Stock Exchange, declining issues outnumbered gainers by a narrow margin.

Stock sales on the Big Board eased to 15.56 million shares from 18.71 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the Amex market value index fell .18 to 100.62.

GM Says Position Paper No Proposal

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp.'s chief negotiator, George Morris Jr., said Thursday that United Auto Workers bargainers "misunderstood" a GM proposal the union views as an attempt to hold down pay raises.

Calling the position paper GM hunted the union July 27 "just an explanation" of what the GM worker has achieved, he said. "We haven't made our proposal yet."

UAW negotiators have said they view the company's position paper as a threat to the so-called Wilson wage-increase formula, and said the union wouldn't stand with any tampering with the formula.

The Wilson formula, proposed in 1948 by GM president Charles Wilson and accepted by the UAW, promised that workers be rewarded for increases in productivity with a raise which came to be called the Annual Improvement Factor (AIF).

The Wilson theory also said that increases in workers' standard of living should be shielded against inflation by a cost-of-living allowance tied to increases in the consumer price index.

Morris said, however, that GM workers' standard of living has outdistanced national productivity if fringe benefits are considered. He reiterated that the company feels total compensation costs — wages plus benefits — should be linked to that productivity.

"The benefits that the GM worker receives are beyond anything in the Wilsonian theory," Morris said.

The company contends the average wage of a GM worker has increased 384 per cent since 1948, and total compensation including wages and benefits has gone up 600 per cent.

But UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone, head of the union's GM department, said that when inflation is considered, the increase in real purchasing power over the 28-year period is only 2.5 per cent.

Bluestone said the union wants to continue to link AIF increases to national productivity, but also wants the cost-of-living mechanism modernized to more fully protect workers from inflation.

At Chrysler Corp. Thursday, bargainers continued to debate the company's proposal to reduce absenteeism by tightening eligibility requirements for holiday pay.

The company claimed that high absentee rates forced plantwide shutdowns to provide mandatory worker relief time more than 650 times in 1974 and 1975, resulting in lost production of more than 13,000 units.

But the union repeated its charge that the company's proposals don't attack the heart of the absentee problem.

TRAPS IN SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFIT HIKES

This year's boosts in Social Security benefits may be a bonanza for someone you help support — but a trap for you. For the higher benefits may cost you (1) a $750 dependency deduction; (2) a new, bigger-than-ever tax credit; and (3) a medical expense deduction.

As an illustration, you may get a dependency deduction for your mother only if (1) she has a "gross income" of less than $750 a year; and (2) you provide more than half her support.

Example: last year, your mother received SS benefits of $3,050 and had no other income. To help her out, you paid all her medical and dental bills in excess of Medicare — a total of $3,100. Result: you got a dependency deduction of $750 and also deducted the $3,100 in medical expenses.

Reason: SS benefits aren't counted for the "gross income" test and you contributed more than half your mother's support.

Now, let's say you contribute the same $3,100 this year, but another boost in Social Security benefits (tied to the cost of living index) lifts your mother's benefits to $3,150 in 1976. Your mother spends the entire amount on her support.

(1) You wind up a loser. You forfeit the $750 dependency deduction and the big new credit, for you don't contribute more than half her support. You also lose the $3,100 of medical deductions.

(2) Your mother gets no benefit from her dependency exemption since she has no income from which to deduct it.

(3) The only winner is the IRS.

But with the proper tax strategy, you can be the winner and your mother can benefit too.

Take action now. Make sure you nail down the entire $3,850-plus in deductions by being positive you contribute more than half her support in 1976. By starting early and giving your mother a few dollars extra each week and by rechecking your figures before yearend, you can confirm whether you have contributed more than half her support. Then, money that otherwise would go to the U.S. Treasury will turn into major tax savings to you.

A special twist in the area of dependency deductions is the government-approved "unit rule." Here's how that unit rule allowed one taxpayer who contributed to the support of his parents to parlay a cash outlay into two extra dependency deductions.

In this instance, Prentice-Hall explains, the total support of the taxpayer's retired parents came to $4,100 for the year. The taxpayer paid $2,100, and the other $2,000 came from his father's Social Security benefits. The taxpayer claimed both $750 dependency deductions — one for his father, one for mother.

Result: the taxpayer wins. For dependency purposes, unless a taxpayer proves otherwise, he must treat both parents "as a unit." If proof is lacking, it is assumed that every dollar his father and mother receive — whether from the taxpayer or otherwise — is spent equally on each.

Since the taxpayer has provided more than half of their support together, he gets exemptions for each.

But say in your case your father's Social Security is $1,680 and your mother's is $840. You provide $1,300 for support. Under the unit rule, that's split equally, $650 for your father, $650 for your mother. So you provide less than half the support for both. The unit rule knocks out any exemptions for you and you wind up with zero deduction for support!

But by using the right strategy, you'll get the deduction for your mother's exemption. Allocate your support payments solely to your mother and keep careful records to prove your allocation. Because you have specifically allocated your support payments, the unit rule does not apply and you save your mother's exemption.

Pay your mother's expenses directly for clothing, medical bills, etc. Ask your mother to have bills made out to her, then pay these by check. Keep bills and cancelled checks as proof. Make sure she sends you her yearend bills promptly, so you can make out and mail your checks before yearend and have them count for 1976.

Caution: because SS benefits are now geared to the cost of living and they keep going up, you may have to contribute more cash EACH YEAR to meet the more-than-half support test and protect your dependency deductions.

Watch this trap, starting now!

Market Is Up At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices opened higher in active trading today after a mixed session Thursday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction in early trading and stock sales were running a minute ahead of the NYSE ticker tape.

At the beginning of the session, the Commerce Department reported that business inventories in June rose 3.32 billion, its biggest increase in 18 months.

Early prices today included Tandy Corp., up 1/4 to 29 1/2; Joy Manufacturing off 1/4 to 46 1/2; and Amex Inc., off 1/4 to 54 1/2.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average showed a modest .33 gain to 987.12 after being down most of the session. On the New York Stock Exchange, declining issues outnumbered gainers by a narrow margin.

Stock sales on the Big Board eased to 15.56 million shares from 18.71 million shares.

GM Says Position Paper No Proposal

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp.'s chief negotiator, George Morris Jr., said Thursday that United Auto Workers bargainers "misunderstood" a GM proposal the union views as an attempt to hold down pay raises.

Calling the position paper GM handed the union July 27 "just an explanation" of what the GM worker has achieved, he said, "We haven't made our proposal yet."

UAW negotiators have said they view the company's position paper as a threat to the so-called Wilson wage-increase formula, and said the union wouldn't stand with any tampering with the formula.

The Wilson formula, proposed in 1948 by GM president Charles Wilson and accepted by the UAW, proposed that workers be rewarded for increases in productivity with a raise which came to be called the Annual Improvement Factor (AIF).

The Wilson theory also said that increases in workers' standard of living should be shielded against inflation by a cost-of-living allowance tied to increases in the consumer price index.

Morris said, however, that GM workers' standard of living has outdistanced national productivity if fringe benefits are considered. He reiterated that the company feels total compensation costs — wages plus benefits — should be linked to that productivity.

"The benefits that the GM worker receives are beyond anything in the Wilsonian theory," Morris said.

The company contends the average wage of a GM worker has increased 384 per cent since 1948, and total compensation including wages and benefits has gone up 606 per cent.

But UAW Vice President Irving Bluestone, head of the union's GM department, said that when inflation is considered, the increase in real purchasing power over the 28-year period is only 2.5 per cent.

Bluestone said the union wants to continue to link AIF increases to national productivity, but also wants the cost-of-living mechanism modernized to more fully protect workers from inflation.

At Chrysler Corp. Thursday, bargainers continued to debate the company's proposal to reduce absenteeism by tightening eligibility requirements for holiday pay.

The company claimed that high absentee rates forced plantwide shutdowns to provide mandatory worker relief time more than 650 times in 1974 and 1975, resulting in lost production of more than 13,000 units.

But the union repeated its charge that the company's proposals don't attack the heart of the absentee problem.

Airport Will Seek Snow Truck Bids

The Twin Cities airport board lacked a quorum for its regular monthly meeting yesterday, but the board members present suggested that airport manager Ronald Momany seek bids for a new snow removal truck for Ross field.

Only four of the 10 board members were present for the afternoon meeting so no official action could be taken.

The new snow removal truck discussed will replace a 1946 model that has become too costly to repair and parts too difficult to obtain. Momany told those present.

It is expected that a 2 1/2-ton truck like one recently purchased by Berrien county will meet the needs of the airport. Momany said the county purchased its truck for about $12,000.

In another matter that is expected to be acted upon at the next meeting, members asked that the airport's liability insurance be extended to cover libel, slander and false arrest for all employees at a cost of $241.

The four board members also suggested Momany seek bids for the possibility of extending coverage on the airport's facilities.

Lawrence Hires School Principal

LAWRENCE — Michael Schutz, 29, was hired by the Lawrence school board last night as new elementary principal here.

Schutz, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Western Michigan university in elementary education guidance and personnel, replaces Louise Nicholas who retired in June. Schutz was employed last year as an elementary guidance counselor in Minnesota.

Schutz was given a two-year contract calling for a first-year salary of $16,000.

In other areas, it was announced the first day of school will be Tuesday, Sept. 7, with teachers attending in the morning and students in the afternoon. On Wednesday, Sept. 8, students will attend in the morning only.

Nehemiah D. Davis, 22, of 393 Washington avenue, Mary F. Hill, 19, 321 Brunson avenue, and Ronald D. Smith, 18, of 267 North Winans street.

Each was convicted of resisting a police officer, which carries a maximum sentence of up to two years in prison, and Davis was also convicted of larceny in a building, with a maximum four-year penalty.

Davis was accused of stealing a lighter from Family Foods, in Benton township, on April 24, and he and Smith were charged with obstructing Patrolman James Windsor. Hill was accused of resisting Patrolman Gary Rohl.

Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fulkner handled the case for the prosecution while Davis was defended by Benton Harbor Atty. Yvonne Hughes and St. Joseph Atty. Donald Bleich represented Hill and Smith.

Berrien Jury Convicts 3 Of Resisting Officer

Three Benton Harbor men were convicted Wednesday in Berrien Circuit court of obstructing Benton township police officers who were arresting one of the trio on a larceny charge. Jurors in Judge Chester J. Byrns court deliberated about two hours before returning guilty verdicts against Nehemiah D. Davis, 22, of 393 Washington avenue, Maly F. Hill, 19, 321 Brunson avenue, and Ronald D. Smith, 18, of 267 North Winans street.

Each was convicted of resisting a police officer, which carries a maximum sentence of up to two years in prison, and Davis was also convicted of larceny in a building, with a maximum four-year penalty.

Davis was accused of stealing a lighter from Family Foods, in Benton township, on April 24, and he and Smith were charged with obstructing Patrolman James Windsor. Hill was accused of resisting Patrolman Gary Ruhl.

Assistant Prosecutor Quentin Fulcher handled the case for the prosecution while Davis was defended by Benton Harbor Atty. Yvonne Hughes and St. Joseph Atty. Donald Bleich represented Hill and Smith.

Five Are Charged Following BH Raid

Five people were arrested in a raid by Berrien Metro Narcotics officers and Benton Harbor police at a house Wednesday night were arraigned on a variety of charges yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court.

The arrests took place at 945 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, which, according to court records, is the residence of Prince Ella Johnson, 25.

Prince Ella Johnson demanded preliminary examination on a felony charge of keeping a house used for violations of the Controlled Substances Act. Bond of $25,000 was not met.

Frankie Barber, 22, of 254 Jefferson street, demanded examination on a charge of possession of heroin, an alleged second violation of the Controlled Substances Act. He was jailed under $40,000 bond.

Charged with being in a disorderly house were Laima Snelling, 21, and Joel E. Peterson, 22, both of 397 Colfax, and Ronald Lee Coleman, 22, of 298 Pleasant street. Peterson and Laima Snelling pleaded innocent to the charges and Coleman pleaded guilty and was placed on presentence investigation.

Accused Robbers Demand Hearings

Two men charged with committing two armed robberies within 40 minutes on Wednesday evening were jailed under bonds totaling $40,000 following arraignments Thursday in Berrien District court.

Demanding examinations on charges of committing armed robberies at the Benton Harbor Dairy Queen and the Benton township Arby's restaurant were Lonnie B. Jones, 20, of 1490 Hurd, Benton township, and Tony A. Tisdell, 18, of 734 Columbus, Benton Harbor.

Also demanding examination was Clois O'Neal Puchen, 48, of Fifth street, Eau Claire, accused of third offense driving under the influence of intoxicants Aug. 11 in Benton Harbor.

Bound over to Circuit court were: Mack Sesson, 29, of 631 Broadway, Benton Harbor, charged with two counts of delivery of heroin Nov. 22 and July 31 in Benton Harbor. He waived preliminary examinations.

Lawrence C. Ewell, 31, of 980 Buss, Benton Harbor, accused of possession of heroin with intent to deliver July 31 in Benton Harbor.

Gun Victim Condition 'Stable'

A Stevensville man was reported in "stable" condition today at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, with what Stevensville police termed a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

He was identified as Johnny Wayne Jean, 20, of 5773 St. Joseph avenue. Patrolman Robert Zinkil said Jean was found in the upstairs bedroom of his home Wednesday with a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

Zinkil said Jean's sister, Myra Gayton, discovered him about 8 p.m. and notified the Tri-Unit ambulance located across the street. Zinkil said a .22 caliber rifle was found next to him.

Lawrence Hires School Principal

LAWRENCE — Michael Schutz, 29, was hired by the Lawrence school board last night as new elementary principal here.

Schutz, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Western Michigan university in elementary education guidance and personnel, replaces Louise Nicholas who retired in June. Schutz was employed last year as an elementary guidance counselor in Minnesota.

Schutz was given a two-year contract calling for a first-year salary of $16,000.

In other areas, it was announced the first day of school will be Tuesday, Sept. 7, with teachers attending in the morning and students in the afternoon. On Wednesday, Sept. 8, students will attend in the morning only.

Gate prices for high school athletic events will be $1.25 for both students and adults. However, students may get tickets in advance for 75 cents.

Gary Austin, athletic director, was granted permission to purchase medical supplies for athletic department at a cost of $818 from VanderVoort's, Kalamazoo.

Supt. Richard Stoll was granted permission to attend the Michigan association of School Administrators fall conference, Sept. 26-28, in Traverse City.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The City of Benton Harbor, Michigan, acting by and through the Benton Harbor Housing Commission, will receive bids for the following work to be done at Project MICH 10-1 & 10-2, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Bids will be received for the following work:

Construction of New Parking Lots.

It shall be noted that only one contract shall be let for all work included in these drawings and specifications. However, due to the limited budget for these parking lots, it may be necessary to eliminate some of the parking lots in part or whole. For this reason we are asking that the successful low bidder furnish a bid breakdown giving a separate price for each separate parking lot.

Bids will be received for the above work until 11:00 a.m. local time on September 1976 at the office of the Benton Harbor Housing Commission located at 1216 Blossom Lane, Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Proposed forms of contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of Korbuly-Graf, Inc., Architects, 115 S. Lafayette Blvd., South Bend, Indiana 46601. Copies of the documents may be obtained by a refundable check deposit for $20.00 to the office of the Architect. Deposit will be returned only if the documents are returned to this office in good condition by 17 September 1976.

The documents shall also be available for review at the following locations:

Benton Harbor Housing Commission, 1216 Blossom Lane, Benton Harbor, Michigan 49022.

Exchange, Kalamazoo Area, 2930 Lovers Lane, Kalamazoo, 49001.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory Performance and Payment Bonds.

Attention is called to the fact that no less than the minimum salaries and wages as set forth in the specifications must be paid on this project.

Any bidder awarded a contract to perform work in Benton Harbor, acting by and through the Benton Harbor Housing Commission, shall (1) make every effort to hire area residents, and (2) shall provide the training and supervision necessary to assure that such hired persons are able to perform quality and acceptable work.

The Benton Harbor Housing Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding. No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids without the consent of the Housing Commission.

FROM DOG RACING TO NUCLEAR POWER

Citizen Initiatives Becoming Popular

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer

Issues ranging from legalized betting on dog racing to safety restrictions for nuclear power plants are on the ballot across the country these days in a system of direct democracy that is growing in popularity.

An Associated Press survey shows voters in at least 12 states will act on citizen initiatives in November. Election officials and representatives of citizens' groups say they have noticed an increased use of initiatives, although the rate of success varies widely.

"Maybe it's the war, maybe it's the environment, maybe it's Watergate," said Scott FitzRandolph, California director of Common Cause. "I think the polls indicate that while there is apathy among the general public there is more interest (in government) among the activists."

In California, there have been an average of 16 initiative drives a year for the last five years. That compares with an average six a year during the 10 years before that.

In Missouri there wasn't a single initiative petition submitted to the secretary of state's office between 1962 and 1970. Four petitions have been turned in this year and are awaiting certification.

There are a record-setting four initiatives on the ballot this fall in Massachusetts and voters in both Florida and Illinois apparently will see their first initiatives in November.

Twenty-three states, most of them in the West, have some sort of system that allows voters to place laws or constitutional amendments — or both — on the ballot.

Some initiative laws limit subject matter or give legislators a veto over voter action; others are wide-open systems where the public decision is final.

"People are only limited by their imagination," says Larry Bevins, assistant manager of elections in Oregon, one of a handful of states where initiatives are heavily used.

Critics contend initiatives are a poor way to legislate, that the ballot measures are not well written and are too complicated for voters to understand. But election officials in several states say the system has worked well.

"Some of our best measures were accomplished through the initiative process," says Bill Linklater, an assistant Oregon attorney general.

Those measures include laws giving women the right to vote, instituting a workmen's compensation system and protecting scenic waterways and steelhead fish, Linklater said.

Some officials say initiative systems are too restrictive and should be opened up. Joyce Koupal, head of People's Lobby, a California citizens' group that specializes in initiative drives, agrees.

"Initiatives used to be used a lot when the system got started," she said. "Then the other side got smart and started writing laws that took it out of the hands of the average citizen."

Those laws in California included a $200 filing fee and a time limit on signature gathering.

In most states the number of signatures needed to qualify a petition is a percentage of the number of votes cast for governor in a recent election.

In California it takes 8 per cent of the vote cast for governor in the last general election to qualify a constitutional amendment and 5 per cent to qualify a proposed statute.

"The signature requirement is fairly high but for good reason," says Carol Daniels, spokeswoman for the California secretary of state. "It costs a lot of money to put something on the ballot."

Not only is it difficult to put an initiative on the ballot, it's also difficult to get it passed.

Of the 51 initiatives qualified for the ballot in Oregon since 1944 only 23 — 45 per cent — passed. In California the figure is 24 per cent over the last 10 years.

In both states the success figure is much higher — around 70 per cent — for measures put on the ballot by the legislature.

This year also marks the first time there has been a coordinated effort by citizens groups to put measures dealing with the same subject — nuclear power plant safety, for example — on the ballot in several states.

"I think what's happened is that people have begun to understand the political power that comes from using initiatives on a consistent basis," said Faith Keating, director of Western Blue, the group promoting the nuclear initiatives.

Western Blue is a partnership of organizations that grew out of a 1974 conference of citizens' groups held by Ralph Nader in Washington, D.C. Although Nader took part in discussions that brought about Western Blue, group officials say the organization is not affiliated with the consumer advocate.

COLORADO — A nuclear initiative on the November ballot would require a two-thirds vote of the legislature before a nuclear power plant could be built or modified.

Other Colorado initiatives would ban no-deposit, no-return beer and soft drink containers and repeal the equal rights amendment in the state constitution.

MASSACHUSETTS — The four initiatives on the November ballot would ban handguns and nonreturnable beverage bottles and cans, establish uniform electricity rates for all users, and require the state to set up a public power authority.

MICHIGAN — One of the November initiatives here would create a graduated income-tax system, rolling taxes back for lower-and middle-income persons and raising levies for the rich.

MISSOURI — On the ballot here is a sales tax measure.

MONTANA — An initiative constitutional amendment on the ballot would freeze state expenditures at present levels for five years.

NORTH DAKOTA — North Dakota voters will act on an initiative limiting state general fund expenditures.

OKLAHOMA — An initiative constitutional amendment would legalize the sale of liquor by the drink in restaurants and clubs.

OREGON — A nuclear initiative in Oregon requires the legislature, by a two-thirds vote, to certify that nuclear power is safe before new plants can be built.

UTAH — Voters will act on a measure that would give them the power to recall elected officials.

Diahann's Show Has Good Spots

By JAY SHARBUTT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer-actress Diahann Carroll, last regularly seen on TV as a nurse in "Julia," starts her own four-week summer variety show on CBS this Saturday. Alas, the start is not too sturdy.

She's a fine talent. But an advance peek at the scheduled opener indicates its two writers, script consultant, producer and two executive producers didn't quite know what to do with her talent.

They put her in a bubble bath to sing the opening number, a disco thing called "This Is It." Then they had her get dressed, say hello and do a solo comedy skit as an airline ticket agent on the telephone.

The airline skit managed the feat of crashing before takeoff.

Summer variety series often give new comics and singers, of which TV needs more, a chance to break in. Here, the authorities broke in two completely new faces, Telly Savalas and Sammy Davis Jr.

There actually was a newcomer, a singer named Jim Lucien, but he was whisked on and off so fast he could have called in the act.

Telly's top effort had him seated in a big wicker chair. His shirt was open to the sternum. He sang "Who Loves Ya, Baby," a disco song, with much more feeling than Warren G. Harding will ever display.

Telly also was in a skit with Miss Carroll, playing a computer matched suitor. He kept glancing past her while talking, which suggests he either was reading a cue card or seeking his agent.

Sammy Davis Jr. momentarily perked up the proceedings with a rock-gospel song, "John the Baptist," but the tune lasted so long one felt Matthew, Mark and Luke would soon demand equal time.

Fortunately, Sammy later got a second chance and proceeded to light up the show with a short tap dance to an old Count Basie tune, "Cute," and by joining Miss Carroll in a well-sung medley from "Porgy and Bess."

Unfortunately, this was toward the end of the hour.

As for Miss Carroll, she displayed solid class whenever she sang, and her music arranger, H. B. Barnum, gave both her and the show some good, imaginative support from the orchestra pit.

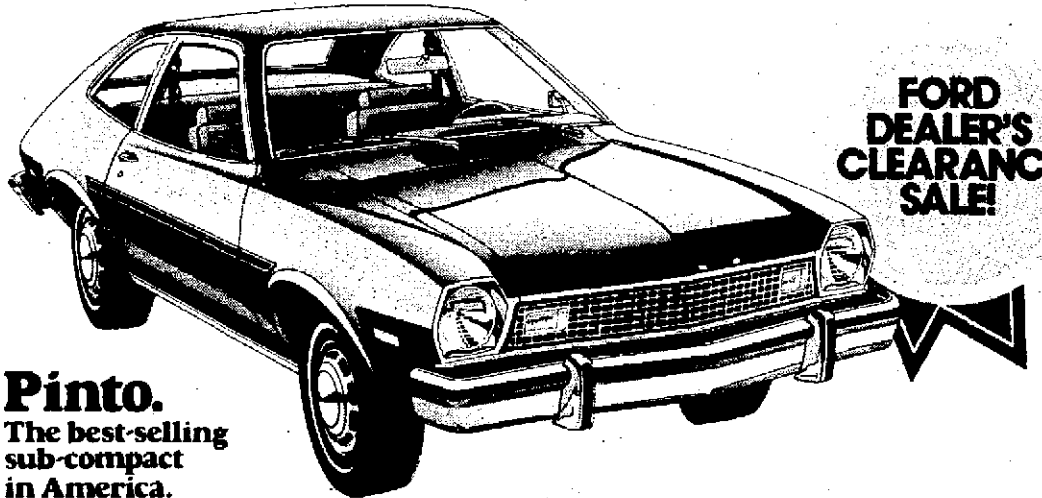

But Miss C's skit material, her monologue material and the pace of her show lacked snip, crackle or pop. It just lay there.

So we'd say pass on all but the last 15 minutes of this commencement exercise Saturday and pray, really pray, the next three are improved.

CBS has four more summer series arriving after this, should you be weary of reruns. The first, a set-in-Russia situation comedy, is called "Ivan the Terrible" and starts on Saturday, Aug. 21.

FROM DOG RACING TO NUCLEAR POWER

Citizen Initiatives Becoming Popular

Associated Press Writer

Issues ranging from legalized betting on dog racing to safety restrictions for nuclear power plants are on the ballot across the country these days in a system of direct democracy that is growing in popularity.

An Associated Press survey shows voters in at least 12 states will act on citizen initiatives in November. Election officials and representatives of citizens' groups say they have noticed an increased use of initiatives, although the rate of success varies widely.

"Maybe it's the war, maybe it's the environment, maybe it's Watergate," said Scott FitzRandolph, California director of Common Cause. "I think the polls indicate that while there is apathy among the general public there is more interest (in government) among the activists."

In California, there have been an average of 16 initiative drives a year for the last five years. That compares with an average six a year during the 10 years before that.

In Missouri there wasn't a single initiative petition submitted to the secretary of state's office between 1962 and 1970. Four petitions have been turned in this year and are awaiting certification.

There are a record-setting four initiatives on the ballot this fall in Massachusetts and voters in both Florida and Illinois apparently will see their first initiatives in November.

Twenty-three states, most of them in the West, have some sort of system that allows voters to place laws or constitutional amendments — or both — on the ballot.

Some initiative laws limit subject matter or give legislators a veto over voter action; others are wide-open systems where the public decision is final.

"People are only limited by their imagination," says Larry Bevins, assistant manager of elections in Oregon, one of a handful of states where initiatives are heavily used.

Critics contend initiatives are a poor way to legislate, that the ballot measures are not well written and are too complicated for voters to understand. But election officials in several states say the system has worked well.

"Some of our best measures were accomplished through the initiative process," says Bill Linklater, an assistant Oregon attorney general.
